TAX-CUT BILL GOES TO SENATE

Southern Mine Owners Refuse To Sign Pact

Lewis Sends 75 Per Cent To Work

WASHINGTON, July 8 (AP)—John L. Lewis waved three fourths of his 400,000 soft coal miners back to work today after their employers signed contracts providing the highest wage in the industry's history.

But Southern Mine Operators still held out, refusing to sign after a 90-minute session with Lewis behind closed doors.

As an immediate repercussion, the price of coal is expected to bound upward, to be followed probably by the price of steel and other goods.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), chairman of the joint Congressional Committee on the Economic Report, commented that the big wage boost won by Lewis will send up the price of coal about 70 cents a ton. The increase, he said, will probably be passed on to consumers.

Predicts Rise In Steel Price

Taft also predicted that steel prices will rise about $1.10 a ton as a result of the pact between Lewis and operators representing Northern mines and mines owned by steel companies.

The settlement sends 300,000 miners back to the pits after a brief interlude following their 10-day vacation over the Fourth of July. Some 100,000 others in Southern Mines presumably will remain idle pending an agreement between Lewis and the down-South operators.

In Cleveland, President Charles M. White of Republic Steel Corp. said the contract "has placed an unbearable burden on steel costs in relation to selling price."

White said he did not personally see how the price of steel can be held at its present level.

However, AFL Vice President Matthew Woll, testifying before Taft's Congressional Committee, said he sees no reason why steel prices should go up.

The directors of the Southern Coal Producers Association announced they would meet at noon (EST) tomorrow, for "a final decision" on the contract issue. The directors kept telephone wires busy tonight conferring with operators in the South.

Lewis, brandishing a cigar as he cited the benefits of the new agreement for the mine workers, told a new conference in his huge office that it was "reasonable to assume" the remainder of the industry would meet the same terms in a few days.

The inside day miner will now receive $13.05 a day for eight hours instead of $11.85 for nine hours underground. His basic hourly pay is raised from $1.18½ to $1.63¼—a hike of nearly 45 cents. Lewis estimated that the average miner will get benefits totaling $3.54 a day, including his equity in the welfare and retirement fund at 10 cents a ton on the coal produced. Up to now 5 cents a ton has been going into this fund.

Prices Expected To Go Up

Coal prices are expected to go up by an amount variously estimated at 67 cents to $1.00 a ton.

Only the South and scattered operators in the Far West were excluded in the first signing ceremonies which took place in the board room of the United Mine Workers Headquarters.

Promptly, Lewis sent out word to the miners employed by signing operators to go back to work. By Thursday, full scale operations should resume in those mines, the union said.

A ten-day vacation ended today, but the miners had been awaiting the contract-signing before resuming work. The government, which seized the pits 13 months ago, turned them back to private operators July 1 when its authority to operate them expired.

Confirm Death Sentences

JERUSALEM, July 8 (AP)—Death sentences imposed on three Jews were confirmed today by the British Military Commander, despite a previous warning by the United Nation Commission on Palestine that the executions might result in "favorable repercussions."

The three Jews were conicted last monthv by a British Military Court of participating in the Acre prison delivery of May 4, during which 251 prisoners escaped and 16 persons were killed.

Captured "Disk" Proves Dud

Army Says Object Found In Texas Is Weather Balloon

FORT WORTH, Texas, July 8 (AP)—The discovery of a "flying disc" reported by an army public relations officer proved a dud today when the object was identified as a weather balloon.

Warrant Officer Irving Newton, a forecaster at the Army's Eighth Air Force Weather Station here, said the object found near Roswell, N. M., was a ray wind target used to determine the direction and velocity of winds at high altitudes.

He said there were some 80 weather stations in the United States using this type of balloon and that it could have come from any one of them.

"We use them because they can go so much higher than the eye can see," Newton explained. A radar set is employed to follow the balloon and through a process of triangulation the winds aloft are charted, he added.

Looks Like Six-Point Star

When rigged up, Newton stated, the object looks like a six-pointed star, is silvery in appearance and rises in the air like a kite, mounted to a 100-gram balloon.

Newton said he had sent up identical balloons to this one during the invasion of Okinawa to determine ballistics information for heavy guns.

Army weather experts in Washington, however, discounted any idea that such weather targets might be the basis for the scores of reports of "flying discs."

Brig. Gen. Donald N. Yates, chief of the AAF Weather Service, said only a very few of them are used daily, at points where some specific projects require highlty accurate wind information from extreme altitudes. Without field reports he would not hazard a guess on a precise number, he said.

Maj. Gen. Roger M. Ramey, commander of the Eighth Air Force with headquarters here, also said in a radio broadcast tonight that the "flying disc" was a weather balloon.

He was interviewed over a Fort Worth radio station (WBAP). Earlier, it was announced that he would broadcast over the National Broadcasting Company, but this was not done.

The weather device had been found three weeks previously by a New Mexico Rancher, W. W. Brazell, on his property about 85 miles Northwest of Roswell. Brazell, whose ranch is 30 miles from the nearest telephone and has no radio, knew nothing about flying dicss when he found the broken remains of the weather device scattered over a square mile of his land.

He bundled the tinfoil and broken wooden beams of the kite and the torn synthetic rubber remains of the balloon together and rolled it under some brush, according to Major Jesse A. Marcel, Houma, La., 509th Bomb Group intelligence officer at Roswell, who brought the device to Fort Worth.

Heard of Flying Disks

On a trip to town at Corona, N. M., Saturday night, Brazell heard the first reference to the "silver" flying disks, Major Marcel related.

Brazell hurried home, dug up the remains of the kite and balloon on Sunday and Monday headed for Roswell to report his find to the sheriff's office.

This resulted in a call to Roswell Army Air Field and to Major Marcel's being assigned to the case. Marcel and Brazell journeyed back to the ranch, where Marcell took the object into the custody of the Army.

At that time, Lt. Warren Haught, public information officer at the Roswell Field announced that a "flying disc" had come into possession of the Army Air Forces.

Lt. Haught said in a statement to newsmen that "the many rumors regarding the flying disc became a reality yesterday when the intelligence office of the 509th (Atomic) bomb group of the Eighth Air Force, Roswell Army Airfield, was fortunate enough to gain possession of a disc through co-operation of one of the local ranchers and the sheriff's office."

NOT A FLYING DISK—Maj. Gesse A. Marcel, intelligence officer of the 509th Bomb Group, Rosewell, N. M., inspects what was identified by a Fort Worth Army Air Field Weather Officer, as a high altitude ray wind weather recording machine and not a flying disk.

More Pumps Approved For "Inch" Pipelines

WASHINGTON, July 8 (AP)—The Power Commission today authorized Texas Eastern Transmission Corp., Houston, to install additional pumps on the big and little big inch pipelines to increase their natural gas capacity by 75,000,000 cubic feet a day.

Petrillo Told To Study Labor, Anti-Trust Laws

Violations Of Both Possible, Nixon Says

WASHINGTON, July 8 (AP) — Rep. Nixon (R-Calif.) told James C. Petrillo in blunt terms today to study the new Taft-Hartley Labor Law and the anti-trust laws before carrying out his threat to bar union musicians from radio network programs.

Under Nixon's sharp prodding at a Congressional hearing, Petrillo acknowledged that the "big reason" behind his threat would be to get the individual radio stations to hire more union musicians.

Declaring there are 603 stations which do not hire musicians now but depend on the networks, Petrillo said:

"It's A Sad Story"

"There's no reason why they shouldn't hire musicians. They need musicians, but they won't pay them. That's the sad story."

Nixon cited Petrillo's previous testimony that he might extend the ban to the making of recordings by union musicians, then said:

"The effect would be to put the networks and recording companies virtually out of business."

"I don't know if they'd go out of business," Petrillo grumbled.

"Well," Nixon said, "before you attempt to carry out the threat against the networks and recording companies, I suggest that you and your council read very carefully your testimony here, the Taft-Hartley Labor Law, and the Anti-Trust Laws."

Nixon later told reporters that if Petrillo called a strike or pulled his men out of the networks, in a move to force stations to hire people they don't need, it would be "feather-bedding and a violation of the Taft-Hartley Law."

He said, too, that if Petrillo put the bans into effect and some companies had to go out of business, it might be "a restraint of trade" in violation of the Anti-Trust Laws.

Warms To Children

Petrillo, acknowledging that "I'm not an angel, I lost my wings a long time ago," displayed a soft heart toward school children but not for their appearance on commercial broadcasts.

Testifying before a House Labor Subcommittee, the fuzzy-haired czar of the American Federation of Musicians declared:

74 Deaths Reported In Calcutta Riot

CALCUTTA, July 8 (AP) — New outbreaks of communal fighting in Calcutta and the United Provinces have caused at least 74 deaths and more than 140 injuries, reports showed tonight.

Dispatches from Lucknow, United Provinces, said that 35 refugees crammed into a bus were killed. Fifteen bodies were found in the bus, 18 were recovered from a well, and two have not been found.

The toll of dead in Hindu-Moslem rioting which began here yesterday rose to 39. Police reported order had been restored.

Police Drain Lake

SHELLMOUND, Tenn., July 8 (AP) State Police began draining murky Nickajack Lake today in an effort to find 35-year-old John T. Hurn in the weird Nickajack Cave, where he was reported lost a week ago.

Maryland Ballot Count May Go On For Some Time

Votes In 18 Of 23 Counties Remain

BALTIMORE, July 8 (AP)—Francis T. Kelly, in charge of workers recounting ballots in Maryland's senatorial election of last November, said today there was no indication how long it would take to complete the task.

Working under a United State Senate Subcommittee investigating the election of Herbert R. O'Conor to the Senate, the group has still to examine the ballots cast in 18 out of the 23 counties in the state.

In addition, they must examine two records, and perhaps more, for each of the 471 precincts of Baltimore City. It may also become necessary to make a second check of the five counties whose ballots have already been recounted.

There was a possibility that the task might continue for many months more.

O'Conor, a former Governor of Maryland, won on the face of the Senatorial contest by a margin of 2,232 votes. The result was challenged by his Republican opponent, Col. D. John Markey, who claimed there had been irregularities.

Meanwhile Daniel B. Chambers Jr., chairman of the Baltimore City Board of Supervisors of Elections, said today that records for Baltimore precincts contained in the Maryland Third Congressional District must leave the supervisor's office July 12 and would be returned on the 15th and 16th.

Chambers had earlier objected to turning records of the Third District over to the Senate Committee at this time, on the grounds they were needed for a special election to be held July 15 to fill the Congressional seat vacated by Mayor D'Alesandro.

Kelly said he had no objection to a suggestion of Chambers' that the workers for the Senatorial Committee carry on their investigation in the supervisor's office, where the records are kept.

Crisis Is Blamed On U. S., British

LAKE SUCCESS, July 8. (AP)—Russia late today charged that the situation in Greece was the result of American and British interference and demanded that the United Nations order foreign military personnel off Greek soil.

The Soviet Union also called for U. N Supervision of all conomic aid to Greece in renewed attempt to place the American program of direct support under international control.

"Direct intervention through the presence of foreign troops has been supplemented lately by new forms of intervention in sending to Greece so-called military instructors and in supplying war equipment," Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko said in his new attack on the American aid program.

Rejecting a U. N. report blaming Soviet Balkan satellites for the Greek border disorders, Gromyko said the Greek government alone was at fault.

Gromyko put forward the Russian rebuttal to a majority report of a Balkan Investigating Commission in a 78-minute speech, one of the longest ever delivered to the Security Council.

He asked the council to reverse on-the-spot finding and rule Greece guilty of provoking disturbances with Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria.

Gromyko said without qualification that Russia could not accept an American resolution, growing out of the commission report, for establishment of a semi-permanent U. N. watch along the troubled frontiers. American Delegate Warren R. Austin previously had said that nothing less than the border watch would solve the problem and Gromyko thus gave the strongest indications that he would veto the project.

Gromyko gave no figures on military personnel, but a Greek source said there were only about 6,000 foreign troops there now. These were said to be mostly British with other American training groups.

Regarding American aid, Gromyko asked the council to pass this paragraph:

"For the purpose of providing the proper use of foreign economic aid granted to Greece, the security Council resolves to establish a special commission which through the proper supervision would guarantee the use of such aid only in the interests of the Greek people."

National Resource Survey To Be Made In Maryland

SOLOMONS, Md., July 8. (AP)—Dr. R. V. Truitt, head of the Department of Research and Education, announced today an inventory of Maryland's natural resources would begin September 1.

The announcement was made after a special meeting of the heads of departments related to the board of natural resources, who were visiting the Chesapeake laboratory here in connection with the annual meeting of the board.

Dr. Truitt said the Departmental heads had pledged full co-operation in the inventory, which will be undertaken by a staff of four men.

"This will be a long range project," Dr. Truitt explained. "We want to know what we have, where we have failed and what we've got to do.

"The inventory will be such as a businessman would undertake to find out what he has."

He said it was planned to start the survey in either the Patuxent or Monocary River water shed.

"We will make a complete study of resources, setting forth quantity, type and abundance of forests, fresh water and salt water fish and land resources."

The Chesapeake Bay laboratory will be the headquarters for the inventory unit. Half of the work will be done in the field and the rest will consist of tabulating materials gathered.

"It will be a year-round program and a continuing one, for although it will not be necessary to go over the entire state in detail as in the first survey, after the primary inventory is completed, we can ascertain our new date by spot checks," Dr. Truitt said.

Sixth California Woman Found Slain Since Black Dahlia Case

LOS ANGELES, July 8 (AP) — The ravished and strangled body of Mrs. Rosenda Mondragon, 20, was found almost in the shadow of the City Hall early today, and police sent out a statewide teletype bulletin for the apprehension of a man with whom she had reportedly been seen shortly before.

She was the eighth sex murder victim locally in a cycle which began last January 15 with the mutilation slaying of Elizabeth Short, the so-called "Black Dahlia." This case has never been solved.

Police Chief Charles B. Horrall said that a clerk, William H. Moore, had seen a woman resembling Mrs. Mondragon get into an automobile on a downtown corner. He furnished a description of the driver.

Detectives said they believed Mrs. Mondragon had been slain elsewhere, and her body dumped into the street from an automobile.

Det. Lieut. Bob Lohrman and Sgt. Harry Hansen said her husband, Antonio Mondragon, had reported his wife visited him at the home of his brother-in-law only about two hours before discovery of the body. They were estranged, Lohrman said.

Mrs. Mondragon had been strangled with a silk stocking. Her face was bruised and swollen and her breast lacerated.

"New Era In Push Button Telegraphy" Is Unveiled

Will Make Pole Lines Obsolete

PHILADEPHIA, July 8 (AP) — The Western Union Telegraph Company unveiled today a $2,000,000 installation here which it described as marking "a new era of push-button telegraphy," and at the same time said construction of a new radio beam telegraph network ultimately will replace pole lines, long a symbol of the telegraph.

The push-button system here is the first and largest in a projected nationwide network and triples the capacity of present facilities. The mechanical marvel will permit switching clerks to relay messages to any of 270 destinations by merely pushing the designated button.

Used For Training

Under construction for many months, the complex maze of wires, row on row of panels with buttons and lights, was being used for training purposes as the press was given a preview. Tomorrow, the first circuit will be placed in actual operation to New York, and other circuits will be added until the change-over is completed by September.

Cincinnati will be the site of the next push-button installation, expected to be completed in about three months. Others will be installed at key cities throughout the country, including Boston, Kansas City, Syracuse, St. Louis, Atlanta, and Oakland. Philadelphia now connects with similar high-speed centers at St. Louis, Richmond, Dallas, Atlanta and Oakland, but in the latter offices, the conventional plug-in lines and switchboard are being used, pending transfer to the automatic push-button system.

Philadelphia will be the clearing house for all messages to and from Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, and the counties of Maryland and Virginia on the Del-Mar-Va Peninsula.

Now messages arriving here are sorted by routing clerks and carried by conveyor belts to relay operators who retransmit the message on teletype—electric telegraph typewriters.

Message Typed Only Once

With the new system, each message will be typed only once, at the point of origin. For example, a message from Wilmington, Del., addressed to San Francisco, will be teletyped in Wilmington and received in Philadelphia simultaneously on a telegraph device called a printer perforator, which prints the message, and at the same time and on the same tape, punches combinations of holes which activate the teletype. A clerk will read the destination as the message begins to come in and will push the button marked "San Francisco." Pressing the button will cause the perforated tape to run through an automatic transmitter. In San Francisco, the signals will print the message, ready for delivery.

Russia, Too, May Attend Aid Parley

Nations In Red Orbit Expected

PARIS, July 8 (AP)—Thirteen nations, including Czechoslovakia in the Soviet sphere, have accepted French-British bids to the Paris conference on the Marshall Plan. Czech sources in Prague hinted that Russia herself might finally be represented.

There had been no refusals by nightfall from the 22 invited nations.

The French Foreign Ministry announced that 10 nations—Belgium, Italy, Portugal, Eire, Greece, Turkey, The Netherlands, Luxembourg, Czechoslovakia and Iceland—have turned in formal acceptances.

Others To Participate

Associated Press dispatches from Berne, Vienna and Copenhagen said that Switzerland, Austria and Denmark decided officially to participate in the reconstruction parley.

Confusion concerning what was going on in the Russian Zone states mounted as the Thursday deadline for accepting the invitations drew near. The conference will open Saturday.

Polish, Romanian and Finnish diplomats denied reports broadcast by Tass, official Soviet News Agency, that their countries had rejected the invitation. They said a decision could not be known until tomorrow. An Associated Press dispatch from Warsaw said it still was a "toss-up" whether Poland would accept.

Yugoslav, Albanian, Bulgarian and Hungarian spokesmen here could not be reached for comment on the attitude of their governments but reports from those four nations indicated their decisions still were being studied.

Observer Expected

A dispatch from Prague said that Czech sources close to the government declared there was considerable indication Russia might send a representative—perhaps as an observer.

These sources said they based their suggestions on the Czech acceptance of the invitation, indications in Prague that the Poles also might accept, and an about-face by the Communist Party in Prague from the earlier criticism of the motives behind the economic rehabilitation proposal.

British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin emphasized in England that the door still was open for Russia to come to the conference.

The Marshall Plan calls for the building up of an integrated European economy on a basis of self-help plus U. S. financial aid.

United Air Lines Seeks Service Permit For City

WASHINGTON, July 8 (AP) — Atlantic Airlines, which claims it will put the average citizen in the air as the late Henry Ford put him on wheels, urged today the granting of its application to provide non-subsidy, low-cost plane travel.

Samuel J. Solomon, Atlantic's president, told the Civil Aeronautics Board that Atlantic is prepared to prove that "air transportation can stand on its own feet" by providing carry-your-own-baggage, no-pretty-stewardess service at three and one-half cents a mile—from one to one and a half cents cheaper than trunk line carriers.

Solomon, a resident of Silver Springs, Md., said his company proposes a network of operations in a triangular area whose points are Washington, New York and Pittsburgh and which contains a population of 21,000,000 persons.

He said that the company's specially equipped DC-3 planes—having 28 instead of 21 seats, a built-in ramp which would eliminate the necessity of airport attendants, and special provisions for luggage—would have their schedules co-ordinated with automobiles and buses which would bring outlying air travelers to the airport at the same three and one-half cent cost.

Solomon told the board during oral argument on the Middle Atlantic Case that millions of Americans do not travel by air because they cannot afford to and that it is his company's plan to provide in the air the equivalent of railroad coach and bus accommodations.

United Air Lines urged the board to grant its applications to extend "mainliner" service to Pittsburgh, Baltimore, Providence, Scranton and Wilkes-Barre, York, Harrisburg, Johnstown, Reading, Bradford, Lancaster and Williamsport, Pa., Trenton, N. J., Wilmington, Del., and CUMBERLAND and Hagerstown Md.

Cotton Crop Small

WASHINGTON, July 8 (AP)—The United States faced the prospect today of the smallest supply of cotton for the coming marketing year in nearly a quarter of a century.

Vote In House Indicates Veto Would Not Hold

Gets 26 More Than Needed Two-Thirds

WASHINGTON, July 8 — (AP) — The Republican-backed $4,000,000,000 income tax reduction for 49,000,000 taxpayers sailed through the House again today by an overwhelming vote of 302 to 112. This is 26 more than the two-thirds needed to override a second Presidential veto.

Speaker Martin (R-Mass.) personally took the floor and asked the body to make its vote so decisive "as to persuade the President that the people should have this delayed justice."

Anticipating another Presidential veto, Martin declared the House confronts the fundamental question of whether "Congress shall retain its right to perform its constitutional function of determining what taxes shall be levied on the people."

Goes To Senate

The measure was tossed over to the Senate, where Republican leaders said they hope to rush it again to President Truman's desk before the week ends.

The measure is identical with the one the President returned June 16 as "the wrong kind of tax reduction at the wrong time"—except that the effective date of the tax cut has been changed from July 1, 1947, to January 1, 1948.

While a veto-overriding vote rolled up in the House, speculation flared to a feverish pitch on the big question:

Can such a two-thirds vote be obtained in the Senate to overthrow another Presidential objection?

No one yet has named two thirds of the Senators who will vote to override a veto. The President's first veto was sustained in the House when the vote to override, 268 to 137, was two votes short of the needed two-thirds.

In today's roll call on passage, 233 Republicans were joined by 69 Democrats in support of the Bill. Opposing were 109 Democrats and two Republicans—Hull of Wisconsin and H. Carl Andersen of Minnesota—and the American Labor Party Member, Rep. Marcantonio of New York.

House action, with the Republicans in complete control, followed defeat 261 to 151 of an attempt by administration - supporting Democrats to substitute a bill that would reduce taxes $3,379,000,000 a year and remove 4,000,000 low-income persons from the tax rolls completely.

Oppose Tax Reduction

Sponsors said they oppose any tax reduction now, but offered their bill as "a fairer and more equitable" approach, if tax cutting is inevitable. They argued for reduction of the debt instead of tax cutting now.

Here's how the adopted measure works:

1. Effective January 1, 1948
2. All withholdings against wages and salaries would be reduced.
3. A 30 per cent cut on taxable incomes of $1,000 or less (income after exemptions and deductions).
4. A 20 to 30 per cent cut on incomes between $1,000 and $1,400.
5. A 20 per cent cut on taxable income between $1,400 and $137,000.
6. A 15 per cent cut on income between $137,000 and $302,000.
7. A 10.5 per cent tax cut on any income over $302,000.

Coal Miners Get Working Orders

PITTSBURGH, July 8 (AP)—Wires in soft coal fields hummed tonight with the magic words "go back to work" as leaders of the AFL United Mine Workers flashed orders to an estimated 300,000 miners to dig coal under a new, unprecedented contract.

Assistant foremen and other supervisory employes trooped back to pits re-opening in the North, Midwest and West sections of the nation under provisions of the contract signed at Washington today.

The agreement raises miners' pay more than 37 percent, and jubilant UMW men here quickly observed that the basic scale besides being the highest in the history of the miners also exceeds that of the steelworkers of CIO President Philip Murray, one-time UMW leader.

For a five-day week, the miners' base pay will be $65.25, compared with an average of $58.50 for steelworkers. Miners will receive $84.82 for six days and $110.92 for seven days. Their hourly pay rose from $1.18½ to $1.63, a gain of 44½ cents.

"They got the whole bucketful this time," grinned a maintenance worker entering a mine in the Pittsburgh area.

Signing the agreements were representatives of big mines, but the union eagerly arranged for smaller, independent operations to re-open upon oral agreement to comply with the new contract when contract forms are available. Southern operators remain to be signed.

Centralia Coal Company Fined

NASHVILLE, Ill., July 8 (AP)—The Centralia Coal Company today was fined $1,000 on charges of "willful neglect" in the March 25 explosion-deaths of 111 miners.

The fine was the maximum provided by statute.

Judge R. W. Griffith of the Washington County Circuit Court accepted the firm's plea of nolo contendere under which, without admitting guilt, the company subjected itself to a judgment or coviction.

The court delayed a ruling on a plea by Robert M. Medill, resigned director of the Illinois Department of Mines and Minerals, and Robert Weir, asssitant department chief, for trial elsewhere on charges growing out the disaster.

Medill and Weir are at liberty under $1,500 bond each and charged in grand jury indictments with "palpable omission of duty" for alleged "failure to enforce the law in regard to rock dusting the mine and allowing a large quantity of combustible coal dust to accumulate."

"Big Boy" Dropped One Of Two Babies In Hospital, Court Told

CANTON, O., July 8 (AP)—A five-year-old boy today repeated at a court hearing his statement that he saw a "big boy in a white coat" drop one of two girl babies found dying of crushed skulls at Massillon City Hospital June 6.

Roger Gue of Navarre, O., a patient at the hospital at the time the babies died, told Common Pleas Judge A. C. L. Barthelmeh during formal questioning that he saw a boy about 15 years old wearing "long white coat" enter the babies' room the night they were found.

Saying the boy had one arm in a sling, the Gue child said he saw the 15-year-old youth "pick up one of the babies and slam her against the floor."

The boy then went behind a screen to the other crib, said young Gue, adding that he heard the second baby drop to the floor before the youth picked up both babies and placed them in their cribs.

In the hearing an eight-year-old boy, Dean Ruegsegger of Mt. Eaton, O., who also was a patient in the hospital June 6, told the court he had seen nothing unusual before the babies were discovered. A third child, a five-year-old girl, was ruled by Judge Barthelmeh incapable of giving legally competent testimony.

TAX-CUT BILL GOES TO SENATE

Southern Mine Owners Refuse To Sign Pact

Lewis Sends 75 Per Cent To Work

WASHINGTON, July 8 (AP)—John L. Lewis waved three fourths of his 400,000 soft coal miners back to work today after their employers signed contracts providing the highest wage in the industry's history.

But Southern Mine Operators still held out, refusing to sign after a 90-minute session with Lewis behind closed doors.

As an immediate repercussion, the price of coal is expected to bound upward, to be followed probably by the price of steel and other goods.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), chairman of the joint Congressional Committee on the Economic Report, commented that the big wage boost won by Lewis will send up the price of coal about 70 cents a ton. The increase, he said, will probably be passed on to consumers.

Predicts Rise In Steel Price

Taft also predicted that steel prices will rise about $1.10 a ton as a result of the pact between Lewis and operators representing Northern mines and mines owned by steel companies.

The settlement sends 300,000 miners back to the pits after a brief interlude following their 10-day vacation over the Fourth of July. Some 100,000 others in Southern Mines presumably will remain idle pending an agreement between Lewis and the down-South operators.

In Cleveland, President Charles M. White of Republic Steel Corp. said the contract "has placed an unbearable burden on steel costs in relation to selling price."

White said he did not personally see how the price of steel can be held at its present level.

However, AFL Vice President Matthew Woll, testifying before Taft's Congressional Committee, said he sees no reason why steel prices should go up.

The directors of the Southern Coal Producers Association announced they would meet at noon (EST) tomorrow, for "a final decision" on the contract issue. The directors kept telephone wires busy tonight conferring with operators in the South.

Lewis, brandishing a cigar as he cited the benefits of the new agreement for the mine workers, told a new conference in his huge office that it was "reasonable to assume" the remainder of the industry would meet the same terms in a few days.

The inside day miner will now receive $13.05 a day for eight hours instead of $11.85 for nine hours underground. His basic hourly pay is raised from $1.18½ to $1.63½—a hike of nearly 45 cents. Lewis estimated that the average miner will get benefits totaling $3.54 a day, including his equity in the welfare and retirement fund at 10 cents a ton on the coal produced. Up to now 5 cents a ton has been going into this fund.

Prices Expected To Go Up

Coal prices are expected to go up by an amount variously estimated at 67 cents to $1.00 a ton.

Only the South and scattered operators in the Far West were excluded in the first signing ceremonies which took place in the board room of the United Mine Workers Headquarters.

Promptly, Lewis sent out word to the miners employed by signing operators to go back to work. By Thursday, full scale operations should resume in those mines, the union said.

A ten-day vacation ended today, but the miners had been awaiting the contract-signing before resuming work. The government, which seized the pits 13 months ago, turned them back to private operators July 1 when its authority to operate them expired.

Confirm Death Sentences

JERUSALEM, July 8 (AP)—Death sentences imposed on three Jews were confirmed today by the British Military Commander, despite a previous warning by the United Nation Commission on Palestine that the executions might result in "favorable repercussions."

The three Jews were conicted last monthy by a British Military Court of participating in the Acre prison delivery of May 4, during which 251 prisoners escaped and 16 persons were killed.

Captured "Disk" Proves Dud

Army Says Object Found In Texas Is Weather Balloon

FORT WORTH, Texas, July 8 (AP)—The discovery of a "flying disc" reported by an army public relations officer proved a dud today when the object was identified as a weather balloon.

Warrant Officer Irving Newton, a forecaster at the Army's Eighth Air Force Weather Station here, said the object found near Roswell, N. M., was a ray wind target used to determine the direction and velocity of winds at high altitudes.

He said there were some 80 weather stations in the United States using this type of balloon and that it could have come from any one of them.

"We use them because they can go so much higher than the eye can see," Newton explained. A radar set is employed to follow the balloon and through a process of triangulation the winds aloft are charted, he added.

Looks Like Six-Point Star

When rigged up, Newton stated, the object looks like a six-pointed star, is silvery in appearance and rises in the air like a kite, mounted to a 100-gram balloon.

Newton said he had sent up identical balloons to this one during the invasion of Okinawa to determine ballistics information for heavy guns.

Army weather experts in Washington, however, discounted any idea that such weather targets might be the basis for the scores of reports of "flying discs."

Brig. Gen. Donald N. Yates, chief of the AAF Weather Service, said only a very few of them are used daily, at points where some specific projects require highlty accurate wind information from extreme altitudes. Without field reports he would not hazard a guess on a precise number, he said.

Maj. Gen. Roger M. Ramey, commander of the Eighth Air Force with headquarters here, also said in a radio broadcast tonight that the "flying disc" was a weather balloon.

He was interviewed over a Fort Worth radio station (WBAP). Earlier, it was announced that he would broadcast over the National Broadcasting Company, but this was not done.

The weather device had been found three weeks previously by a New Mexico Rancher, W. W. Brazell, on his property about 85 miles Northwest of Roswell. Brazell, whose ranch is 30 miles from the nearest telephone and has no radio, knew nothing about flying dicss when he found the broken remains of the weather device scattered over a square mile of his land.

He bundled the tinfoil and broken wooden beams of the kite and the torn synthetic rubber remains of the balloon together and rolled it under some brush, according to Major Jesse A. Marcel, Houma, La., 509th Bomb Group intelligence officer at Roswell, who brought the device to Fort Worth.

Heard of Flying Disks

On a trip to town at Corona, N. M., Saturday night, Brazell heard the first reference to the "silver" flying disks, Major Marcel related.

Brazell hurried home, dug up the remains of the kite and balloon on Sunday and Monday headed for Roswell to report his find to the sheriff's office.

This resulted in a call to Roswell Army Air Field and to Major Marcel's being assigned to the case. Marcel and Brazell journeyed back to the ranch, where Marcell took the object into the custody of the Army.

At that time, Lt. Warren Haught, public information officer at the Roswell Field announced that a "flying disc" had come into possession of the Army Air Forces.

Lt. Haught said in a statement to newsmen that "the many rumors regarding the flying disc became a reality yesterday when the intelligence office of the 509th (Atomic) bomb group of the Eighth Air Force, Roswell Army Airfield, was fortunate enough to gain possession of a disc through co-operation of one of the local ranchers and the sheriff's office."

NOT A FLYING DISK—Maj. Gesse A. Marcel, intelligence officer of the 509th Bomb Group, Rosewell, N. M., inspects what was identified by a Fort Worth Army Air Field Weather Officer, as a high altitude ray wind weather recording machine and not a flying disk.

Petrillo Told To Study Labor, Anti-Trust Laws

Violations Of Both Possible, Nixon Says

WASHINGTON, July 8 (AP) — Rep. Nixon (R-Calif.) told James C. Petrillo in blunt terms today to study the new Taft-Hartley Labor Law and the anti-trust laws before carrying out his threat to bar union musicians from radio network programs.

Under Nixon's sharp prodding at a Congressional hearing, Petrillo acknowledged that the "big reason" behind his threat would be to get the individual radio stations to hire more union musicians.

Declaring there are 603 stations which do not hire musicians now but depend on the networks, Petrillo said:

"It's A Sad Story"

"There's no reason why they shouldn't hire musicians. They need musicians, but they won't pay them. That's the sad story."

Nixon cited Petrillo's previous testimony that he might extend the ban to the making of recordings by union musicians, then said:

"The effect would be to put the networks and recording companies virtually out of business."

"I don't know if they'd go out of business," Petrillo grumbled.

"Well," Nixon said, "before you attempt to carry out the threat against the networks and recording companies, I suggest that you and your council read very carefully your testimony here, the Taft-Hartley Labor Law, and the Anti-Trust Laws."

Nixon later told reporters that if Petrillo called a strike or pulled his men out of the networks, in a move to force stations to hire people they don't need, it would be "feather-bedding and a violation of the Taft-Hartley Law."

He said, too, that if Petrillo put the bans into effect and some companies had to go out of business, it might be "a restraint of trade" in violation of the Anti-Trust Laws.

Warms To Children

Petrillo, acknowledging that "I'm not an angel, I lost my wings a long time ago," displayed a soft heart toward school children but not for their appearance on commercial broadcasts.

Testifying before a House Labor Subcommittee, the fuzzy-haired czar of the American Federation of Musicians declared:

More Pumps Approved For "Inch" Pipelines

WASHINGTON, July 8 (AP)—The Power Commission today authorized Texas Eastern Transmission Corp., Houston, to install additional pumps on the big and little big inch pipelines to increase their natural gas capacity by 75,000,000 cubic feet a day.

74 Deaths Reported In Calcutta Riot

CALCUTTA, July 8 (AP) — New outbreaks of communal fighting in Calcutta and the United Provinces have caused at least 74 deaths and more than 140 injuries, reports showed tonight.

Dispatches from Lucknow, United Provinces, said that 35 refugees crammed into a bus were killed. Fifteen bodies were found in the bus, 18 were recovered from a well, and two have not been found.

The toll of dead in Hindu-Moslem rioting which began here yesterday rose to 39. Police reported order had been restored.

Police Drain Lake

SHELLMOUND, Tenn., July 8 (AP) State Police began draining murky Nickajack Lake today in an effort to find 35-year-old John T. Hurn in the weird Nickajack Cave, where he was reported lost a week ago.

Maryland Ballot Count May Go On For Some Time

Votes In 18 Of 23 Counties Remain

BALTIMORE, July 8 (AP)—Francis T. Kelly, in charge of workers recounting ballots in Maryland's senatorial election of last November, said today there was no indication how long it would take to complete the task.

Working under a United State Senate Subcommittee investigating the election of Herbert R. O'Conor to the Senate, the group has still to examine the ballots cast in 18 out of the 23 counties in the state.

In addition, they must examine two records, and perhaps more, for each of the 471 precincts of Baltimore City. It may also become necessary to make a second check of the five counties whose ballots have already been recounted.

There was a possibility that the task might continue for many months more.

O'Conor, a former Governor of Maryland, won on the face of the Senatorial contest by a margin of 2,232 votes. The result was challenged by his Republican opponent, Col. D. John Markey, who claimed there had been irregularities.

Meanwhile Daniel B. Chambers Jr., chairman of the Baltimore City Board of Supervisors of Elections, said today that records for Baltimore precincts contained in the Maryland Third Congressional District must leave the supervisor's office July 12 and would be returned on the 15th and 16th.

Chambers had earlier objected to turning records of the Third District over to the Senate Committee at this time, on the grounds they were needed for a special election to be held July 15 to fill the Congressional seat vacated by Mayor D'Alesandro.

Kelly said he had no objection to a suggestion of Chambers' that the workers for the Senatorial Committee carry on their investigation in the supervisor's office, where the records are kept.

Crisis Is Blamed On U. S., British

LAKE SUCCESS, July 8. (AP)—Russia late today charged that the situation in Greece was the result of American and British interference and demanded that the United Nations order foreign military personnel off Greek soil.

The Soviet Union also called for U. N Supervision of all conomic aid to Greece in renewed attempt to place the American program of direct support under international control.

"Direct intervention through the presence of foreign troops has been supplemented lately by new forms of intervention in sending to Greece so-called military instructors and in supplying war equipment," Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko said in his new attack on the American aid program.

Rejecting a U. N. report blaming Soviet Balkan satellites for the Greek border disorders, Gromyko said the Greek government alone was at fault.

Gromyko put forward the Russian rebuttal to a majority report of a Balkan Investigating Commission in a 78-minute speech, one of the longest ever delivered to the Security Council.

He asked the council to reverse on-the-spot finding and rule Greece guilty of provoking disturbances with Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria.

Gromyko said without qualification that Russia could not accept an American resolution, growing out of the commission report, for establishment of a semi-permanent U. N. watch along the troubled frontiers. American Delegate Warren R. Austin previously had said that nothing less than the border watch would solve the problem and Gromyko thus gave the strongest indications that he would veto the project.

Gromyko gave no figures on military personnel, but a Greek source said there were only about 6,000 foreign troops there now. These were said to be mostly British with other American training groups.

Regarding American aid, Gromyko asked the council to pass this paragraph:

"For the purpose of providing the proper use of foreign economic aid granted to Greece, the security Council resolves to establish a special commission which through the proper supervision would guarantee the use of such aid only in the interests of the Greek people."

National Resource Survey To Be Made In Maryland

SOLOMONS, Md., July 8. (AP)—Dr. R. V. Truitt, head of the Department of Research and Education, announced today an inventory of Maryland's natural resources would begin September 1.

The announcement was made after a special meeting of the heads of departments related to the board of natural resources, who were visiting the Chesapeake laboratory here in connection with the annual meeting of the board.

Dr. Truitt said the Departmental heads had pledged full co-operation in the inventory, which will be undertaken by a staff of four men.

"This will be a long range project," Dr. Truitt explained. "We want to know what we have, where we have failed and what we've got to do.

"The inventory will be such as a businessman would undertake to find out what he has."

He said it was planned to start the survey in either the Patuxent or Monocary River water shed.

"We will make a complete study of resources, setting forth quantity, type and abundance of forests, fresh water and salt water fish and land resources."

The Chesapeake Bay laboratory will be the headquarters for the inventory unit. Half of the work will be done in the field and the rest will consist of tabulating materials gathered.

"It will be a year-round program and a continuing one, for although it will not be necessary to go over the entire state in detail as in the first survey, after the primary inventory is completed, we can ascertain our new date by spot checks," Dr. Truitt said.

Sixth California Woman Found Slain Since Black Dahlia Case

LOS ANGELES, July 8 (AP) — The ravished and strangled body of Mrs. Rosenda Mondragon, 20, was found almost in the shadow of the City Hall early today, and police sent out a statewide teletype bulletin for the apprehension of a man with whom she had reportedly been seen shortly before.

She was the eighth sex murder victim locally in a cycle which began last January 15 with the mutilation slaying of Elizabeth Short, the so-called "Black Dahlia." This case has never been solved.

Police Chief Charles B. Horrall said that a clerk, William H. Moore, had seen a woman resembling Mrs. Mondragon get into an automobile on a downtown corner. He furnished a description of the driver.

Detectives said they believed Mrs. Mondragon had been slain elsewhere, and her body dumped into the street from an automobile.

Det. Lieut. Bob Lohrman and Sgt. Harry Hansen said her husband, Antonio Mondragon, had reported his wife visited him at the home of his brother-in-law only about two hours before discovery of the body. They were estranged, Lohrman said.

Mrs. Mondragon had been strangled with a silk stocking. Her face was bruised and swollen and her breast lacerated.

"New Era In Push Button Telegraphy" Is Unveiled

Will Make Pole Lines Obsolete

PHILADEPHIA, July 8 (AP) — The Western Union Telegraph Company unveiled today a $2,000,000 installation here which it described as marking "a new era of push-button telegraphy," and at the same time said construction of a new radio beam telegraph network ultimately will replace pole lines, long a symbol of the telegraph.

The push-button system here is the first and largest in a projected nationwide network and triples the capacity of present facilities. The mechanical marvel will permit switching clerks to relay messages to any of 270 destinations by merely pushing the designated button.

Used For Training

Under construction for many months, the complex maze of wires, row on row of panels with buttons and lights, was being used for training purposes as the press was given a preview. Tomorrow, the first circuit will be placed in actual operation to New York, and other circuits will be added until the change-over is completed by September.

Cincinnati will be the site of the next push-button installation, expected to be completed in about three months. Others will be installed at key cities throughout the country, including Boston, Kansas City, Syracuse, St. Louis, Atlanta, and Oakland. Philadelphia now connects with similar high-speed centers at St. Louis, Richmond, Dallas, Atlanta and Oakland, but in the latter offices, the conventional plug-in lines and switchboard are being used, pending transfer to the automatic push-button system.

Philadelphia will be the clearing house for all messages to and from Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, and the counties of Maryland and Virginia on the Del-Mar-Va Peninsula.

Now messages arriving here are sorted by routing clerks and carried by conveyor belts to relay operators who retransmit the message on teletype—electric telegraph typewriters.

Message Typed Only Once

With the new system, each message will be typed only once, at the point of origin. For example, a message from Wilmington, Del., addressed to San Francisco, will be teletyped in Wilmington and received in Philadelphia simultaneously on a telegraph device called a printer perferator, which prints the message, and at the same time and on the same tape, punches combinations of holes which activate the teletype. A clerk will read the destination as the message begins to come in and will push the button marked "San Francisco." Pressing the button will cause the perforated tape to run through an automatic transmitter. In San Francisco, the signals will print the message, ready for delivery.

Russia, Too, May Attend Aid Parley

Nations In Red Orbit Expected

PARIS, July 8 (AP)—Thirteen nations, including Czechoslovakia in the Soviet sphere, have accepted French-British bids to the Paris conference on the Marshall Plan. Czech sources in Prague hinted that Russia herself might finally be represented.

There had been no refusals by nightfall from the 22 invited nations.

The French Foreign Ministry announced that 10 nations—Belgium, Italy, Portugal, Eire, Greece, Turkey, The Netherlands, Luxembourg, Czechoslovakia and Iceland—have turned in formal acceptances.

Others To Participate

Associated Press dispatches from Berne, Vienna and Copenhagen said that Switzerland, Austria and Denmark decided officially to participate in the reconstruction parley.

Confusion concerning what was going on in the Russian Zone states mounted as the Thursday deadline for accepting the invitations drew near. The conference will open Saturday.

Polish, Romanian and Finnish diplomats denied reports broadcast by Tass, official Soviet News Agency, that their countries had rejected the invitation. They said a decision could not be known until tomorrow. An Associated Press dispatch from Warsaw said it still was a "toss-up" whether Poland would accept.

Yugoslav, Albanian, Bulgarian and Hungarian spokesmen here could not be reached for comment on the attitude of their governments but reports from those four nations indicated their decisions still were being studied.

Observer Expected

A dispatch from Prague said that Czech sources close to the government declared there was considerable indication Russia might send a representative—perhaps as an observer.

These sources said they based their suggestions on the Czech acceptance of the invitation, indications in Prague that the Poles also might accept, and an about-face by the Communist Party in Prague from the earlier criticism of the motives behind the economic rehabilitation proposal.

British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin emphasized in England that the door still was open for Russia to come to the conference.

United Air Lines Seeks Service Permit For City

WASHINGTON, July 8 (AP) — Atlantic Airlines, which claims it will put the average citizen in the air as the late Henry Ford put him on wheels, urged today the granting of its application to provide non-subsidy, low-cost plane travel.

Samuel J. Solomon, Atlantic's president, told the Civil Aeronautics Board that Atlantic is prepared to prove that "air transportation can stand on its own feet" by providing carry-your-own-baggage, no-pretty-stewardess service at three and one-half cents a mile—from one to one and a half cents cheaper than trunk line carriers.

Solomon, a resident of Silver Springs, Md., said his company proposes a network of operations in a triangular area whose points are Washington, New York and Pittsburgh and which contains a population of 21,000,000 persons.

He said that the company's specially equipped DC-3 planes—having 28 instead of 21 seats, a built-in ramp which would eliminate the necessity of airport attendants, and special provisions for luggage—would have their schedules co-ordinated with automobiles and buses which would bring outlying air travelers to the airport at the same three and one-half cent cost.

Solomon told the board during oral argument on the Middle Atlantic Case that millions of Americans do not travel by air because they cannot afford to and that it is his company's plan to provide in the air the equivalent of railroad coach and bus accommodations.

United Air Lines urged the board to grant its applications to extend "mainliner" service to Pittsburgh, Baltimore, Providence, Scranton and Wilkes-Barre, York, Harrisburg, Johnstown, Reading, Bradford, Lancaster and Williamsport, Pa., Trenton, N. J., Wilmington, Del., and CUMBERLAND and Hagerstown Md.

Cotton Crop Small

WASHINGTON, July 8 (AP)—The United States faced the prospect today of the smallest supply of cotton for the coming marketing year in nearly a quarter of a century.

Vote In House Indicates Veto Would Not Hold

Gets 26 More Than Needed Two-Thirds

WASHINGTON, July 8 — (AP) — The Republican-backed $4,000,000,000 income tax reduction for 49,000,000 taxpayers sailed through the House again today by an overwhelming vote of 302 to 112. This is 26 more than the two-thirds needed to override a second Presidential veto.

Speaker Martin (R-Mass.) personally took the floor and asked the body to make its vote so decisive "as to persuade the President that the people should have this delayed justice."

Anticipating another Presidential veto, Martin declared the House confronts the fundamental question of whether "Congress shall retain its right to perform its constitutional function of determining what taxes shall be levied on the people."

Goes To Senate

The measure was tossed over to the Senate, where Republican leaders said they hope to rush it again to President Truman's desk before the week ends.

The measure is identical with the one the President returned June 16 as "the wrong kind of tax reduction at the wrong time"—except that the effective date of the tax cut has been changed from July 1, 1947, to January 1, 1948.

While a veto-overriding vote rolled up in the House, speculation flared to a feverish pitch on the big question:

Can such a two-thirds vote be obtained in the Senate to overthrow another Presidential objection?

No one yet has named two thirds of the Senators who will vote to override a veto. The President's first veto was sustained in the House when the vote to override, 268 to 137, was two votes short of the needed two-thirds.

In today's roll call on passage, 233 Republicans were joined by 69 Democrats in support of the Bill. Opposing were 109 Democrats and two Republicans—Hull of Wisconsin and H. Carl Andersen of Minnesota—and the American Labor Party Member, Rep. Marcantonio of New York.

House action, with the Republicans in complete control, followed defeat 261 to 151 of an attempt by administration - supporting Democrats to substitute a bill that would reduce taxes $3,379,000,000 a year and remove 4,000,000 low-income persons from the tax rolls completely.

Oppose Tax Reduction

Sponsors said they oppose any tax reduction now, but offered their bill as "a fairer and more equitable" approach, if tax cutting is inevitable. They argued for reduction of the debt instead of tax cutting now.

Here's how the adopted measure works:

1. Effective January 1, 1948
2. All withholdings against wages and salaries would be reduced.
3. A 30 per cent cut on taxable incomes of $1,000 or less (income after exemptions and deductions).
4. A 20 to 30 per cent cut on incomes between $1,000 and $1,400.
5. A 20 per cent cut on taxable income between $1,400 and $137,000.
6. A 15 per cent cut on income between $137,000 and $302,000.
7. A 10.5 per cent tax cut on any income over $302,000.

Coal Miners Get Working Orders

PITTSBURGH, July 8 (AP)—Wires in soft coal fields hummed tonight with the magic words "go back to work" as leaders of the AFL United Mine Workers flashed orders to an estimated 300,000 miners to dig coal under a new, unprecedented contract.

Assistant foremen and other supervisory employes trooped back to pits re-opening in the North, Midwest and West sections of the nation under provisions of the contract signed at Washington today.

The agreement raises miners' pay more than 37 percent, and jubilant UMW men here quickly observed that the basic scale besides being the highest in the history of the miners also exceeds that of the steelworkers of CIO President Philip Murray, one-time UMW leader.

For a five-day week, the miners' base pay will be $65.25, compared with an average of $58.50 for steelworkers. Miners will receive $84.82 for six days and $110.92 for seven days. Their hourly pay rose from $1.18½ to $1.63, a gain of 44½ cents.

"They got the whole bucketful this time," grinned a maintenance worker entering a mine in the Pittsburgh area.

Signing the agreements were representatives of big mines, but the union eagerly arranged for smaller, independent operations to re-open upon oral agreement to comply with the new contract when contract forms are available. Southern operators remain to be signed.

Centralia Coal Company Fined

NASHVILLE, Ill., July 8 (AP)—The Centralia Coal Company today was fined $1,000 on charges of "willful neglect" in the March 25 explosion-deaths of 111 miners.

The fine was the maximum provided by statute.

Judge R. W. Griffith of the Washington County Circuit Court accepted the firm's plea of nolo contendere under which, without admitting guilt, the company subjected itself to a judgment or coviction.

The court delayed a ruling on a plea by Robert M. Medill, resigned director of the Illinois Department of Mines and Minerals, and Robert Weir, assitant department chief, for trial elsewhere on charges growing out the disaster.

Medill and Weir are at liberty under $1,500 bond each and charged in grand jury indictments with "palpable omission of duty" for alleged "failure to enforce the law in regard to rock dusting the mine and allowing a large quantity of combustible coal dust to accumulate."

"Big Boy" Dropped One Of Two Babies In Hospital, Court Told

CANTON, O., July 8 (AP)—A five-year-old boy today repeated at a court hearing his statement that he saw a "big boy in a white coat" drop one of twe girl babies found dying of crushed skulls at Massillon City Hospital June 6.

Roger Gue of Navarre, O., a patient at the hospital at the time the babies died, told Common Pleas Judge A. C. L. Barthelmeh during formal questioning that he saw a boy about 15 years old wearing "long white coat" enter the babies' room the night they were found.

Saying the boy had one arm in a sling, the Gue child said he saw the 15-year-old youth "pick up one of the babies and slam her against the floor."

The boy then went behind a screen to the other crib, said young Gue, adding that he heard the second baby drop to the floor before the youth picked up both babies and placed them in their cribs.

In the hearing an eight-year-old boy, Dean Ruegsegger of Mt. Eaton, O., who also was a patient in the hospital June 6, told the court he had seen nothing unusual before the babies were discovered. A third child, a five-year-old girl, was ruled by Judge Barthelmeh incapable of giving legally competent testimony.

Elpha Williams Becomes Bride Of J. L. Tewell

By HELEN COLLETT

PARSONS, July 10—Announcement has been made here of the marriage of Miss Elpha Pauline Williams, daughter of Mrs. John Williams, Hambleton, and the late John Williams, to James Leonard Tewell, Washington, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Tewell, Davis.

The Lutheran Evangelical Church in Washington was the setting for the double ring services which were read at 4 o'clock on Saturday, July 5, with Dr. G. E. Lenski, pastor of the church, officiating in the presence of close friends and immediate families.

The bride wore a street length suit of white with white accessories complimented with a corsage of orchids. Mrs. John Helms, sister of the bride, Washington, served as matron of honor and wore a street length dress of blue with white accessories and a corsage of white gardenias.

A. J. Bible of Davis, brother-in-law of the bride, was best man. Guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Terrant, Mrs. McCormick, Mrs. Marjorie Watson, Mrs. Gilbert Rice, Miss Dean Ballard and Misses Eloise and Mary Tewell, sisters of the bridegroom, Paul Daniels, and Mr. and Mrs. John Helms all of Washington, and Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Bible, Davis.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Helms for the wedding party and friends with Mrs. A. J. Bible, Davis, sister of the bride, assisting Mrs. Helms.

Mrs. Tewell is a graduate of Thomas High School and has been employed by the Navy department in Washington for the past seven years.

Mr. Tewell, a graduate of Davis High School, spent four years with the "Seabees", three and one half years of which was in overseas duty. He is now employed by the Navy yards in Washington as a mechanic. They will reside in Washington.

Fair Association To Meet

Claude Shaffer, president of the Tucker County Fair Association, announced that a county wide meeting will be held in the Court House in Parsons on Monday evening, July 14, at which time all interested persons of the county are invited to attend to make plans for the annual Tucker County Fair to be held this fall. The date tentatively is set for September 24 through September 27.

At the Monday evening meeting new officers will be elected and committees named. All civic and social organizations are requested to be represented at the meeting.

School Nurse Named

For the first time since the resignation of Mrs. Marie Pell, R. N., in 1942, Tucker County schools will have a County Health nurse.

The announcement was made at a meeting of the Tucker County Board of Education Monday evening. Mrs. Christine Korosec Meyers, wife of Paul Myers, Davis, was named as school nurse. She is a graduate of Thomas High School in 1938 and the City Hospital Training School for Nurses in Elkins. For the past five years she has been surgical supervisor in City Hospital.

The board also confirmed Delbert Arbogast for the fifth year as attendance officer for the county. Mrs. Winona D. Coberly was renamed as clerical assistant and Mrs. Edith Olson named as typist for the Veteran's Adminitration program in the county. Her office is in the county superintendent's office.

Janitors, bus drivers and engineers were also appointed. Janitors will be Howard Loughry at Parsons High School, Charlie Young at Hamrick School; Burton Murphy will be janitor and engineer both for the Parsons Graded School; Ellen Harris at Thomas School; Eleanor Jenkins for Davis schools; and Sylvia Jenkins, for Parsons schools.

Engineers will be William Pase for Thomas High School; Elmer Moreland for Davis High School and Charlie Sturms for Parsons High School.

Store Changes Hands

The grocery store in Hambleton owned by Stark L. Coberly, Parsons, was purchased this week by Myrl Kepner, Newark, O., for an undisclosed price. Mr. Kepner, a son of Mrs. Virginia Kepner, Hambleton, is a former coach of Parsons High School and the store will be managed by "Hawaiian Joe", the present manager, who is from Hawaii.

FAZENBAKER BANISHED FROM STATE FOR YEAR

Alvin Fazenbaker, Westernport, was found guilty yesterday afternoon by Magistrate John Laughlin in Westernport of asaulting a Mineral County constable and received a suspended sentence of one year in the Maryland House of Correction providing he remain out of Maryland for one year beginning August 1.

Testimony revealed that William Bryant, Piedmont, was walking on Main Street in Westernport and when noticing a crowd in front of Fitzgerald's taxi office, crossed the street. Fazenbaker crossed the street also and stopped Bryant and asked the Mineral County constable who he was and, witnesses said, he then struck Bryant in the stomach. Bryant eluded him and returned to Piedmont.

In sentencing Fazenbaker, Magistrate Laughlin also fined him $25 and costs which were paid and stated that he could return home during the year if he received permission from the Magistrate. He also advised him to stay away from intoxicating drinks.

Fazenbaker, who was represented by Thomas Finan, Cumberland, did not testify in his own behalf. The Westernport man had received a deferred sentence on an assault charge preferred by a Barton policeman on April 5 after he had been found guilty in Trial Magistrates' Court here. The Barton incident happened only a few months after Fazenbaker had been released from a year's term in Mineral County Jail for being involved in the scuffle in which Chief of Police Dornon of Piedmont met his death.

Higher Qualifications Urged For Teachers

COLLEGE PARK, Md., July 8 (AP)—Mrs. Albert L. Gardner, vice president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, said today that parents should demand higher qualifications of public school teachers.

Mrs. Gardner spoke at a three-day meeting of the Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers, which opened today at the University of Maryland.

In a talk describing the objectives of the national organization, Mrs. Gardner said that "parents should require of the teacher higher standards of qualification, just as the teacher looks to the parents to promote his cause in securing higher pay."

She listed the group's five objectives as:

(1) Promotion of the welfare of children in the home, school, church and community;

(2) Securing of adequate laws for the care and protection of children;

(3) Raising the standards of home life;

(4) Closer co-operation between parents and teachers;

(5) Development of united effort between educators and the general public.

Dr. James S. Plant, director of the Essex County Juvenile Clinic, Newark, N. J., is scheduled to address the group tomorrow on the subject, "problems of today's children."

Mrs. Robert G. Doty, of Cumberland, president of the State Organization, reported there are currently 41,000 members throughout Maryland, representing an increase of 34 percent over last year.

By HELEN COLLETT

PARSONS, July 10—Announcement has been made here of the marriage of Miss Elpha Pauline Williams, daughter of Mrs. John Williams, Hambleton, and the late John Williams, to James Leonard Tewell, Washington, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Tewell, Davis.

The Lutheran Evangelical Church in Washington was the setting for the double ring services which were read at 4 o'clock on Saturday, July 5, with Dr. G. E. Lenski, pastor of the church, officiating in the presence of close friends and immediate families.

The bride wore a street length suit of white with white accessories complimented with a corsage of orchids. Mrs. John Helms, sister of the bride, Washington, served as matron of honor and wore a street length dress of blue with white accessories and a corsage of white gardenias.

A. J. Bible of Davis, brother-in-law of the bride, was best man. Guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Terrant, Mrs. McCormick, Mrs. Marjorie Watson, Mrs. Gilbert Rice, Miss Dean Ballard and Misses Eloise and Mary Tewell, sisters of the bridegroom, Paul Daniels, and Mr. and Mrs. John Helms all of Washington, and Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Bible, Davis.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Helms for the wedding party and friends with Mrs. A. J. Bible, Davis, sister of the bride, assisting Mrs. Helms.

Mrs. Tewell is a graduate of Thomas High School and has been employed by the Navy department in Washington for the past seven years.

Mr. Tewell, a graduate of Davis High School, spent four years with the "Seabees", three and one half years of which was in overseas duty. He is now employed by the Navy yards in Washington as a mechanic. They will reside in Washington.

Fair Association To Meet

Claude Shaffer, president of the Tucker County Fair Association, announced that a county wide meeting will be held in the Court House in Parsons on Monday evening, July 14, at which time all interested persons of the county are invited to attend to make plans for the annual Tucker County Fair to be held this fall. The date tentatively is set for September 24 through September 27.

At the Monday evening meeting new officers will be elected and committees named. All civic and social organizations are requested to be represented at the meeting.

School Nurse Named

For the first time since the resignation of Mrs. Marie Pell, R. N., in 1942, Tucker County schools will have a County Health nurse.

The announcement was made at a meeting of the Tucker County Board of Education Monday evening. Mrs. Christine Korosec Meyers, wife of Paul Myers, Davis, was named as school nurse. She is a graduate of Thomas High School in 1938 and the City Hospital Training School for Nurses in Elkins. For the past five years she has been surgical supervisor in City Hospital.

The board also confirmed Delbert Arbogast for the fifth year as attendance officer for the county. Mrs. Winona D. Coberly was renamed as clerical assistant and Mrs. Edith Olson named as typist for the Veteran's Adminitration program in the county. Her office is in the county superintendent's office.

Janitors, bus drivers and engineers were also appointed. Janitors will be Howard Loughry at Parsons High School, Charlie Young at Hamrick School; Burton Murphy will be janitor and engineer both for the Parsons Graded School; Ellen Harris at Thomas School; Eleanor Jenkins for Davis schools; and Sylvia Jenkins, for Parsons schools.

Engineers will be William Pase for Thomas High School; Elmer Moreland for Davis High School and Charlie Sturms for Parsons High School.

Store Changes Hands

The grocery store in Hambleton owned by Stark L. Coberly, Parsons, was purchased this week by Myrl Kepner, Newark, O., for an undisclosed price. Mr. Kepner, a son of Mrs. Virginia Kepner, Hambleton, is a former coach of Parsons High School and the store will be managed by "Hawaiian Joe", the present manager, who is from Hawaii.

FAZENBAKER BANISHED FROM STATE FOR YEAR

Alvin Fazenbaker, Westernport, was found guilty yesterday afternoon by Magistrate John Laughlin in Westernport of asaulting a Mineral County constable and received a suspended sentence of one year in the Maryland House of Correction providing he remain out of Maryland for one year beginning August 1.

Testimony revealed that William Bryant, Piedmont, was walking on Main Street in Westernport and when noticing a crowd in front of Fitzgerald's taxi office, crossed the street. Fazenbaker crossed the street also and stopped Bryant and asked the Mineral County constable who he was and, witnesses said, he then struck Bryant in the stomach. Bryant eluded him and returned to Piedmont.

In sentencing Fazenbaker, Magistrate Laughlin also fined him $25 and costs which were paid and stated that he could return home during the year if he received permission from the Magistrate. He also advised him to stay away from intoxicating drinks.

Fazenbaker, who was represented by Thomas Finan, Cumberland, did not testify in his own behalf. The Westernport man had received a deferred sentence on an assault charge preferred by a Barton policeman on April 5 after he had been found guilty in Trial Magistrates' Court here. The Barton incident happened only a few months after Fazenbaker had been released from a year's term in Mineral County Jail for being involved in the scuffle in which Chief of Police Dornon of Piedmont met his death.

Higher Qualifications Urged For Teachers

COLLEGE PARK, Md., July 8 (AP)—Mrs. Albert L. Gardner, vice president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, said today that parents should demand higher qualifications of public school teachers.

Mrs. Gardner spoke at a three-day meeting of the Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers, which opened today at the University of Maryland.

In a talk describing the objectives of the national organization, Mrs. Gardner said that "parents should require of the teacher higher standards of qualification, just as the teacher looks to the parents to promote his cause in securing higher pay."

She listed the group's five objectives as:

(1) Promotion of the welfare of children in the home, school, church and community;

(2) Securing of adequate laws for the care and protection of children;

(3) Raising the standards of home life;

(4) Closer co-operation between parents and teachers;

(5) Development of united effort between educators and the general public.

Dr. James S. Plant, director of the Essex County Juvenile Clinic, Newark, N. J., is scheduled to address the group tomorrow on the subject, "problems of today's children."

Mrs. Robert G. Doty, of Cumberland, president of the State Organization, reported there are currently 41,000 members throughout Maryland, representing an increase of 34 percent over last year.

Miss Norma Harper Weds Paul H. Black

By MYRTLE PARK

PETERSBURG, W. Va., July 8—Miss Norma Gladys Harper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mason Hedrick, Macksville, and Paul Harding Black, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hendron Black, Cabins, were married at the Evangelical United Brethren parsonage at Elkins Saturday by Rev. Troy Beady.

Railroad Workers Now Beneficiaries Of Sick Aid

The sickness benefits under the railroad unemployment insurance, as amended on July 31, last year, and which became effective nine days ago, to round out the various features of our social security laws should be hailed with satisfaction by all railroad workers, not only in Cumberland, but throughout the vast network of railroads in the country.

Railroad employes are provided for in separate social security legislation that has been enacted from time to time by Congress. People who work in other callings may think sometimes that while the railroad men are getting these benefits, their progress is slow along insurance and compensation lines.

Much of the legislation that has been enacted, it should be understood, is in the nature of a beginning and an experiment. In other words, we'll try it out on the railroad workers, see how it works and then the scope can be enlarged, taking in other callings.

One of the prime needs of our country is the elimination as far as possible of relief. We were told when the first social security legislation was enacted that it would abolish the almshouses of the country. Well, in the years since it has been in effect it hasn't accomplished that yet; at least ours in Allegany county is still functioning, caring for those whose social security has failed to prevent them going to such an institution.

But, the ultimate goal of all these measures, including the railroad employes' sick benefits plan, is to eliminate the need for relief. We may be on our way toward that desirable goal and some day we may arrive if Congress ever recognizes the fact that those dependant on social security to carry them through the last years of their life can not hope to look forward to much comfort and ease on the specified amounts now paid.

Politics Plagues Law

Because of the tremendous power given to the General Counsel, a new office created under the Taft-Hartley Labor Act, the veto of which was overridden by overwhelming vote of Congress—with a majority of Democrats joining the Republicans—it appears that a new struggle lies ahead between the President and the Senate over this appointment.

Furthermore, two additional members of the National Labor Relations Board must be named. Truman's nominations for these posts will be subject to senatorial nomination.

The office of General Counsel was set up by Congress in its desire to separate the NLRB's judicial and administrative functions. The General Counsel is clothed with so much power that he can refuse requests by unions or employers for issuance of complaints against each other. There is no appeal from his decision.

He will take over many of the functions of the board. He will have full supervision of the field staff in the regional offices. He will settle most of the cases in the field.

Unless the President appoints men to these posts who are in sympathy with the law, the Senate would be derelict in its duty if it confirmed his appointments. Thus it is easy to see that, unless Truman accepts his defeat and acts with the country's interest at heart, he can continue to cause political commotion.

Test Tube Or Broom?

Maybe you shouldn't raise your boy to be a scientist if you have his best interests at heart. If he's not good enough for anything else, all right. But perhaps you should first ask yourself seriously whether he has the talents for a better-paying job—street sweeper, for instance.

These reflections are inspired by a news item from Pittsburgh. The city was advertising for a college graduate in natural science at $2,239 a year. At the same time it was advertising for street sweepers at $3,177 a year. Considering the relative training and intelligence required for the two jobs, that doesn't seem fair.

It may be fairer than it seems, though. There's no future in sweeping streets. The man who takes that job will still be getting $3,177 a year—presumably —20 years from now. Right now he's probably older than the college graduate, with a family to support. The young scientist is likely to have fewer dependents, if any, and as he acquires them his income has the prospect of increasing somewhat.

Besides, the country is operating more or less under the law of supply and demand. Street sweeping is hardly an ideal career, and cities are compelled to offer pay high enough to lure workers away from more pleasant occupations. If they aren't wiling to do that, they'll have to put up with dirty streets.

Advice To Lawyers

Lawyers should welcome and encourage members of other professions to help their clients, particularly in divorcecases, the Pennsylvania Bar Association was told last week by Earl G. Harrison, dean of the University of Pennsylvania Law School. In the whole field of crime, he added, lawyers should enlist and coordinate all the sciences dealing with human behavior, including psychiatry, sociology, medicine, education, social work and psychology.

That is sound advice. The best doctor is the one who sends the fewest patients to the hospital or the cemetery. The best lawyer is the one who keeps his clients out of the courts—or, failing that, makes it unneceessary for them to return there. And even an encyclopedic knowledge of the law is not enough for such preventive practice.

Most persons seeking divorce, for instance, need the services of a psychiatrist or some expert counsellor, who can heal their break instead of making it legal and final. Many law violators—particularly those guilty of sex crimes—are victims of psychological pressures that should be relieved before they are turned loose on the public again.

The old concept of crime and punisment is slowly giving way to one of crime and cure—or, if that is not possible, to crime and quarantine.

But it is not only divorce-seekers and criminals who see a lawyer when they may need a psychiatrist, too. There are litigious clients who are in the early stages of paranoia, and fall into the hands of shady practitioners when ethical attorneys simply reject their cases. Their money, and perhaps their reason, might be saved if they went to lawyers who called in the right sort of expert help.

THE ASTHMATIC

ALL that wheezes is not asthma" is a common expression. The symptom appears in whooping cough and may accompany bronchitis, bronchiectasis, and other lung conditions. Foreign bodies or tumors account for some cases and one form is associated with heart disturbances.

But in the majority, asthma is responsible. Approximately one per cent of the population is afflicted and Urbach states that 30 to 40 per cent start during the first decade of life; one-half the cases between the second and fourth. Heredity plays a major role and, if both parents are affected, 79 per cent of the victims become asthmatic during the first 10 years of life. Twice as many boys as girls are sufferers but in the middle age period, the female sex has a slight edge over the males.

In bronchial asthma there is marked hypersensitivity of the mucous membranes and muscles of the bronchi to various stimuli. These include heat, cold, changes in temperature, wind, dust, food, excitement, fatigue, bacteria, and other irritants to which the normal person is immune. Hurst, himself a victim, called it "The reaction of an overexcitable bronchial system."

Many physicians believe that allergic individuals produce an overabundance of histamine or a substance resembling it. Attempts at desensitization to this offender have been made without too much success. Research workers have been trying to establish immunity by injecting histamine azoprotein. One group reported the procedure ineffective in 40 patients but others believed it to be of value in certain types of asthma when used as an adjunct to other forms of treatment. Meanwhile studies along this line will continue.

Several anti-histaminic preparations are on the market, of which benadryl and pyribenzamine are the most widely used. Such drugs reduce constriction of the bronchi thru their antispasmodic action but the affect is temporary and in no sense curative. Levin recently employed both chemicals in a series of patients. Improvement followed the administration of pyribenzamine in 59 per cent of those with seasonal asthma; 50 per cent of non seasonal astmas; and 20 per cent of the cases exhibiting an associated respiratory infection. The good results with benadryl were 68, 42, and 18 per cent, respectively. Symptoms returned when the drug was withdrawn.

In another study of 529 cases of asthma of all kinds treated with pribenzamine, 26 per cent were benefitted. Glaser found the products disappointing with children, altho he thought they might prove helpful if exposure to the weather is to blame.

Numerous other remedies are available for the acute attack including ephedrine, epinephrine (adrenalin), aminophylline, expectorants, and oxygen. Psychotheraphy is important. The armed services found that it was practicable to induct asthmatics. There were so many factors beyond the control of the physicians that therapy could not be carried out successfully. In addition, the abnormality caused longer periods of disability than most illnesses. In one series of 100 naval personnel, only 18 per cent could be returned to duty. The condition often follows stress and strain, which is frequently a manifestation of an adequate personality. War being what it is, we can understand why these men would have been of no use during hostilities.

GOLD THERAPY

W. P. writes: A claims that gold is used in arthritis only. B says it is given also in high blood pressure. Who is right?

REPLY

Gold has been employed in many disorders and recently its popularity in certain forms of artaritis has been renewed. I have never heard of its use in hypertension and strongly doubt its value in this condition.

INFLAMED SINUS

F. T. writes: What is ethmiditis?

REPLY

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

The New York Transit System has just installed a new million-dollar aluminum subway train, complete with air-conditioned, soundproofing and a lush job of interior decorating. A sort of five-cent super-chief.

The engineer, of course, is a Harvard man. And he wouldn't think of stooping to toot his whistle at a passing train. He simply writes a letter to Emily Post asking her what to do.

The new train has special doors that won't slam on you like the old ones. They're lined with marshmallow and gently squirt you with perfume.

And the women won't have trouble anymore getting seats. It's not that the men are polite. They're all in the club car.

In New York five o'clock isn't rush hour anymore. . . . It's teatime. If a guard gets rough with you and pushes you out the door it isn't because the train is too crowded . . . you simply forgot to wear your carnation.

The new train is really sensitive about riding the same route as the lowly locals. In fact, there's a special attachment on front that disinfects the tracks.

And no one has to worry about hanging on to a hand strap . . . The carpets are so thick you can't reach them!

They caught a guy sleeping on the new train and when they questioned him they found out he wasn't a bum . . . He just couldn't stand going back to his old-fashioned apartment.

FBI Called On To Track Down Nonappearing Guests Invited To White House; Clark Seeks Changes In Tidelands Oil Leases

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Not many people invited to lunch at the White House fail to show up. Most guests arrive ahead of time. In fact, Toots Shor, New York restaurateur and friend of Bob Hannegan, arrived for dinner at the White House more than 30 minutes early.

However, Mrs. Ted Thackrey owner of the New York Post, failed to show up at the White House for lunch last week under circumstances which even had the FBI searching for her.

So when President Truman told his staff to invite Mrs. Thackrey and daughter to lunch, the problem was to find them. Finally the White House called the FBI, and G-Men were given the job of finding Mrs. Thackrey, who happened to be registered at the Statler Hotel here. When G-Men called the hotel, however, the Statler, for some reason, did not admit that she was there.

Finally J. Edgar Hoover himself took up the search, resorting to the simple expedient of telephoning Broadway Columnist Leonard Lyons in New York. Lyons reported that Mrs. Thackrey was registered at the Statler. Having a lot to do in Washington, she did not return to her hotel until late.

Meanwhile the president decreed that he couldn't wait, went ahead with lunch.

Tidelands Oil

Now that the Supreme Court has given the Federal Government the priceless ocean bed adjacent to the American coastline, interesting discussions have taken place inside the Truman cabinet as to what should be done with it.

Prior to the Supreme Court decision, the State of California had let various leases to private oil companies, including Signal Oil, formerly owned by Ed Pauley, ex-treasurer of the Democratic National Committee.

If the Federal Government required the oil companies or the State of California to pay back royalties for oil taken from land which actually belonged to the Federal Government, they would be bankrupt. Therefore, it was announced even before the Supreme Court trial that these back royalties would not be collected.

Legislation has to be passed, however, regarding the continuation of present leases and as to how new leases shall be made.

To that end, Secretary of the Interior Krug proposed to Attorney General Tom Clark last week that a bill drawn up by his Interior Department subordinates be sent to Congress continuing the present leases which previously had been made by the states.

Clark Says No

The Attorney General's reaction was immediate.

"Hell, no," he said, "after winning this fight I'm not going to give up what we've won."

Clark, who had a lot of experience with Texas oil leases before he entered the government, then pointed out that some of the leases already signed by the states ran indfinitely. Therefore, if the Federal Government took them over as is, it couldn't change them in the future; and some oil companies might have big bonanzas which would continue for years.

The Attorney General proposed, therefore, that all leases be examined and a limit be placed on their terms. Where companies had spent large amounts on a less productive well, allowance should be made in favor of the company. But he maintained that leases should not run indefinitely.

Clark also proposed that when it came to new leases signed by the U. S. Government for new wells, the federal government should turn over 37-1-2 per cent of its own royalty income to the states. Clark based this on the federal leasing act already in existence by which the U. S. Government pays 37-1-2 per cent of any royalty it derives from leasing minerals on public lands to the states in which those public lands are located.

Krug heartily agreed that the whole problem should be studied further.

GOP Senate Chaplain

When the Republicans reorganized the Senate, they ousted the Democratic chaplain, Rev. Frederick Brown Harris, and replaced him with Republican Rev. Peter Marshall. However, it appears that Rev. Marshall does not entirely agree with his Republican friends regarding labor.

For the tall, sedate clergyman delivered a broad-gauged talk at the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church recently on labor, soil conservation, and various problems on which the G.O.P. Congress has frowned.

"I am not suggesting that the whole responsibility for labor unrest lies upon employers," said Rev. Mr. Marshall, "but I do say without any fear of contradiction that where employers are God-guided men . . . and where they are willing to run their business as Christ would run them, then I say that labor troubles would vanish.

"It has been proved that where labor-union leaders come face to face with such a spirit, their own spirit of rebellion, hostility, and suspicion . . . is melted and broken down. There is a shoe manufacturer named Johnson (Endicott-Johnson Shoe Company) who has no labor trouble in his factory, because he is determined to do what is right and treat his employees as Christ directed.

"The same thing could happen in a coal mine."

Touching on the question of reclamation and soil conservation, both drastically cut by G. O. P. leaders, the Senate chaplain said that soil erosion alone destroys 300,000 acres of land annually, equivalent to "dumping into the ocean each year 1,875 farms of 160 acres each."

"The natural resources of America are the heritage of the whole nation, and should be conserved and utilized for the benefit of all our people," the Senate Chaplain continued. "Instead, our resources are being wasted at an extravagant rate."

Wonder what G. O. P. leaders who put Rev. Mr. Marshall in office would say if he should open the august Senate one day with similar words of wisdom?

Courts And State Department Causing Communists Trouble

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

The soft zephyrs of Rooseveltian favor which once blew cool and sweet over foreign and domestic Communists now waft no more. The Commies are now hanging onto the weather vanes like roosters in a Kansas cyclone.

In a single day, the following happened. One federal judge sentenced Gerhart Eisler, described as America's kingpin Commie. Eisler told the judge that he (Eisler) "could not allow himself to be intimidated . . . by those who are, to quote Henry A. Wallace, 'a source of shame to decent Americans'." However, these burning words did not intimidate the judge from giving Eisler a year in jail and a $1,000 fine. Another federal judge gave Carl Aldo Marzani from one to three years to think things over. In a third court (all in the District of Columbia) a jury unanimously agreed that one Edward Barsky and other members of the highbrow "Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee" were guilty of contempt of Congress. Each of them faces a year and $1,000 fine.

Congress Gets Action

Then the State Department responded to pressure from Congress and went into action under a new law that takes away from federal employes believed to be disloyal, the protection of Civil Service rules governing dismissal. The Department fired 10 suspects as "bad risks" without making any apologies to them whatever. And, up in Michigan, Governor Sigler signed a bill requiring registration of organizations which are the tools of foreign powers. All in one day! Add, also, another recent conviction—that of Eugene Dennis, general secretary of the domestic Reds.

Then, to those tidings, note the fact that President Truman wants $25,000,000 to "screen" all government employes. Of course, as Gov. Dewey said, a good way to have saved $25,000,000 of your taxes would have been not to have employed Reds and Pinks in the first place.

However, if the Administration faints not in well-doing, we may recapture a fraction of this expense from the fines!

Yes, sir, the wind bloweth where it listeth from a new direction these days. This is to the credit of President Truman and shall, I add, the election on November of yesteryear. Why, the grave and reverend judges on the U. S. Supreme Court seem to have taken a squint, when no one was looking, at those election returns! Look at the spanking they gave James Caesar Petrillo the other day. That was music by a different band! Yes, you have to rub your eyes these days! These elections the Constitution gives us every two or four years seem a mighty good thing for us Americans to hold on to.

Strange Things Happen

Now, "backward turn backward, O Time, in your flight,' and let us recall again the communist blight. Do you remember the days when all such goings-on were called "Red-baiting" with a slight curl of the lips? There was Browder, kingpin in his day, pardoned by a President. There was Mrs. Browder, given a round-the-law immigrant's paper. There was the Communist Party refusing to put a ticket in the field in the fourth-term campaign. There were the orders to Army and Navy to life the ban against commissioning Communists as officers of our armed forces.

There was Mrs. Roosevelt, inviting some young folks to the White House to have a cup of tea to warm their hearts and to pour cold and frigid water on the House Committee on Un-American activities. There were the W.P.A. blank checks to furnish jobs to left-wing writers who wrote plays and histories which portrayed American institutions with a sneer. And then there was Yalta, Teheran and other events going back to the recognition of Communist Russia which four previous Presidents had refused to do, and leading up to the "unconditional surrender" policy which totally disbanded the two armies on Russia's frontiers which had an interest in keeping her behind the same.

Yes, the wind has changed. Let it blow!

Methods To Avoid Penalties Of Labor Law Are Studied

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, July 8—Methods of legitimate avoidance of the responsibilities or penalties of the Taft-Hartley Labor Law are being studied by various labor unions, but some of the comments being made indicate that either the new statute has not been examined carefully or else some of the strategists do not know that a contract is just as binding whether or not it is written.

Likewise, there has been talk that in a new coal agreement, the operators would agree with the union not to use the damage suit provisions of the law. This would be all right so far as the two parties are concerned. But if the coal company failed to deliver coal to a customer on time according to a contract for such delivery, and a work stoppage was then offered as an excuse, this would not be of any avail if the customer of the coal company could point to negligence of the coal operator in failing to take advantage of his rights to obtain damages under the law for breach of contract between him and his union.

Also there is a strange idea prevalent in some quarters that all the unions need to do now is to refrain from having any written contracts, and they can do as they please without regard to the penalties of the Taft-Hartley Law. Thus the International Association of Machinists in an announcement just made to the press says:

Overlook Basic Facts

"The law still permits a worker to quit his job. Men will learn to do so effectively. The law seems to make such litigation where contracts exist; so men will learn how to work without contracts on terms which they have agreed upon among themselves. This is not collective bargaining but the bargaining is not necessary if there is only one price."

The foregoing seems to overlook certain basic facts. One is that each individual would have to do his own bargaining and reach a separate agreement with the employer or else some agency would have to be designated by the workers to represent them as a bargaining agent. If every individual made his own agreement, the union would disappear altogether from the negotiations and employers would be free to vary the wages with different individuals. It is difficult to perceive just why a worker would want to continue to pay dues to a union if it did no bargaining in his behalf.

If, on the other hand, the union attempted to make agreements for each individual worker and did not care to put those terms in writing, this would not in any way remove the contract from existence. For a verbal understanding is a contract and the Supreme Court held, even under the Wagner Law, that an employer could be required to put in contract form any agreement he had reached orally with his workers as to wages and working conditions.

There is, moreover, in the Taft-Hartley Law a provision which says:

"For the purposes of this section, to bargain collectively is the performance of the mutual obligation of the employer and the representative of the employees to meet at reasonable times and to confer in good faith with respect to wages, hours, and other terms and conditions of employment, or the negotiation of an agreement, or any question arising thereunder and the execution of a written contract incorporating any agreement reached if requested by either party."

Another Provision Cited

Thus, if the employer asks the union for a contract in writing, he can get it and the agreements or understandings already reached must then be reduced to writing.

There is another provision in the new law which requires a notice of 60 days and the fulfillment of certain other obligations before unions can bring about a work stoppage. Even if there is no termination or notificiation cause in the contract and it is a verival affair, 60 days' notice must be given before a work stoppage can occur. The new law further defines "strike" as "any strike or other concerted stoppage of work by employees including a stoppage by reason of the expiration of a collective-bargaining agreement and any concerted slowdown or other concerted interruption of operations by employees."

There is such a thing as a criminal salute applying to those who conspire to violate the laws of the United States. If any persons think that they can teach men to quit work in concert, they may find themselves entangled in the law. Workers do have the right to quit individually, but if it is proved that they did so by secret instructions from a union or by concerted action or as a result of the acts of leaders, there is basis for a prosecution of willful violation of the new statute.

THESE DAYS By George E. Sokolsky

Intelligent Management

SOME months ago, I was discussing the mining situation with friends who are in the steel industry. I had assumed that they would be cursing John L. Lewis and the miners up and down the road. Surprisingly one of the strongest men in steel put the position in these words:

"We cannot get down to where the British are. Their miners are underpaid and work under the most unfavorable conditions. I do not understand why any man would want to work in a British mine. The result is that coal is not being mined there and their industry—the whole of British industry—is in a terrible condition. They have adopted socialism because they do not know how to get production except by force and they get none that way."

Then he went on to say:

"The steel industry must have coal. We have to make coal mining attractive if we are to have coal. We have to make it attractive to young men so that they will go into this industry. They won't go into coal mining today and I don't blame them."

I recalled this conversation to this steel man, of the co-called Little Steel group, when the recent settlement for a new agreement was reached with John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers. He was pleased that the new contract called for an increase of double the average for other labor. The steel group, he told me, had determined in advance that there would be no quarrel with Lewis over wages.

This does not at all mean that another general increase in wages is in sight. The miners are a special case. They were among the most poorly paid workers and the conditions of employment were always most unsatisfactory. The theory upon which this extremely intelligent management reasoned is that coal mining must be brought up to the level of any other industry. It must not be permitted to remain so unattractive by lagging behind the general standards of heavy industry. The miners should be in a preferred class because otherwise young men, particularly in periods of labor shortage, will go into other industries. Last Winter, when I visited the anthracite coal regions in Pennsylvania, I was astonished to find that young veterans preferred joblessness to mining, particularly as those to whom I spoke came of families in which mining had been a tradition.

It is not too often that management displays this type of intelligence and it is comforting that even in the period of wild propagandistic statements on all sides over the Taft-Hartley Bill, this new contract, containing such attractive terms for the miners, should have been negotiated in so short a time. No one company and no one man was responsible for this: it was the general concensus or opinion in the industry.

What it means is that American production, which has been faltering because of strikes, has been given a strong tonic. If this country can be one year without any major strikes in its crucial industries, it will be strong enough to meet any situation that it may be called upon to face.

A coal strike means lessened steel production which means lessened automobile production. This applies to practically all basic industries. For instance, up here in the Berkshires, we have been waiting for about five years for some rural electrification. We are now told that we shall have to wait longer because the electric light people lack wire. They lack wire because of coal and steel strikes a year ago. The effects of strikes are not immediate; their worst effects appear very much later in the lag in production.

If, after all the excitement over the Taft-Hartley Bill, management and labor could do so well over coal, there is no reason why all problems in this field cannot be settled by peaceful negotiations. As a matter of fact, one of the immediate effects of the Taft-Hartley Bill will surely be that the NLRB will be bypassed and that there will be a restoration of collective bargaining, which practically disappeared under the operations of the Wagner Act. Perhaps a better day dawns than we have known these many years.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

A Loving Rapture

I shall never cease to wonder at the beauty, the fragrance, and the personality of flowers. Even the simplest and tiniest seem to me unearthy. But here they are, ever visiting us and whispering their notes of silent song and their words of joy and cheer echoing the voice of immortality to us all.

Few poets or writers have ever written in the appreciative mood that Mary Webb, the English writer, did. Walter de la Mare says, in an introduction to a book of her poems and nature essays, that she looked upon nature and upon flowers with "a loving rapture," and upon this world as "a place of almost unbearable wonder."

Mary Webb dressed in an exquisite gown of words everything of beauty that touched her senses and her eye. Take this description: "When a cherry blossom falls down the chequered steeps of the tree, a little mournful shadow goes with her." And this description, as she went into the meadow at evening to watch the white clover prepare its sleep for the night: "As the light fails, the two lower leaves on each stalk gently approach one another —like little hands that were going to clap, but thought better of it— and at last lie folded quietly, as if for prayer."

If people would dismiss God, they would have to dismiss all Nature, all beauty and all wonder. They would have to explain the perfection of the seasons, the exactness of the solar system, and the reason for every substance in the earth for man's sustenance and joy. Long ago I came across these beautiful lines:

"The very flowers, that bend
and meet, in sweetening
others,
Grow more sweet."

Beauty always shares. How responsive and unresisting are the leaves to the wind, and how impartial every flower is of its scented perfume. I do not believe with the poet that it wastes "its sweetness on the desert air." Nor do I believe that even a kind thought, though unuttered, is ever totally wasted. Even that becomes imbedded for a greater purpose later on.

All through life this "loving rapture" can be cultivated and enriched in us all, so that everything of beauty may become a thrilling experience.

Railroad Workers Now Beneficiaries Of Sick Aid

The sickness benefits under the railroad unemployment insurance, as amended on July 31, last year, and which became effective nine days ago, to round out the various features of our social security laws should be hailed with satisfaction by all railroad workers, not only in Cumberland, but throughout the vast network of railroads in the country.

Railroad employes are provided for in separate social security legislation that has been enacted from time to time by Congress. People who work in other callings may think sometimes that while the railroad men are getting these benefits, their progress is slow along insurance and compensation lines.

Much of the legislation that has been enacted, it should be understood, is in the nature of a beginning and an experiment. In other words, we'll try it out on the railroad workers, see how it works and then the scope can be enlarged, taking in other callings.

One of the prime needs of our country is the elimination as far as possible of relief. We were told when the first social security legislation was enacted that it would abolish the almshouses of the country. Well, in the years since it has been in effect it hasn't accomplished that yet; at least ours in Allegany county is still functioning, caring for those whose social security has failed to prevent them going to such an institution.

But, the ultimate goal of all these measures, including the railroad employes' sick benefits plan, is to eliminate the need for relief. We may be on our way toward that desirable goal and some day we may arrive if Congress ever recognizes the fact that those dependant on social security to carry them through the last years of their life can not hope to look forward to much comfort and ease on the specified amounts now paid.

Politics Plagues Law

Because of the tremendous power given to the General Counsel, a new office created under the Taft-Hartley Labor Act, the veto of which was overridden by overwhelming vote of Congress—with a majority of Democrats joining the Republicans—it appears that a new struggle lies ahead between the President and the Senate over this appointment.

Furthermore, two additional members of the National Labor Relations Board must be named. Truman's nominations for these posts will be subject to senatorial nomination.

The office of General Counsel was set up by Congress in its desire to separate the NLRB's judicial and administrative functions. The General Counsel is clothed with so much power that he can refuse requests by unions or employers for issuance of complaints against each other. There is no appeal from his decision.

He will take over many of the functions of the board. He will have full supervision of the field staff in the regional offices. He will settle most of the cases in the field.

Unless the President appoints men to these posts who are in sympathy with the law, the Senate would be derelict in its duty if it confirmed his appointments. Thus it is easy to see that, unless Truman accepts his defeat and acts with the country's interest at heart, he can continue to cause political commotion.

Test Tube Or Broom?

Maybe you shouldn't raise your boy to be a scientist if you have his best interests at heart. If he's not good enough for anything else, all right. But perhaps you should first ask yourself seriously whether he has the talents for a better-paying job—street sweeper, for instance.

These reflections are inspired by a news item from Pittsburgh. The city was advertising for a college graduate in natural science at $2,239 a year. At the same time it was advertising for street sweepers at $3,177 a year. Considering the relative training and intelligence required for the two jobs, that doesn't seem fair.

It may be fairer than it seems, though. There's no future in sweeping streets. The man who takes that job will still be getting $3,177 a year—presumably—20 years from now. Right now he's probably older than the college graduate, with a family to support. The young scientist is likely to have fewer dependents, if any, and as he acquires them his income has the prospect of increasing somewhat.

Besides, the country is operating more or less under the law of supply and demand. Street sweeping is hardly an ideal career, and cities are compelled to offer pay high enough to lure workers away from more pleasant occupations. If they aren't wiling to do that, they'll have to put up with dirty streets.

Advice To Lawyers

Lawyers should welcome and encourage members of other professions to help their clients, particularly in divorcecases, the Pennsylvania Bar Association was told last week by Earl G. Harrison, dean of the University of Pennsylvania Law School. In the whole field of crime, he added, lawyers should enlist and coordinate all the sciences dealing with human behavior, including psychiatry, sociology, medicine, education, social work and psychology.

That is sound advice. The best doctor is the one who sends the fewest patients to the hospital or the cemetery. The best lawyer is the one who keeps his clients out of the courts—or, failing that, makes it unneceessary for them to return there. And even an encyciopedic knowledge of the law is not enough for such preventive practice.

Most persons seeking divorce, for instance, need the services of a psychiatrist or some expert counsellor, who can heal their break instead of making it legal and final. Many law violators—particularly those guilty of sex crimes—are victims of psychological pressures that should be relieved before they are turned loose on the public again.

The old concept of crime and punisment is slowly giving way to one of crime and cure—or, if that is not possible, to crime and quarantine.

But it is not only divorce-seekers and criminals who see a lawyer when they may need a psychiatrist, too. There are litigious clients who are in the early stages of paranoia, and fall into the hands of shady practitioners when ethical attorneys simply reject their cases. Their money, and perhaps their reason, might be saved if they went to lawyers who called in the right sort of expert help.

THE ASTHMATIC

ALL that wheezes is not asthma" is a common expression. The symptom appears in whooping cough and may accompany bronchitis, bronchiectasis, and other lung conditions. Foreign bodies or tumors account for some cases and one form is associated with heart disturbances.

But in the majority, asthma is responsible. Approximately one per cent of the population is afflicted and Urbach states that 30 to 40 per cent start during the first decade of life; one-half the cases between the second and fourth. Heredity plays a major role and, if both parents are affected, 79 per cent of the victims become asthmatic during the first 10 years of life. Twice as many boys as girls are sufferers but in the middle age period, the female sex has a slight edge over the males.

In bronchial asthma there is marked hypersensitivity of the mucous membranes and muscles of the bronchi to various stimuli. These include heat, cold, changes in temperature, wind, dust, food, excitement, fatigue, bacteria, and other irritants to which the normal person is immune. Hurst, himself a victim, called it "The reaction of an overexcitable bronchial system."

Many physicians believe that allergic individuals produce an overabundance of histamine or a substance resembling it. Attempts at desensitization to this offender have been made without too much success. Research workers have been trying to establish immunity by injecting histamine azoprotein. One group reported the procedure ineffective in 40 patients but others believed it to be of value in certain types of asthma when used as an adjunct to other forms of treatment. Meanwhile studies along this line will continue.

Several anti-histaminic preparations are on the market, of which benadryl and pyribenzamine are the most widely used. Such drugs reduce constriction of the bronchi thru their antispasmodic action but the affect is temporary and in no sense curative. Levin recently employed both chemicals in a series of patients. Improvement followed the administration of pyribenzamine in 59 per cent of those with seasonal asthma; 50 per cent of non seasonal astmas; and 20 per cent of the cases exhibiting an associated respiratory infection. The good results with benadryl were 68, 42, and 18 per cent, respectively. Symptoms returned when the drug was withdrawn.

In another study of 529 cases of asthma of all kinds treated with pribenzamine, 26 per cent were benefitted. Glaser found the products disappointing with children, altho he thought they might prove helpful if exposure to the weather is to blame.

Numerous other remedies are available for the acute attack including ephedrine, epinephrine (adrenalin), aminophylline, expectorants, and oxygen. Psychotherapy is important. The armed services found that it was practicable to induct asthmatics. There were so many factors beyond the control of the physicians that therapy could not be carried out successfully. In addition, the abnormality caused longer periods of disability than most illnesses. In one series of 100 naval personnel, only 18 per cent could be returned to duty. The condition often follows stress and strain, which is frequently a manifestation of an adequate personality. War being what it is, we can understand why these men would have been of no use during hostilities.

GOLD THERAPY

By BOB HOPE

The New York Transit System has just installed a new million-dollar aluminum subway train, complete with air-conditioned, soundproofing and a lush job of interior decorating. A sort of five-cent super-chief.

The engineer, of course, is a Harvard man. And he wouldn't think of stooping to toot his whistle at a passing train. He simply writes a letter to Emily Post asking her what to do.

The new train has special doors that won't slam on you like the old ones. They're lined with marshmallow and gently squirt you with perfume.

And the women won't have trouble anymore getting seats. It's not that the men are polite. They're all in the club car.

In New York five o'clock isn't rush hour anymore. . . . It's teatime. If a guard gets rough with you and pushes you out the door it isn't because the train is too crowded . . . you simply forgot to wear your carnation.

The new train is really sensitive about riding the same route as the lowly locals. In fact, there's a special attachment on front that disinfects the tracks.

And no one has to worry about hanging on to a hand strap . . . The carpets are so thick you can't reach them!

They caught a guy sleeping on the new train and when they questioned him they found out he wasn't a bum . . . He just couldn't stand going back to his old-fashioned apartment.

FBI Called On To Track Down Nonappearing Guests Invited To White House; Clark Seeks Changes In Tidelands Oil Leases

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Not many people invited to lunch at the White House fail to show up. Most guests arrive ahead of time. In fact, Toots Shor, New York restaurateur and friend of Bob Hannegan, arrived for dinner at the White House more than 30 minutes early.

However, Mrs. Ted Thackrey owner of the New York Post, failed to show up at the White House for lunch last week under circumstances which even had the FBI searching for her.

So when President Truman told his staff to invite Mrs. Thackrey and daughter to lunch, the problem was to find them. Finally the White House called the FBI, and G-Men were given the job of finding Mrs. Thackrey, who happened to be registered at the Statler Hotel here. When G-Men called the hotel, however, the Statler, for some reason, did not admit that she was there.

Finally J. Edgar Hoover himself took up the search, resorting to the simple expedient of telephoning Broadway Columnist Leonard Lyons in New York. Lyons reported that Mrs. Thackrey was registered at the Statler. Having a lot to do in Washington, she did not return to her hotel until late.

Meanwhile the president decreed that he couldn't wait, went ahead with lunch.

Tidelands Oil

Now that the Supreme Court has given the Federal Government the priceless ocean bed adjacent to the American coastline, interesting discussions have taken place inside the Truman cabinet as to what should be done with it.

Prior to the Supreme Court decision, the State of California had let various leases to private oil companies, including Signal Oil, formerly owned by Ed Pauley, ex-treasurer of the Democratic National Committee.

If the Federal Government required the oil companies or the State of California to pay back royalties for oil taken from land which actually belonged to the Federal Government, they would be bankrupt. Therefore, it was announced even before the Supreme Court trial that these back royalties would not be collected.

Legislation has to be passed, however, regarding the continuation of present leases and as to how new leases shall be made.

To that end, Secretary of the Interior Krug proposed to Attorney General Tom Clark last week that a bill drawn up by his Interior Department subordinates be sent to Congress continuing the present leases which previously had been made by the states.

Clark Says No

The Attorney General's reaction was immediate.

"Hell, no," he said, "after winning this fight I'm not going to give up what we've won."

Clark, who had a lot of experience with Texas oil leases before he entered the government, then pointed out that some of the leases already signed by the states ran indfinitely. Therefore, if the Federal Government took them over as is, it couldn't change them in the future; and some oil companies might have big bonanzas which would continue for years.

The Attorney General proposed, therefore, that all leases be examined and a limit be placed on their terms. Where companies had spent large amounts on a less productive well, allowance should be made in favor of the company. But he maintained that leases should not run indefinitely.

Clark also proposed that when it came to new leases signed by the U. S. Government for new wells, the federal government should turn over 37-1-2 per cent of its own royalty income to the states. Clark based this on the federal leasing act already in existence by which the U. S. Government pays 37-1-2 per cent of any royalty it derives from leasing minerals on public lands to the states in which those public lands are located.

Krug heartily agreed that the whole problem should be studied further.

GOP Senate Chaplain

When the Republicans reorganized the Senate, they ousted the Democratic chaplain, Rev. Frederick Brown Harris, and replaced him with Republican Rev. Peter Marshall. However, it appears that Rev. Marshall does not entirely agree with his Republican friends regarding labor.

For the tall, sedate clergyman delivered a broad-gauged talk at the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church recently on labor, soil conservation, and various problems on which the G.O.P. Congress has frowned.

"I am not suggesting that the whole responsibility for labor unrest lies upon employers," said Rev. Mr. Marshall, "but I do say without any fear of contradiction that where employers are God-guided men . . . and where they are willing to run their business as Christ would run them, then I say that labor troubles would vanish.

"It has been proved that where labor-union leaders come face to face with such a spirit, their own spirit of rebellion, hostility, and suspicion . . . is melted and broken down. There is a shoe manufacturer named Johnson (Endicott-Johnson Shoe Company) who has no labor trouble in his factory, because he is determined to do what is right and treat his employees as Christ directed.

"The same thing could happen in a coal mine."

Touching on the question of reclamation and soil conservation, both drastically cut by G. O. P. leaders, the Senate chaplain said that soil erosion alone destroys 300,000 acres of land annually, equivalent to "dumping into the ocean each year 1,875 farms of 160 acres each."

"The natural resources of America are the heritage of the whole nation, and should be conserved and utilized for the benefit of all our people," the Senate Chaplain continued. "Instead, our resources are being wasted at an extravagant rate."

Wonder what G. O. P. leaders who put Rev. Mr. Marshall in office would say if he should open the august Senate one day with similar words of wisdom?

Courts And State Department Causing Communists Trouble

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

The soft zephyrs of Rooseveltian favor which once blew cool and sweet over foreign and domestic Communists now waft no more. The Commies are now hanging onto the weather vanes like roosters in a Kansas cyclone.

In a single day, the following happened. One federal judge sentenced Gerhart Eisler, described as America's kingpin Commie. Eisler told the judge that he (Eisler) "could not allow himself to be intimidated . . . by those who are, to quote Henry A. Wallace, 'a source of shame to decent Americans'." However, these burning words did not intimidate the judge from giving Eisler a year in jail and a $1,000 fine. Another federal judge gave Carl Aldo Marzani from one to three years to think things over. In a third court (all in the District of Columbia) a jury unanimously agreed that one Edward Barsky and other members of the highbrow "Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee" were guilty of contempt of Congress. Each of them faces a year and $1,000 fine.

Congress Gets Action

Then the State Department responded to pressure from Congress and went into action under a new law that takes away from federal employes believed to be disloyal, the protection of Civil Service rules governing dismissal. The Department fired 10 suspects as "bad risks" without making any apologies to them whatever. And, up in Michigan, Governor Sigler signed a bill requiring registration of organizations which are the tools of foreign powers. All in one day! Add, also, another recent conviction—that of Eugene Dennis, general secretary of the domestic Reds.

Then, to those tidings, note the fact that President Truman wants $25,000,000 to "screen" all government employes. Of course, as Gov. Dewey said, a good way to have saved $25,000,000 of your taxes would have been not to have employed Reds and Pinks in the first place.

However, if the Administration faints not in well-doing, we may recapture a fraction of this expense from the fines!

Yes, sir, the wind bloweth where it listeth from a new direction these days. This is to the credit of President Truman and shall, I add, the election on November of yesteryear. Why, the grave and reverend judges on the U. S. Supreme Court seem to have taken a squint, when no one was looking, at those election returns! Look at the spanking they gave James Caesar Petrillo the other day. That was music by a different band! Yes, you have to rub your eyes these days! These elections the Constitution gives us every two or four years seem a mighty good thing for us Americans to hold on to.

Strange Things Happen

Now, "backward turn backward, O Time, in your flight," and let us recall again the communist blight. Do you remember the days when all such goings-on were called "Red-baiting" with a slight curl of the lips? There was Browder, kingpin in his day, pardoned by a President. There was Mrs. Browder, given a round-the-law immigrant's paper. There was the Communist Party refusing to put a ticket in the field in the fourth-term campaign. There were the orders to Army and Navy to life the ban against commissioning Communists as officers of our armed forces.

There was Mrs. Roosevelt, inviting some young folks to the White House to have a cup of tea to warm their hearts and to pour cold and frigid water on the House Committee on Un-American activities. There were the W.P.A. blank checks to furnish jobs to left-wing writers who wrote plays and histories which portrayed American institutions with a sneer. And then there was Yalta, Teheran and other events going back to the recognition of Communist Russia which four previous Presidents had refused to do, and leading up to the "unconditional surrender" policy which totally disbanded the two armies on Russia's frontiers which had an interest in keeping her behind the same.

Yes, the wind has changed. Let it blow!

Methods To Avoid Penalties Of Labor Law Are Studied

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, July 8—Methods of legitimate avoidance of the responsibilities or penalties of the Taft-Hartley Labor Law are being studied by various labor unions, but some of the comments being made indicate that either the new statute has not been examined carefully or else some of the strategists do not know that a contract is just as binding whether or not it is written.

Likewise, there has been talk that in a new coal agreement, the operators would agree with the union not to use the damage suit provisions of the law. This would be all right so far as the two parties are concerned. But if the coal company failed to deliver coal to a customer on time according to a contract for such delivery, and a work stoppage was then offered as an excuse, this would not be of any avail if the customer of the coal company could point to negligence of the coal operator in failing to take advantage of his rights to obtain damages under the law for breach of contract between him and his union.

Also there is a strange idea prevalent in some quarters that all the unions need to do now is to refrain from having any written contracts, and they can do as they please without regard to the penalties of the Taft-Hartley Law. Thus the International Association of Machinists in an announcement just made to the press says:

Overlook Basic Facts

"The law still permits a worker to quit his job. Men will learn to do so effectively. The law seems to make such litigation where contracts exist; so men will learn how to work without contracts on terms which they have agreed upon among themselves. This is not collective bargaining but the bargaining is not necessary if there is only one price."

The foregoing seems to overlook certain basic facts. One is that each individual would have to do his own bargaining and reach a separate agreement with the employer or else some agency would have to be designated by the workers to represent them as a bargaining agent. If every individual made his own agreement, the union would disappear altogether from the negotiations and employers would be free to vary the wages with different individuals. It is difficult to perceive just why a worker would want to continue to pay dues to a union if it did no bargaining in his behalf.

If, on the other hand, the union attempted to make agreements for each individual worker and did not care to put those terms in writing, this would not in any way remove the contract from existence. For a verbal understanding is a contract and the Supreme Court held, even under the Wagner Law, that an employer could be required to put in contract form any agreement he had reached orally with his workers as to wages and working conditions.

There is, moreover, in the Taft-Hartley Law a provision which says:

"For the purposes of this section, to bargain collectively is the performance of the mutual obligation of the employer and the representative of the employees to meet at reasonable times and to confer in good faith with respect to wages, hours, and other terms and conditions of employment, or the negotiation of an agreement, or any question arising thereunder and the execution of a written contract incorporating any agreement reached if requested by either party."

Another Provision Cited

Thus, if the employer asks the union for a contract in writing, he can get it and the agreements or understandings already reached must then be reduced to writing.

There is another provision in the new law which requires a notice of 60 days and the fulfillment of certain other obligations before unions can bring about a work stoppage. Even if there is no termination or notification cause in the contract and it is a verbal affair, 60 days' notice must be given before a work stoppage can occur. The new law further defines "strike" as "any strike or other concerted stoppage of work by employees including a stoppage by reason of the expiration of a collective-bargaining agreement and any concerted slowdown or other concerted interruption of operations by employees."

There is such a thing as a criminal salute applying to those who conspire to violate the laws of the United States. If any persons think that they can teach men to quit work in concert, they may find themselves entangled in the law. Workers do have the right to quit individually, but if it is proved that they did so by secret instructions from a union or by concerted action or as a result of the acts of leaders, there is basis for a prosecution of willful violation of the new statute.

THESE DAYS

Intelligent Management

SOME months ago, I was discussing the mining situation with friends who are in the steel industry. I had assumed that they would be cursing John L. Lewis and the miners up and down the road. Surprisingly one of the strongest men in steel put the position in these words:

"We cannot get down to where the British are. Their miners are underpaid and work under the most unfavorable conditions. I do not understand why any man would want to work in a British mine. The result is that coal is not being mined there and their industry—the whole of British industry—is in a terrible condition. They have adopted socialism because they do not know how to get production except by force and they get none that way."

Then he went on to say:

"The steel industry must have coal. We have to make coal mining attractive if we are to have coal. We have to make it attractive to young men so that they will go into this industry. They won't go into coal mining today and I don't blame them."

I recalled this conversation to this steel man, of the co-called Little Steel group, when the recent settlement for a new agreement was reached with John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers. He was pleased that the new contract called for an increase of double the average for other labor. The steel group, he told me, had determined in advance that there would be no quarrel with Lewis over wages.

This does not at all mean that another general increase in wages is in sight. The miners are a special case. They were among the most poorly paid workers and the conditions of employment were always most unsatisfactory. The theory upon which this extremely intelligent management reasoned is that coal mining must be brought up to the level of any other industry. It must not be permitted to remain so unattractive by lagging behind the general standards of heavy industry. The miners should be in a preferred class because otherwise young men, particularly in periods of labor shortage, will go into other industries. Last Winter, when I visited the anthracite coal regions in Pennsylvania, I was astonished to find that young veterans preferred joblessness to mining, particularly as those to whom I spoke came of families in which mining had been a tradition.

It is not too often that management displays this type of intelligence and it is comforting that even in the period of wild propagandistic statements on all sides over the Taft-Hartley Bill, this new contract, containing such attractive terms for the miners, should have been negotiated in so short a time. No one company and no one man was responsible for this: it was the general concensus or opinion in the industry.

What it means is that American production, which has been faltering because of strikes, has been given a strong tonic. If this country can be one year without any major strikes in its crucial industries, it will be strong enough to meet any situation that it may be called upon to face.

A coal strike means lessened steel production which means lessened automobile production. This applies to practically all basic industries. For instance, up here in the Berkshires, we have been waiting for about five years for some rural electrification. We are now told that we shall have to wait longer because the electric light people lack wire. They lack wire because of coal and steel strikes a year ago. The effects of strikes are not immediate; their worst effects appear very much later in the lag in production.

If, after all the excitement over the Taft-Hartley Bill, management and labor could do so well over coal, there is no reason why all problems in this field cannot be settled by peaceful negotiations. As a matter of fact, one of the immediate effects of the Taft-Hartley Bill will surely be that the NLRB will be bypassed and that there will be a restoration of collective bargaining, which practically disappeared under the operations of the Wagner Act. Perhaps a better day dawns than we have known these many years.

A Loving Rapture

I shall never cease to wonder at the beauty, the fragrance, and the personality of flowers. Even the simplest and tiniest seem to me unearthly. But here they are, ever visiting us and whispering their notes of joy and cheer or singing the voice of immortality to us all.

Few poets or writers have ever written in the appreciative mood that Mary Webb, the English writer, did. Walter de la Mare says, in an introduction to a book of her poems and nature essays, that she looked upon nature and upon flowers with "a loving rapture," and upon this world as "a place of almost unbearable wonder."

Mary Webb dressed in an exquisite gown of words everything of beauty that touched her senses and her eye. Take this description: "When a cherry blossom falls down the chequered steeps of the tree, a little mournful shadow goes with her." And this description, as she went into the meadow at evening to watch the white clover prepare its sleep for the night: "As the light fails, the two lower leaves on each stalk gently approach one another—like little hands that were going to clap, but thought better of it—and at last lie folded quietly, as if for prayer."

If people would dismiss God, they would have to dismiss all Nature, all beauty and all wonder. They would have to explain the perfection of the seasons, the exactness of the solar system, and the reason for every substance in the earth for man's sustenance and joy. Long ago I came across these beautiful lines:

"The very flowers, that bend
and meet, in sweetening
others,
Grow more sweet."

Beauty always shares. How responsive and unresisting are the leaves to the wind, and how impartial every flower is of its scented perfume. I do not believe with the poet that it wastes "its sweetness on the desert air." Nor do I believe that even a kind thought, though unuttered, is ever totally wasted. Even that becomes imbedded for a greater purpose later on.

All through life this "loving rapture" can be cultivated and enriched in us all, so that everything of beauty may become a thrilling experience.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

Billy Rose

Something like a year back, I wrote a piece about Oscar Hammerstein II and Florenz Ziegfeld. That was before my jabberwocky was being syndicated around. I'd like to take another crack at it, seeing as how it never appeared in any of the papers which are now carrying the column.

Besides being the hottest hunk of talent functioning on Broadway these days, Oscar Hammerstein is one of the nicest guys show business ever hatched. He fathered a dozen fine shows and a hundred hit songs before he wrote "Oklahoma!" On the thoroughfare where it's hard to get agreement on what street comes between 42nd and 44th, it's pretty generally conceded that Oscar rates the title, "Mr. Broadway."

I count myself fortunate when I can get this big sweetie-pie of a man on the other side of a table and listen to him chin about his twenty-five years in show business. Especially his stories about the greatest showman of them all, Flo Ziegfeld.

To this generation, Ziegfeld is William Powell with talcum at the temples—but to anyone who knew Broadway in the Twenties, Flo was the splendiferous Genie out of the Arabian Nights. He spent money like the government—and worried as little about how much he owed. The newsboy outside my theatre tell me Ziggy died owing him $1,800 for papers—and that was in the days when papers sold for a penny.

Though "Showboat" is probably the best word-and-music job in the history of our theatre, the Great Glorifier never liked the show and didn't think it had a chance. Too much plot—too much talk-talk—not enough opportunities for the showgirls to sashay around in beads and bric-a-brac.

The morning after "Showboat" opened, Ziegfeld drove up to the theatre in one of his four Rolls Royces. He saw a great crowd around the entrance and yelled, "Somebody do something! My theatre is on fire!"

"Showboat" averaged better than $50,000 a week for a hundred weeks, but Ziggy had so many other things to do with the dough that weeks would often slip by without the authors getting their royalty checks.

One day Oscar and Jerome Kern got tired of waiting for their royalties and decided to have it out with Mr. Z. They drove up to the great showman's estate at Hastings-on-the-Hudson, a layout which would make Mount Olympus look tacky. They had trouble parking because Ziggy's Rolls Royces cluttered up the drive.

As a Wodehouse butler was bowing them through the hand-carved doors, Flo stuck a lather-covered face out of an upstairs window and shouted, "Come on up, boys. I'm shaving." Oscar and Jerry stormed up to the bathroom—and stopped.

Chatting with Flo in the little boy's room was a distinguished looking gent. He was sitting down.

"Hello, boys," said Ziggy, casually. "Shake hands with the King of Greece."

And darned if it wasn't!

Oscar and Jerry stayed for lunch—the appetizer was terrapin flown up from Baltimore by special plane. When they left late that afternoon, they thanked Mr. Ziegfeld for a most charming day.

Naturally, they never mentioned money. As Oscar put it, "How can you dun a man who has the King of Greece sitting on the throne?"

and Now—

INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER PRESENTS

THE Farmall Cub!

- For all operations on farms of 40 crop acres or less—and truck gardens.
- For special operations on truck farms.
- For large farms that need an extra tractor.

The Cub is the newest member of the famous FARMALL FAMILY. It brings the advantages of the FARMALL* SYSTEM OF FARMING to the small, family farm.

It's a Cub in size, but "a BEAR for work." You get big-Farmall quality and design, plus scaled-down, small-tractor economy. And there is a full line of matched, quick-change, easy-to-control implements.

The smooth-running 4-cylinder engine develops approximately 9¼ h.p. on the belt. It uses considerably less than a gallon of gasoline an hour. There's a comfortable, roomy seat . . . ample crop clearance under the chassis . . . and "Culti-Vision" to give a clear, unobstructed view of your work.

Fit the Cub into your farming operations. We'll have one on hand soon, so you can climb in the seat and drive it. You'll find it handles as easily as your car.

Billy Rose

Something like a year back, I wrote a piece about Oscar Hammerstein II and Florenz Ziegfeld. That was before my jabberwocky was being syndicated around. I'd like to take another crack at it, seeing as how it never appeared in any of the papers which are now carrying the column.

Besides being the hottest hunk of talent functioning on Broadway these days, Oscar Hammerstein is one of the nicest guys show business ever hatched. He fathered a dozen fine shows and a hundred hit songs before he wrote "Oklahoma!" On the thoroughfare where it's hard to get agreement on what street comes between 42nd and 44th, it's pretty generally conceded that Oscar rates the title, "Mr. Broadway."

I count myself fortunate when I can get this big sweetie-pie of a man on the other side of a table and listen to him chin about his twenty-five years in show business. Especially his stories about the greatest showman of them all, Flo Ziegfeld.

To this generation, Ziegfeld is William Powell with talcum at the temples—but to anyone who knew Broadway in the Twenties, Flo was the splendiferous Genie out of the Arabian Nights. He spent money like the government—and worried as little about how much he owed. The newsboy outside my theatre tell me Ziggy died owing him $1,800 for papers—and that was in the days when papers sold for a penny.

Though "Showboat" is probably the best word-and-music job in the history of our theatre, the Great Glorifier never liked the show and didn't think it had a chance. Too much plot—too much talk-talk—not enough opportunities for the showgirls to sashay around in beads and bric-a-brac.

The morning after "Showboat" opened, Ziegfeld drove up to the theatre in one of his four Rolls Royces. He saw a great crowd around the entrance and yelled, "Somebody do something! My theatre is on fire!"

"Showboat" averaged better than $50,000 a week for a hundred weeks, but Ziggy had so many other things to do with the dough that weeks would often slip by without the authors getting their royalty checks.

One day Oscar and Jerome Kern got tired of waiting for their royalties and decided to have it out with Mr. Z. They drove up to the great showman's estate at Hastings-on-the-Hudson, a layout which would make Mount Olympus look tacky. They had trouble parking because Ziggy's Rolls Royces cluttered up the drive.

As a Wodehouse butler was bowing them through the hand-carved doors, Flo stuck a lather-covered face out of an upstairs window and shouted, "Come on up, boys. I'm shaving." Oscar and Jerry stormed up to the bathroom—and stopped.

Chatting with Flo in the little boy's room was a distinguished looking gent. He was sitting down.

"Hello, boys," said Ziggy, casually. "Shake hands with the King of Greece."

And darned if it wasn't!

Oscar and Jerry stayed for lunch—the appetizer was terrapin flown up from Baltimore by special plane. When they left late that afternoon, they thanked Mr. Ziegfeld for a most charming day.

Naturally, they never mentioned money. As Oscar put it, "How can you dun a man who has the King of Greece sitting on the throne?"

Outing Will Be Held On July 13

Cumberland Lodge No. 60, Knights of Pythias have invited members of all auxiliaries of the Knights of Pythias to attend its annual picnic and bring their families, July 13. The outing is to be held in Grove 1, at Constitution Park, beginning at 1 o'clock.

The Knights announce that the families are not to pack a lunch as the lodge will be host and provide the supper. It has been decided also that beginning this year the picnic is to be held the second Sunday of July each year.

George Keifer is chairman of the Social and Arrangement committee and has arranged a program of entertainment during the afternoon. It will include swimming, horseshoe pitching, various types of running matches between the women and the men as well as special games for the children. Prizes will be awarded for the various events.

Between 2 and 2:30 there will be a baseball game between members of the Knights of Pythias and the DOKK. Arthur Brant will be the umpire.

Supper will be served about 6 o'clock. Approximately 150 guests are expected.

Bowling Green Fire Company Plans Election

An organization meeting of the newly formed Bowling Green Volunteer Fire Company will be held Monday, July 14, at 7:30 p. m. at Circle Inn, according to Charles E. Smith, chairman of the acting board of trustees.

Smith said that permanent officers will be elected and plans will be made for fund raising events so that equipment may be purchased. The Board of County Commissioners yesterday granted a donation of $350 to the company pending a legislative appropriation from the next session of the General Assembly.

All men in the Bowling Green area who are interested in joining the company are urged to attend the meeting, when permanent members will be signed up. Thirty-seven persons signed the charter forming the new organization, many of them World War II veterans.

The company was accepted to membership in the Allegany-Garrett County Volunteer Firemen's Association recently.

Mr., Mrs. H. F. Hinze To Mark 58th Anniversary

Family Party To Be Held Friday

An informal family party will be given by Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Frederick Hinze in celebration of their 58th wedding anniversary, Friday night, at their home, 118 Hanover Street.

A bouquet of assorted summer flowers will decorate the refreshment table, which will be centered with a large wedding cake.

The former Miss Mary Margaret Hering, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Hering, Mechanic Street, became the bride of Harmon Frederick Hinze, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Karl Hinze, July 11, 1899, in the parsonage of St. Luke's German Lutheran Church, Decatur Street, with the late Rev. Mr. Giese, then pastor, officiating. Mrs. Charles Hinze, Patterson Avenue, and her late husband, a brother of the bridegroom, were the attendants.

Mr. Hinze, who will be 84 years old on August 3, was born in Germany in 1863 and came to Cumberland in 1887. He is a well known cabinet maker and only gave up his trade during the last year. For many years he served as an elder in Zion Evangelical and Reformed Church of which both he and Mrs. Hinze are members. His only hobby is doing errands and helping others.

Mr. and Mrs. Hinze are the parents of nine children, of whom six are living. They are Mrs. Eleanora Woosock, Albert Hinze, John Hinze, Robert Hinze, Frank Hinze and Mrs. Arbutus Lohr. They also have seven grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Miss Elizabeth Hoover, 217 South Allegany Street, and Miss Helen Shumaker, Columbia Street, are spending a week at Cacapon Park, W. Va.

Arch Ledbetter, son of Rev. J. C. Ledbetter of Second Baptist Church, is spending this week at the Baptist Royal Ambassador Camp at Green Ridge, Va., where he is serving as a life guard.

Mr. and Mrs. William Popp, Williams Road have returned from Evansville, Ind., where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Grindle, formerly of here. They were accompanied by their children, William, Jr., Robert and Carol. William will return to Guam later this week, where he is employed by the United States Government.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Pitts have returned to their home, 138 Polk Street, after visiting Mr. and Mrs. H. C. McCleary, Washington.

Mrs. Kathryn Hunter and daughter have returned to Baltimore after visiting Mr. and Mrs. David Miller, Piedmont Avenue.

M. Sgt. and Mrs. Ralph H. Brant and daughter have returned to Rantoul, Ill., after visiting the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Brant, LaVale.

Mrs. Mona G. MacDonald has returned to Washington after visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Wilson, Ridgeley.

Miss Phyllis Jane Lewis, 546 North Centre Street, is vacationing in Canada and Michigan.

After spending the weekend in Philadelphia, Mrs. R. L. Hackett has returned to her home, 16 South Lee Street, and her husband went to Endicott, N. Y., on a business trip.

WIFE PRESERVERS

When hanging a coat or dress on the line, use two hangers hooked in opposite directions, so that the wind cannot blow the garment off.

RECENT BRIDE—Mrs. Samuel Joseph Newnam, the former Miss Ethel May LaManca, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John B. LaManca, 310 Washington Street, became the bride of Mr. Newnam, son of Mrs. Virginia Newnam, 16 North Waverly Terrace, June 28 in the rectory of SS. Peter and Paul Church.

Mr., Mrs. H. F. Hinze To Mark 58th Anniversary

Family Party To Be Held Friday

An informal family party will be given by Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Frederick Hinze in celebration of their 58th wedding anniversary, Friday night, at their home, 118 Hanover Street.

A bouquet of assorted summer flowers will decorate the refreshment table, which will be centered with a large wedding cake.

The former Miss Mary Margaret Hering, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Hering, Mechanic Street, became the bride of Harmon Frederick Hinze, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Karl Hinze, July 11, 1899, in the parsonage of St. Luke's German Lutheran Church, Decatur Street, with the late Rev. Mr. Giese, then pastor, officiating. Mrs. Charles Hinze, Patterson Avenue, and her late husband, a brother of the bridegroom, were the attendants.

Mr. Hinze, who will be 84 years old on August 3, was born in Germany in 1863 and came to Cumberland in 1887. He is a well known cabinet maker and only gave up his trade during the last year. For many years he served as an elder in Zion Evangelical and Reformed Church of which both he and Mrs. Hinze are members. His only hobby is doing errands and helping others.

Mr. and Mrs. Hinze are the parents of nine children, of whom six are living. They are Mrs. Eleanora Woosock, Albert Hinze, John Hinze, Robert Hinze, Frank Hinze and Mrs. Arbutus Lohr. They also have seven grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Smiths Hold Reunion

A reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Banner Smith, Little Orleans, over the July 4 holidays, at which time the entire family and grandchildren were present with the exception of one grandchild, Miss Grace Creek, who is a student nurse at the Washington County Hospital, Hagerstown.

The three day affair was a successful one. No set program was held but games, music and impromptu entertainment featured the reunion.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith's guests were Mr. and Mrs. Guy Smith, LaGrange, Ga.; Mrs. Edna Tewell and sons, Willard and George, Akron, O.; Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Creek and children, Clyde, Sallie and Mitchell, Hagerstown; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Munch, Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bowman and sons, John and Banner, Oakmont, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Knight and son, Eric, Philadelphia; Rev. and Mrs. Herman Smith and children, David and Miriam, Freedom, N. Y.; Sgt. and Mrs. Raymond Smith, Columbus, O., and Kenneth Smith, Little Orleans.

Congress Carries Out Election "Mandate" On Several Issues

Lags On Military Training, Wages

By DR. GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., July 8—Has the Eightieth Congress carried out the mandate it got from the people at last November's election?

In two respects it has—by passing labor union control regulation and by continuing support of President Truman's foreign policy.

In two other respects it has failed at least so far, to carry out the mandate of 1946. No action has been taken yet on military training and on minimum wages, although bills on both subjects have been prepared and introduced.

From election returns it is not possible to tell what mandate the voters are actually giving the men they elect. No one knows whether people are voting on specific issues, or simply passing judgment on the abilities and personalities of candidates, or merely voting a straight party ticket without reference to issues at all.

But ie is possible to define mandates through the modern instrument of the public opinion sampling poll. By these polls it can be determined, at the time an election is held, what people are thinking about specific issues, as distinguished from candidates. This was done by the Institute in a nation-wide sampling referendum last November, just before the country in the election gave Republicans control of both the House and the Senate.

With some of the major mandates defined in this way, it is possible now, seven months later, to give an accounting of the performance of the Eightieth Congress on certain major issues, as follows:

LABOR—On Nov. 10, 1946, four days after election, the Institute reported: "The country has given the new Congress an unmistakable mandate to control and regulate strikes and labor unions."

The evidence was cited in the results of a pre-election sampling referendum on the question:

"Should the Congress elected in November pass new laws to control labor unions?" The vote was 66 per cent in favor, 22 per cent opposed and 12 per cent undecided. Other polls also found the public supporting curbs on "featherbedding" and jurisdictional strikes and approving cooling-off periods before strikes, and other specific items which are found in the Taft-Hartley act.

MILITARY TRAINING—"Universal training in peacetime has the 'go ahead' signal from the American people," reported the Institute in the same Nov. 10 story.

It had just polled the people on the question: "Should the Congress elected in November pass a law to require every physically fit young man who has not served in the armed forces to take military or naval training for one year?" The vote was more than 2-to-1 in favor—67 per cent "yes," 25 per cent "no," and 8 per cent "no opinion."

Today, seven months later, the vote has risen to 74 per cent in favor, judging by the Institute's latest survey. Whether Congress will take action on military training at this session is still problematical.

MINIMUM WAGES — While favoring restrictions on organized labor, the voters when they went to the polls last November were not opposed to raising minimum wage requirements.

The Institute reported at the time: "In spite of the unmistakable swing to the right politically which the election showed, the country has not swung away completely from social and economic reform.

"For example, the same voters who went to the polls Tuesday and caused control of the House to shift to the G. O. P. have in a sampling referendum signified their approval of legislation to raise the minimum wage level of the country from the present 40 cents an hour to 65 cents. This measure has majority backing from Democratic, Republican and Independent voters alike. . . ."

In June a bill was introduced in Congress to raise the minimum wage of workers in industrial firms engaged in inter-state commerce from the present 40 cents an hour to 75 cents within the next two years.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS — Congress has in general supported President Truman's foreign policy, which has majority approval among the voters.

Reporting that the marked Republican victory in the election "should in no way be interpreted as signifying a desire by the people to return to isolationism," the Institute pointed out that the people were not divided over foreign policy, and that they continued to support overwhelmingly the program of firmness toward Russia.

TAXES—On the subject of tax reduction the voters were in something of a dilemma when they voted in the 1946 election.

Desire for tax cuts conflicted in their minds with fear of the large public debt. On the basis of surveys at the time, the Institute concluded that no clear mandate had been given by the voters one way or the other on the matter of income tax reduction.

Since that time surveys have found that when voters are asked to choose between tax reduction and debt reduction, the weight of sentiment is on the side of cutting debt in preference to cutting taxes.

While nobody likes to pay high taxes, it is significant that the President's veto of tax reduction this year did not arouse any very impressive outcry of protest from the voting population. Congress is reconsidering the tax bill, but if it is passed the tax reduction would not take effect until the first of next year.

Congress Carries Out Election "Mandate" On Several Issues

By DR. GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., July 8—Has the Eightieth Congress carried out the mandate it got from the people at last November's election?

In two respects it has—by passing labor union control regulation and by continuing support of President Truman's foreign policy.

In two other respects it has failed at least so far, to carry out the mandate of 1946. No action has been taken yet on military training and on minimum wages, although bills on both subjects have been prepared and introduced.

From election returns it is not possible to tell what mandate the voters are actually giving the men they elect. No one knows whether people are voting on specific issues, or simply passing judgment on the abilities and personalities of candidates, or merely voting a straight party ticket without reference to issues at all.

But ie is possible to define mandates through the modern instrument of the public opinion sampling poll. By these polls it can be determined, at the time an election is held, what people are thinking about specific issues, as distinguished from candidates. This was done by the Institute in a nation-wide sampling referendum last November, just before the country in the election gave Republicans control of both the House and the Senate.

With some of the major mandates defined in this way, it is possible now, seven months later, to give an accounting of the performance of the Eightieth Congress on certain major issues, as follows:

LABOR—On Nov. 10, 1946, four days after election, the Institute reported: "The country has given the new Congress an unmistakable mandate to control and regulate strikes and labor unions."

The evidence was cited in the results of a pre-election sampling referendum on the question:

"Should the Congress elected in November pass new laws to control labor unions?" The vote was 66 per cent in favor, 22 per cent opposed and 12 per cent undecided. Other polls also found the public supporting curbs on "featherbedding" and jurisdictional strikes and approving cooling-off periods before strikes, and other specific items which are found in the Taft-Hartley act.

MILITARY TRAINING—"Universal training in peacetime has the 'go ahead' signal from the American people," reported the Institute in the same Nov. 10 story.

It had just polled the people on the question: "Should the Congress elected in November pass a law to require every physically fit young man who has not served in the armed forces to take military or naval training for one year?" The vote was more than 2-to-1 in favor—67 per cent "yes," 25 per cent "no," and 8 per cent "no opinion."

Today, seven months later, the vote has risen to 74 per cent in favor, judging by the Institute's latest survey. Whether Congress will take action on military training at this session is still problematical.

MINIMUM WAGES — While favoring restrictions on organized labor, the voters when they went to the polls last November were not opposed to raising minimum wage requirements.

The Institute reported at the time: "In spite of the unmistakable swing to the right politically which the election showed, the country has not swung away completely from social and economic reform.

"For example, the same voters who went to the polls Tuesday and caused control of the House to shift to the G. O. P. have in a sampling referendum signified their approval of legislation to raise the minimum wage level of the country from the present 40 cents an hour to 65 cents. This measure has majority backing from Democratic, Republican and Independent voters alike. . . ."

In June a bill was introduced in Congress to raise the minimum wage of workers in industrial firms engaged in inter-state commerce from the present 40 cents an hour to 75 cents within the next two years.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS — Congress has in general supported President Truman's foreign policy, which has majority approval among the voters.

Reporting that the marked Republican victory in the election "should in no way be interpreted as signifying a desire by the people to return to isolationism," the Institute pointed out that the people were not divided over foreign policy, and that they continued to support overwhelmingly the program of firmness toward Russia.

TAXES—On the subject of tax reduction the voters were in something of a dilemma when they voted in the 1946 election.

Desire for tax cuts conflicted in their minds with fear of the large public debt. On the basis of surveys at the time, the Institute concluded that no clear mandate had been given by the voters one way or the other on the matter of income tax reduction.

Since that time surveys have found that when voters are asked to choose between tax reduction and debt reduction, the weight of sentiment is on the side of cutting debt in preference to cutting taxes.

While nobody likes to pay high taxes, it is significant that the President's veto of tax reduction this year did not arouse any very impressive outcry of protest from the voting population. Congress is reconsidering the tax bill, but if it is passed the tax reduction would not take effect until the first of next year.

Six Permits Issued, Two For New Homes

Six building permits for construction estimated at $9,750 were granted earlier this week by the city engineer's office.

John E. Matthews, 1405 Oldtown Road, secured a permit to build a four-room house on Lot 362, Turner Street, at an estimated cost of $4,500. The one-story 24 by 32-foot structure will be located 30 feet from the street line and 13 feet from each side line. It will have a concrete block foundation, frame walls covered with asbestos shingles, and a composition shingle roof. Work will be done by Harry Dawson, Jr.

A permit was granted to Joseph E. Kreger, 513 Valley Street, to build a one-story five room house on Lot 12, Glenora Addition, Valley Road, at an estimated cost of $2,500. The 26 by 36-foot structure will have a concrete block foundation, frame walls and an asbestos shingle roof. Work will be done by the owner.

H. M. Whisner, 305 Virginia Avenue, secured a permit to remodel the front of a store at 304-306 Virginia Avenue, closing an inside stairway, building an outside stairway on one side at the rear, tearing down the present frame addition at the rear and rebuilding it of concrete block. Cost is estimated at $2,000 and work will be done by the owner.

A permit was granted to Aaron Lazarus, 14 South Lee Street, to build an addition to the rear of a store at 100 South Liberty Street. The one-story 6 by 20-foot addition will have a concrete foundation, brick walls and a built-up roof. Work will be done by the John I. Vandegrift Company at an estimated cost of $500.

Mrs. Amanda Nestor secured a permit to enclose a rear 8 by 12-foot porch at 13 Roberts Street with frame walls. P. L. Walker is the contractor and work is estimated to cost $100.

A permit was granted to James A. Halloran to enclose part of a 7 by 18-foot porch at 13 North Lee Street with frame walls. Work will be done by John S. Cook at an estimated cost of $150.

New Zealand comprises North Island, South Island, Chatham Islands and Stewart Island. Cook Strait separates North and South Islands, and is only 16 miles in width at its narrowest point.

Four Men Enlist In Regular Army

Four men, two white and two colored, enlisted in the Regular Army at the local recruiting station yesterday, Capt. Laurence M. Bairstow announced.

Denzil Herbert Conner, Crellin, a veteran of one year and three months service, signed for two years in the Regular Army unassigned. John Rawleigh Lipscomb, Kempton, W. Va., signed as a private first class in Ordnance for three years and requested duty in the Pacific theater. He had served one year and nine months previously.

Two colored men, both of Cumberland, one a 1947 graduate of Carver High School, signed for three year enlistment in the Armored Forces. They were Earle Oscar Redman, 512 Hill Street, the high school graduate and Leon Alton Jones, 315 Davidson Street.

Burial Is Planned

The body of William H. P. Snowden, 43, Ellicott City, whose mangled and dismembered body was found along the B. and O. tracks near Ellerslie Saturday, was taken to his home yesterday. Burial will be in Western Star Cemetery in Catonsville today.

Steward Of Keyser Club Fined $300 After Police Raid

Four Arraigned On Similar Count

By MRS JOSEPH H. TAYLOR

KEYSER, W. Va., July 8 — Frank "Red" Robinson, Jr., steward at the Keyser Veterans of Foreign Wars Club, who was arrested in the State Police raids last night in Keyser and Piedmont, was given a hearing this afternoon before Justice of the Peace Madalyn Bazzle, on a charge of illegal possession of whiskey and two slot machines, pleaded guilty, and was fined $100 and costs on each count, making a total of $300 fine and costs. The hearings for Page Entler, arrested at the Keyser Moose Club, James Bonney, arrested at the Moose Club, Piedmont; Sylvia Piccolo, Legion Club, Piedmont, and Scott Dawson, Eagles Club, Piedmont, have all been continued.

The raids were made on four clubs in Keyser and three in Piedmont by State Policemen from 14 counties in this district who were led by Sgt. G. W. Bush, Elkins.

The largest number of slot machines, eight was discovered at the Piedmont Legion Club but no whiskey was found.

Other clubs in Keyser which were raided were the 40-8 Club, where neither whiskey or slot machines were found; American Legion Club, which officers found closed; and the Moose Club, Armstrong Street, where one non-paying amusement machine was taken.

The three clubs in Piedmont were Piedmont Moose Club, where four slot machines and whiskey was found, Piedmont Legion Club and the Piedmont Eagles where three slot machines and whiskey were found.

Held on Stolen Car Charge

Dory A. Ferrebee, 578 Newton Street, Keyser, is in Mineral County Jail awaiting a hearing after he allegedly stole the Workman's Market delivery truck from Bright's Garage and wrecked it about 11 p. m. on North Main street.

Ferrebee, who was arrested at the wreck by City Police, is employed as a delivery man for Workman's Market. He struck a maple tree in front of the home of Arthur Snyder, tearing the tree out by its roots and damaging the Snyder lawn and garden.

The investigation has been turned over to the State Police. Damage to the truck was estimated at approximately $150. Ferrebee is reported to have been drunk when arrested.

Farm Bureau Obtains Goal

The Mineral County Farm Bureau made its 1950 membership goal of 366 members. Leonard Sites, membership chairman of the local Farm Bureau, states that 368 members were obtained in 1947. This is the largest membership ever obtained in Mineral County.

Marriage Announced

Miss Annie Mae Lambert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Lambert, Keyser, and John A. Stanley, son of A. H. Stanley, Martinsburg, W. Va., were married Monday, at 11 a. m., in the parsonage of St. Luke's Lutheran Church, Cumberland. Rev. H. Hall Sharp performed the single ring ceremony.

Miss Arvella Spitzer was maid of honor and the bride's only attendant, and David Clauze was best man.

County Offers Siren To Seven Fire Companies

Seven volunteer fire companies which have expressed interest in the county-owned siren on the City Hall building used for blackouts and air raid alerts during the war, are to be notified to appear at the meeting of Allegany County Commissioners, if they are still interested in the siren.

At yesterday's meeting of the County Board Robert E. Stuckey, secretary of the Corriganville Fire Company asked for the siren and a representative of the Flintstone Fire Company also requested it.

County Commissioners decided the best way to dispose of it, will be to give all interested companies an equal chance.

Companies to be notified by Clerk James G. Stevenson include, Corriganville, Ellerslie, Flintstone, Bowman's Addition, Bedford Road, Baltimore Pike and District 16.

The board granted a tax exemption of $2,000 assessment against the Flintstone Volunteer Fire Company property. The Bowling Green Firemen's Association, now in the process of organization, was given a cash grant of $350 to aid in efforts to form a company.

Requests were made for road repairs in several sections of the county and all were referred to Albert S. Paye, county engineer for investigation.

Requests came from 12 signers for repairs to Braddock Road; E. B. Barnes for repairs and improvements to Knob Road which runs from Bedford Road to Valley Road; Harry M. Gordon, Flintstone for repairs to Breacneck Road; 23 signers for repairs to Roiricks Lane in Consol Village near Frostburg, and from William Walters, Lonaconing, for closing of an open sewer or otherwise improving a sewer ditch along St. Mary's Terrace.

A bid of $1,204.50 of Eller Chevrolet Company for a new 1947 auto to be used by the Health Department was accepted. The only other bids received were from C. C. Miller and Sons, Lonaconing, for a new Kaiser at $2,000 or a new Frazier at $2,225.

NEW NAVAL RESERVE INSTRUCTOR NAMED

Chief Carpenter's Mate Albert M. Stevens, 309 Oldtown Road, assumed his new duties this week as instructor for the Cumberland Organized Reserve Division, according to Lt. Comdr. Walter N. Hedrick, organizing officer.

$1,223,648 Collected In State, County Taxes

Nearly a million and a quarter dollars have been collected in county and state taxes at the office of W. A. Strothers, tax collector for Tax District No. 1 at the Court House, since bills for the current fiscal year were issued, it was disclosed yesterday.

Strothers said a total of $1,223,648.98 had been collected at the close of business yesterday. This figure includes $73,000 paid in automobile and other taxes prior to the collection period, but represents more than a million dollars collected during the month of June.

Collections indicate that most taxpayers took advantage of the five percent discount allowed during the month of June. This month a discount of four percent is allowed and in August a discount of three percent will be credited. After September 1, interest at the rate of one-half of one percent per month will be added to the tax bills.

By MRS JOSEPH H. TAYLOR

KEYSER, W. Va., July 8 — Frank "Red" Robinson, Jr., steward at the Keyser Veterans of Foreign Wars Club, who was arrested in the State Police raids last night in Keyser and Piedmont, was given a hearing this afternoon before Justice of the Peace Madalyn Bazzle, on a charge of illegal possession of whiskey and two slot machines, pleaded guilty, and was fined $100 and costs on each count, making a total of $300 fine and costs. The hearings for Page Entler, arrested at the Keyser Moose Club, James Bonney, arrested at the Moose Club, Piedmont; Sylvia Piccolo, Legion Club, Piedmont, and Scott Dawson, Eagles Club, Piedmont, have all been continued.

The raids were made on four clubs in Keyser and three in Piedmont by State Policemen from 14 counties in this district who were led by Sgt. G. W. Bush, Elkins.

The largest number of slot machines, eight was discovered at the Piedmont Legion Club but no whiskey was found.

Other clubs in Keyser which were raided were the 40-8 Club, where neither whiskey or slot machines were found; American Legion Club, which officers found closed; and the Moose Club, Armstrong Street, where one non-paying amusement machine was taken.

The three clubs in Piedmont were Piedmont Moose Club, where four slot machines and whiskey was found, Piedmont Legion Club and the Piedmont Eagles where three slot machines and whiskey were found.

Held on Stolen Car Charge

Dory A. Ferrebee, 578 Newton Street, Keyser, is in Mineral County Jail awaiting a hearing after he allegedly stole the Workman's Market delivery truck from Bright's Garage and wrecked it about 11 p. m. on North Main street.

Ferrebee, who was arrested at the wreck by City Police, is employed as a delivery man for Workman's Market. He struck a maple tree in front of the home of Arthur Snyder, tearing the tree out by its roots and damaging the Snyder lawn and garden.

The investigation has been turned over to the State Police. Damage to the truck was estimated at approximately $150. Ferrebee is reported to have been drunk when arrested.

'Coney Legion Helps Boys

Grove Accepts Invitation

By C. V. BURNS

The College All-Stars may land their T man after all.

After telling the College All-Stars he wouldn't play in the late August football game against the Chicago Bears because he didn't want to lose that much time away from the Washington Redskins, of the National Professional Football League, Tommy Mont, Cumberlander, and former University of Maryland star, has changed his mind and now may become Frank Leahy's starting T formation quarterback on the Collegiate eleven.

Leahy, Notre Dame coach, will be assisted by other outstanding college grid mentors.

The game will be sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., and the net proceeds will be donated to the United Catholic and Jewish Charities of Chicago.

It's the Tribune's 14th annual charity game and will be staged at Soldier Field on the night of Friday, August 22.

Duke was standing on the apron of the ring at the armory after the recent Tony Martin-Jimmie Catanese fight, and a good many in the crowd booed when the latter was awarded a split decision.

"What do you think of that decision, wasn't it lousy?"

Duke smiled and replied:

He said a mouthful. There's no use to gripe and yell because things don't go your way. No matter how much you holler that won't change the decision.

The "inside" dope is that Allegany county will not get the proposed $45,000 fish hatchery at Bottle Run because work is already started on the new $200,000 hatchery at Beaver Creek in Washington county.

Sportsmen say that $200,000 is a good investment provided nothing happens to the water supply but somebody is going to be out of luck if it goes bad.

That's what happened at Lewistown, Maryland's main hatchery, a $60,000 investment. We are told that Lewistown today receives only one half of the original water supply.

The Maryland Open golf tournament, a 36-hole medal play event, set for the Rolling Road Country Club, Baltimore, July 15, is expected to be the biggest since it was subsidized as the Calvert Open, according to Bill Edge, tourney chairman.

Otto Greiner, Baltimore's newly turned professional, who posted a 72 in the first round of the Tam O'Shanter last week, will vie in the open, as will Carroll Boggs, the Cumberland Country Club pro, and "Bill" Catherman, CCC amateur ace.

Italian-American boys are in the majority among the riders at the current race meeting at Charles Town which ends July 22. They are Arduini, Grant, Gudia, Palumbo, Romaine, Sarno, Scocca, Tammaro and Triola.

Miss Anne M. Sloan, of James P. Love Post, American Legion, Lonaconing, is getting a great deal of enjoyment out of helping make arrangements to send 100 Lonaconing boys to Camp Stillwaters near Flintstone for four days, commencing July 17. The boys range in age from 9 to 14.

After the camping season is concluded James P. Love Post will prepare to stage an amateur boxing show in Lonaconing to raise money for the boys' program sponsored by the organization.

They're not going to float the new electric football scoreboard here by way of the Mississippi as was first reported.

Tom Gilchrist, Jr., learned yesterday that the board which will be installed at Fort Hill stadium is coming by rail and left East Des Moines, Iowa, on July 3. The board is a product of the Fair Play Manufacturing Company.

Frank Beamer of the American Legion Post at Meyersdale, Pa., informs us that "Lefty" Grove has accepted that invitation to pilot one of the teams in the game between Western Pennsylvania District junior American Legion baseball teams on August 7 at Forbes Field, Pittsburgh.

The former major league pitching star from Lonaconing acts as adviser to the Meyersdale Post's junior nine.

Carl Scheib, the Athletics' 20-year-old pitching sensation, wanted to be a fighter because his older brother was an army boxing champion. Carl, however, changed his mind and decided to be a pitcher when he was told not to waste his time wearing more than one glove.

Which reminds us of the advice Duke Ellington, famous negro pianist and orchestra leader, gave to a friend who asked: "Shall I study violin or piano?"

Duke said:

"Learn to play the piano because after you're finished playing you don't have to carry anything."

Potomac Edison at Moose (East Side)
Other game postponed

Manager Lonnie Jackson's Loyal Order of Moose tossers knocked the B. P. O. Elks out of a first place tie with the American Legion in the Rocking Chair Softball League yesterday by defeating the Lodge No. 63 team in a 1-0 thriller at Campobello.

Fort Cumberland Post lengthened its winning streak to eight games by taking the measure of the cellar dwelling Junior Association of Commerce at Fort Hill Field by the score of 15-7. It was the 17th consecutive setback for the Jaycees.

Caseys Score Shutout

Jim Browning's Knights of Columbus took over second place in the eight-club loop by blanking the Cumberland Outdoor Club at East Side field by the score of 5-0 and Texcel made it six in a row by grabbing both ends of a doubleheader from Potomac Edison at Rolling Mill field. The scores were 7-4 and 12-3.

The Moose defeated the Elks in the first inning when they scored the lone run of the game on John Angellatta's walk, Frank Fogtman's sacrifice and Frank Williams' two-bagger.

Fogtman pitched a nice article of ball by turning back the Elks with three bingles. Williams and Russ Minnicks hit doubles for the victors while J. Wilkinson, R. Wilkinson and Mackey obtained the hits credited to the Moose team. The fielding feature was Frank Williams' barehand catch of Paul Roeder's line drive over third base.

Legion Retains Lead

Jim Geatz homered with the bases loaded and "Red" Boyer and Herb Lapp also hit round-trippers as the American Legion won and clung to first place by a half game over the Caseys. Jim Rice and John R. Kelley, Jr., slapped out three hits each for the winners. Boyer and Kauffman featured afield.

Anthony "Bud" Scaletta pitched a two-hitter as the Caseys subdued the Outdoor Club in a game featured by a four-run outburst in the fourth frame. "Bobby" Cavanaugh and Sammy DeLuca each hit safely twice for the Knights while Jones and Cubbage got the two Outdoor bingles.

It was announced that the Thursday game between the K. of C. and Legion has been postponed by mutual agreement.

Texcel Cops Pair

A five-run rally in the fourth inning sewed up the first game and an eight-run explosion in the second inning of the nightcap enabled Texcel to take a pair from Potomac Edison. The twin triumphs put Texcel just one full game below the .500 mark.

Three homers were blasted in the second game. J. Shirk and George Miller belted four-baggers for Texcel and Schoenadel connected for the circuit for P. E. Scores:

LEGION JUNIOR TEAM BATTLES QUEEN CITY TO SCORELESS TIE

Approximately 300 persons saw Pat Creegan and Jim Clingan pitch shutout ball for the Legion while Bob Doman and "Ace" Jewell were putting the youngsters on a goose egg diet. "Bub" Frye did the catching for Queen City and Birmingham worked back of the plate for the Legion.

Two of the three double plays executed during the game were credited to the champions of the eastern division of the Legion's Mountain District League.

DIES—Judge William G. Bramham, minor league baseball star for many years, died yesterday at Durham, N. C. He was retired as president of the National Association of Minor Baseball League at Los Angeles last December. He would have been 73 years old next Sunday.

Judge Bramham Taken By Death

Former Minor League Czar Dies At Durham

DURHAM, N. C., July 8 (AP) — Judge William G. Bramham, former president of the National Association of Minor Baseball Leagues, died here at 5:40 p. m. today.

Bramham retired from the National Association presidency at the meeting of minor leagues in Los Angeles last December. He was succeeded by George M. Trautman, who was general manager of the Detroit Tigers.

Bramham continued to serve the national association in an advisory capacity, maintaining offices in Durham after Trautman transferred minor league headquarters to Columbus, Ohio.

The former minor league head would have been 73 years old next Sunday. He died in Watts Hospital here where he was admitted yesterday. The cause of death was given as uremia.

HAGERSTOWN WOMEN EDGE CCC GOLFERS

The women's golf team of the Fountain Head Country Club defeated the team representing the Cumberland Country Club yesterday in Hagerstown by the score of 15 to 12.

It was the opening match of the home and home series between the teams.

Eight Bouts Feature Smoker At St. Mary's

The no decision matches were between Young Kerns and Young Firpo, Roy Rawlings and Walter Basilio, Dickie Green and Duke Davis, Frankie Lisanti and Jake Koelker, Jack Largent and Joe Ligarti, Jim Mangus and Jack Palous, Jack Wilson and Johnny Carey and Jim Klosterman and Garford Albright.

Boxers of the Diamond A.C. and St. Mary's A.C. made up the card. "Zip" Hutson arranged the bouts for the show which lasted one hour and 45 minutes.

Emmanuel Methodist Beats St. John's 8-4

Battling for a spot in the championship playoffs, Emmanuel Methodist's tossers registered their fourth straight victory over St. John's Lutheran yesterday at Locust Grove by the score of 8-4 and need only one more win to advance into fourth place.

The winners collected 12 hits, Manager Melvin Rankin pacing the attack with three blows while Hare garnered two. Ray Hahne had two hits for St. John's and Stafford featured afield with a nice running catch. Score:

EMMANUEL	060 100 1—8	12	1

Willie Pep Wins

ADRAGNA WINS DUKE OVER CHUCK TAYLOR

PITTSBURGH, July 8 (AP) — Sammy Adragna, Carnegie, Pa., welterweight, gained a unanimous decision over Chuck Taylor, of Coalport, Pa., tonight in a ten-round bout at Zivic arena. Adragna weighed 146 and Taylor 147.

Adragna's victory came as a suprise to the 3,688 fans who saw the match. Taylor had been considered a 2 to 1 favorite, despite the fact Adragna had beaten him 18 months ago.

Chuck charged the first two rounds with sharp punches snapping Sammy's head back time after time, but thereafter Adragna had the fight pretty much his own way. There were no knockdowns.

Gains On Ben Hogan By Defeating Oliver

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO, July 8 (AP) — Bobby Locke, the South African golf perfectionist, won the $7,000 Tam O'Shanter first prize today by shooting 140—four strokes under par—and six under Ed (Porky) Oliver's 146 in their 36-hole pro playoff.

The phlegmatic, 29-year-old Locke, playing as if he had nothing more at stake than carfare, pocketed $2,000 to go with his $5,000 "guarantee" to appear in the tournament from Promoter George S. May.

These earnings vaulted him to second place behind Ben Hogan,—who did not compete in the Tam jamboree—on the pro's financial list. The PGA announced Locke's winnings at $16,187.50.

Locke has collected this swag in 35 competitive rounds, while Hogan's leading $17,099 was banked on 52 tournament rounds.

Oliver's second-place prize of $3,333 kept him in sixth place among the money winners with a total of $10,111.

Locke entered today's final round with a three-stroke edge after firing a 68 over the par 36-36—72 layout yesterday while Oliver shot a 71.

On today's first nine, the two stars played like a couple of guys named Joe. Oliver, dropping five strokes to par on the first four holes, wound up with a horrendous 43, while the machine-like Locke took a rusty 39 with a 7 on the 27th green after three putting.

Starting the last nine with two birdies, Oliver finished with a brilliant 32 to 75, while Locke counted an eagle 3 on the 28th to finish with a 33 to 72.

Locke's six foot putt for an eagle 3 on the 28th boosted his lead to eight strokes — the greatest margin of the match.

Oliver shaved the advantage with a 10 footer for a deuce on the 29th, but Locke again gained an eight-stroke edge by curling in a 35 foot putt for a birdie on the 31st.

They squared the 32nd with pars, Oliver missing his second putt of the day under one foot. The Wilmington, Del., pro then gained on the 500-yard 33rd by reaching the green in two shots and holing out with birdie 4.

They parred the next two, and Oliver sliced the lead to the final six strokes on the last green by ramming in a 15 footer for a birdie 3.

Maccabees Defeat Legion Team, 9-5

Five City Softball Tilts On Tap Today

Tommy Cramblitt tossed a five-hitter yesterday as the Maccabees took the measure of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, in a City Softball League game at Community Park by the score of 9 to 5.

Cramblitt and "Buddy" Young led the 13-hit attack with three safeties each. Gene "Little Meatball" Basilio accounted for two of the Legion's five bingles.

Five games are scheduled in the circuit today. Virginia Avenue will play North End Social and Athletic Club at Stitcher Field, Astor Cab will oppose Lacy's Delicatets at Taylor Field, the American Legion will face Reed's Electricians at Campobello, Concord Clothiers will lock horns with the Maccabees at Community Park and the Amvets and Veterans of Foreign Wars will collide on the Rolling Mill diamond.

Yesterday's game between the Bees and Legion was the first played in the league since the second half race got under way. Five games scheduled for Monday were postponed on account of rain. The score:

MACCABEES	033 300 0—9	13	4
LEGION	203 000 0—5	5	3

Cramblitt and Baker. Wolz, Harrison (4) and Radcliffe.

'Coney Legion To Play Midland And Oakland

LONACONING, July 8.—James P. Love Post's junior baseball team will conclude its schedule in the eastern division of the American Legion's Mountain District League when it plays Midland Post here Wednesday at 5 p. m.

The locals have won two out of three games played with Midland and Manager "Babe" Johnson's team has won six and lost five in league competition.

Gaffney-Penner Hitting Contest Is Postponed

The hitting contest between Vern Penner and Jim Gaffney that was to have featured today's City Softball League game between Lacy's Delicatets and Astor Cab has been postponed until the teams meet again.

Gaffney will play with the Fort Cumberland Post, American Legion baseball team, of the Interstate League, against Westvaco of the Bi-State League today at 5:34 p. m. at Memorial Park, Westernport.

Ray Scores Kayo

SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 8 (AP) — Elmer (Violent) Ray of Hastings, Fla., knocked out Pete Louthis of Providence tonight in 2:37 of the second round in a scheduled 10-round bout.

Ray weighed 198, and Louthis, 185.

PLAY-BY-PLAY AND BOX SCORE OF ALL-STAR GAME

FIRST INNING

American: Kell struck out, swinging. Lewis rolled to Mize, unassisted. A noisy chorus of boos and cheers greeted Ted Williams, who worked the count to three and two and looked at a third called strike. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

SECOND INNING

American: DiMaggio, who drew the biggest hand of the game, hit a two and two pitch into center field for a single, the first hit of the game. Blackwell's third pitch to Boudreau got away from Cooper for a passed ball, DiMaggio taking second. Boudreau took a third strike. Slaughter came over into left center to take McQuinn's high loft for the second out. After Gordon fouled off four pitches, Blackwell uncorked a wild pitch, beyond the reach of Cooper. DiMaggio advanced to third. Gordon then fanned. No runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

THIRD INNING

American: As the Americans came up in the third Brecheen started to warm up in the National bullpen. Shea had started to throw in the American bullpen. Rosar sent Dixie Walker back near the ivy covered wall in deep right to catch his long drive. Newhouser rolled to Marion for the second out. Blackwell completed his pitching stint by forcing Kell to ground out, Gustine to Mize. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

National: DiMaggio waved off Gordon and raced into short center to catch Marion's pop fly. Verban was an easy out on a ground ball, Gordon to McQuinn. Bert Haas batted for Blackwell and singled sharply into left on the first pitch for the National's initial hit. H. Walker protested to Conlan after he was called out on a third strike. No runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

FOURTH INNING

American: Brecheen was the new National League pitcher. After fouling a three-two pitch Lewis went out on a deep fly to H. Walker. Williams, who was stopped by Brecheen in the 1946 world series, doubled down the right field foul line into the bull pen. Gustine took DiMaggio's high hopper back of third and threw to Mize for the second out, Williams holding second, Boudreau's slow roller hugged the grass and skidded past Gustine for a single, Williams stopping at third. With the count one ball and two strikes on McQuinn, Dyer came off the bench to give instructions to Cooper. McQuinn then struck out, swinging. No runs, two hits, no errors, two left.

National: Shea, the New York Yankees' freshman sensation, was the new American League pitcher. Dixie Walker lifted his second pitch to Williams for an easy out. Cooper popped up high to McQuinn, who made the catch in foul territory twenty feet from first base. Mize drove Shea's third pitch into the fifth row of the bleachers in right center field, for a home run, a 380 foot drive. Slaughter worked Shea for a base on balls, the first of the game. Gustine forced Slaughter, Gordon to Boudreau. One run, one hit, no errors, one left.

FIFTH INNING

American: Dyer made two changes in his lineup at the start of the fifth. Pafko replaced Harry Walker in center field and Marshall took the place of Dixie Walker in right field. Gordon slammed a long double into the left field corner. Gordon held second as Marshall came into short right to take Rosar's fly. Shea tapped to Brecheen who tossed to Mize for the second out. Kell took a third strike with his bat on his shoulder to end the half inning. No runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

National: Marion lined a single into left field. Verban trying to punch to left field, flied to Lewis. Brecheen, permitted to bat for himself, forced Marion, McQuinn to Boudreau. DiMaggio appeared to momentarily misjudge Pafko's liner which fell in front of him for a single, Brecheen's stopping at second. On a two and two pitch Marshall swung and missed, Shea's first strikeout victim. No runs, two hits, no errors, two left.

SIXTH INNING

American: Dyer made three more substitutions, sending Stanky to second base, for Verban, Reese to short for Marion, and Kurowski to third for Gustine. Appling, batting for Lewis, worked the count to three and two before he drilled a ground single to left. Williams lined a single into right, advancing Appling to third base. Sain and Spahn were throwing in the National bull pen. Appling scored the tying run as DiMaggio rapped into a double play, Reese to Stanky to Mize. Marshall moved back deep to drag down Boudreau's long fly. One run, two hits, no errors, none left.

National: Henrich went to right field for the Americans and Doerr replaced Gordon at second base. Cooper flied to Henrich. Mize walked and Masterson resumed warming up in the American's bull pen. Slaughter popped to Boudreau, who made the catch near the pitching mound. Kurowski popped to Boudreau, who made the catch near the pitching mound. Kurowski, making his first appearance at the plate, fanned. No runs, no hits, no errors, one left.

SEVENTH INNING

American: Sain was the new National League pitcher, and Edwards replaced Cooper as catcher. McQuinn hit a fly ball that was just over the line in foul territory in left field and then grounded out, Reese to Mize. Doerr singled sharply to right. Doerr stole second, sliding under Edwards' throw to Stanky. Trying to pick Doerr off second base, Sain hit the base runner in the leg with the ball, which rolled into right field, Doerr taking base. It was an error for Sain on the wild throw. Rosar struck out on a curve ball. Spence was sent in to bat for Shea. After Sain had two strikes on Spence the Washington center fielder singled to right-center driving in Doerr with the tie-breaking run. One run, two hits, one error, one left.

National: Masterson who recently pitched a string of 34 consecutive scoreless innings, became the American League's third pitcher. Johnson went to third base as Kell retired. Reese looked at a third called strike from Masterson. Stanky flied to Henrich. Musial batted for Sain and rolled out, Boudreau to McQuinn. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

EIGHTH INNING

American: Spahn was the new National League pitcher. Henrich struck out. Williams grounded to Stanky, who threw to Mize for the second out. DiMaggio worked the count to three and two, fouled off one, and then drew a base on balls. Pafko raced into left center to haul down Boudreau's long drive. No runs, no hits, no errors, one left.

National: Boudreau came in on the edge of the grass to take Pafko's bouncer, throwing to McQuinn for the first out. Masterson, having a little trouble with his control, passed Marshall. Dizzy Trout and Joe Page to throw in the American bullpen. Cavarretta batted for Edwards. Masterson struck out Cavarretta on a sweeping curve, and as Mize came to the pitcher Cronin went to the pitcher's mound. He waved in Joe Page to replace Masterson against the left-hand hitting Mize. Page, a southpaw, had struck out 8 men in a three and two-thirds inning relief chore Sunday. Mize drove a single to right, sending Marshall to third. Phil Masi was sent in to run for Mize. Slaughter rolled to Boudreau who came over on the first base side of the mound to throw him out. No runs, one hit, no errors, two left.

NINTH INNING

American: Cavarretta went to first base for the Nationals and Masi replaced Edwards as catcher. Cavarretta made a back-hand stop of McQuinn's drive and raced to the bag beating McQuinn, for the unassisted out. Doerr flied to Marshall near the right field foul line. Pafko came in to short center to take Rosar's fly. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Mt. Savage Ambulance Fund Game Scheduled Tomorrow At 5 P. M.

MT. SAVAGE, July 9—Mt. Savage and Barrelville will clash here Thursday at 5 p. m., in the opening game of a best-of-three series, the proceeds of which will go toward the Mt. Savage Community Ambulance Fund.

Ceremonies preceding the game will get under way at 3:30 and music will be provided by the Mt. Savage Junior Order Band. Robert Moses "Lefty" Grove will toss out the first ball and among others who will attend are William V. Keegan, former "mayor of Barrelville," who is now Cumberland commissioner of police and fire, and Lester B. Reed, of the Maryland House of Delegates.

Barrelville has won five out of six games from Mt. Savage, the lone local victory being by the score of 11-0. Mt. Savage is in the Bi-State League and Barrelville in the Interstate loop.

The second game will be played in Barrelville and the third in Mt. Savage.

Game Is Transferred

The Frankfort District Softball League game scheduled for tomorrow between Short Gap and the Ridgeley American Legion will be played in Ridgeley at 6 p. m. instead of at Short Gap as previously announced.

Spence Delivers Pinch Hit In 7th To Sink National

By JACK HAND

WRIGLEY FIELD, Chicago, July 8 (AP)—The 1947 All-Star game never will be retold to doting grandchildren as the ultimate in baseball thrills but it will be remembered as another chapter in the American League's victory saga over the National by a slim 2-1 margin before 41,123 customers.

Bumping four National throwers for a total of eight hits, the Americans partly repaid Manager Joe Cronin for his world series misfortunes by opening up a 10-4 edge in the series dating back to Comiskey Park in 1933.

Stan Spence Wins Game

In comparison with last year's 12-0 rout in Boston the National gained a moral victory by holding their rivals to a one-run margin, engineered by Washington's San Spence with a pinch hit single scoring Boston's Bobby Doerr in the seventh inning.

Johnny Mize, the fence-busting New York Giants first baseman had struck fear of the vaunted National League power into the hearts of the Americans with a 380-foot blast into the right center field bleachers in the fourth. It came off Frank Shea, the freshman sensation of the New York Yankees who turned out to be the eventual winner.

Luke Appling's pinch single opening the sixth, followed by Boston's Ted Williams' ripping single to right, set up the tying run. Old Luke, the perennial Chicago favorite, had gone to third on the blow. He romped home easily while New York's Joe DiMaggio was bouncing into a double play.

In the final analysis it was a peculiar play at second base in the seventh that made the victory possible. With one out, Doerr had lined a single to left. He stole second easily, sliding in under Catcher Bruce Edwards' throw to Brooklyn teammate Eddie Stanky.

Sain's Wild Throw Costly

On the next pitch, Johnny Sain of Boston, who was the third pitcher used by Manager Eddie Dyer, spun all the way around in a sweeping motion and tried to pick Doerr off second base. The ball hit Doerr and caromed off into short right center, permitting the Red Sox sacker to reach third. It was scored as an error for Sain, the eventual loser.

Buddy Rosar of Philadelphia, who caught the entire nine innings, became a strikeout victim but Spence came through with the telling blow as a pinch hitter for Shea. It might have been close at the plate if Doerr had to come all the way from second but he scored easily from third.

Hal Newhouser of Detroit, who got the starting call for the Americans when Spud Chandler of the Yanks reported with a sore elbow had hurled two and two thirds innings of no-hit ball until Bert Hass of Cincinnati, pinch hitting for teammate Ewell Blackwell, rapped a single in the third. He breezed past the Phils' Harry Walker via the strikeout route to complete a shutout three-inning turn.

Blackwell, the animated bean pole from San Dimas, Calif., who went into the game with a brilliant record of 14 wins and 12 straight victories—including a no-hitter — blew down four strikeout victims and allowed only DiMaggio's second inning single in his three-inning stint.

Mize Poles Homer

Shea ran into trouble in his first inning when Mize, who leads both majors with 24 homers, slammed a high hard one into the ocean of white shirts in the right field bleachers.

Coming up in the sixth with Appling on first base and Sain on the mound, Ted Williams lashed a vicious line drive single to right, sending Luke around to third.

The Nationals went for the double play on DiMaggio's bouncer to Shortstop Pee Wee Reese, permitting Appling, who was away with the rap of the bat, to score unmolested.

Dyer Uses 23 Players

Dyer sent every member of his 25-man squad into the fray with the exception of Brooklyn's Ralph Branca and St. Louis' George Munger, a couple of right handed pitchers.

He even used Schoolboy Rowe of the Phils, the first player ever to appear for both teams in the All-Star series, as a pinch hitter in the last of the ninth.

Both managers stuck with their starting lineups, named by some 2,000,000 fans in a nationwide poll for the first time since 1934, for longer than the required three innings.

It was the smallest score in the history of the event. The previous low was the American's 3-1 decision in 1939 and 1942.

Receipts Hit $105,314.90

Record net receipts of $105,314.90 were ear-marked for the player pension fund the first time the players had a definite stake in the proceedings.

Walt Masterson, the third American chucker, had just struck out Pinch Hitter Cavarretta but Cronin gambled on Page against Mize. He looked bad when Mize came through with a single to right that shoved Marshall around to third.

But the fastballing Lefty made Enos Slaughter bounce to Boudreau retiring the side. He had the tying run on base via a walk in the ninth but got out of it.

Grove Accepts Invitation

By C. V. BURNS

The College All-Stars may land their T man after all.

After telling the College All-Stars he wouldn't play in the late August football game against the Chicago Bears because he didn't want to lose that much time away from the Washington Redskins, of the National Professional Football League, Tommy Mont, Cumberlander, and former University of Maryland star, has changed his mind and now may become Frank Leahy's starting T formation quarterback on the Collegiate eleven.

Leahy, Notre Dame coach, will be assisted by other outstanding college grid mentors.

The game will be sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., and the net proceeds will be donated to the United Catholic and Jewish Charities of Chicago.

It's the Tribune's 14th annual charity game and will be staged at Soldier Field on the night of Friday, August 22.

Duke was standing on the apron of the ring at the armory after the recent Tony Martin-Jimmie Catanese fight, and a good many in the crowd booed when the latter was awarded a split decision.

"What do you think of that decision, wasn't it lousy?"

Duke smiled and replied:

He said a mouthful. There's no use to gripe and yell because things don't go your way. No matter how much you holler that won't change the decision.

The "inside" dope is that Allegany county will not get the proposed $45,000 fish hatchery at Bottle Run because work is already started on the new $200,000 hatchery at Beaver Creek in Washington County.

Sportsmen say that $200,000 is a good investment provided nothing happens to the water supply but somebody is going to be out of luck if it goes bad.

That's what happened at Lewistown, Maryland's main hatchery, a $60,000 investment. We are told that Lewistown today receives only one half of the original water supply.

The Maryland Open golf tournament, a 36-hole medal play event, set for the Rolling Road Country Club, Baltimore, July 15, is expected to be the biggest since it was subsidized as the Calvert Open, according to Bill Edge, tourney chairman.

Otto Greiner, Baltimore's newly turned professional, who posted a 72 in the first round of the Tam O'Shanter last week, will vie in the open, as will Carroll Boggs, the Cumberland Country Club pro, and "Bill" Catherman, CCC amateur ace.

Italian-American boys are in the majority among the riders at the current race meeting at Charles Town which ends July 22. They are Arduini, Grant, Gudia, Palumbo, Romaine, Sarno, Scocca, Tammaro and Triola.

Miss Anne M. Sloan, of James P. Love Post, American Legion, Lonaconing, is getting a great deal of enjoyment out of helping make arrangements to send 100 Lonaconing boys to Camp Stillwaters near Flintstone for four days, commencing July 17. The boys range in age from 8 to 14.

After the camping season is concluded James P. Love Post will prepare to stage an amateur boxing show in Lonaconing to raise money for the boys' program sponsored by the organization.

They're not going to float the new electric football scoreboard here by way of the Mississippi as was first reported.

Tom Gilchrist, Jr., learned yesterday that the board which will be installed at Fort Hill stadium is coming by rail and left East Des Moines, Iowa, on July 3. The board is a product of the Fair Play Manufacturing Company.

Frank Beamer of the American Legion Post at Meyersdale, Pa., informs us that "Lefty" Grove has accepted that invitation to pilot one of the teams in the game between Western Pennsylvania District junior American Legion baseball teams on August 7 at Forbes Field, Pittsburgh.

The former major league pitching star from Lonaconing acts as adviser to the Meyersdale Post's junior nine.

Carl Scheib, the Athletics' 20-year-old pitching sensation, wanted to be a fighter because his older brother was an army boxing champion. Carl, however, changed his mind and decided to be a pitcher when he was told not to waste his time wearing more than one glove.

Which reminds us of the advice Duke Ellington, famous negro pianist and orchestra leader, gave to a friend who asked: "Shall I study violin or piano?"

Duke said:

"Learn to play the piano because after you're finished playing you don't have to carry anything."

Potomac Edison at Moose (East Side)
Other game postponed

Manager Lonnie Jackson's Loyal Order of Moose tossers knocked the B. P. O. Elks out of a first place tie with the American Legion in the Rocking Chair Softball League yesterday by defeating the Lodge No. 63 team in a 1-0 thriller at Campobello.

Fort Cumberland Post lengthened its winning streak to eight games by taking the measure of the cellar dwelling Junior Association of Commerce at Fort Hill Field by the score of 15-7. It was the 17th consecutive setback for the Jaycees.

Caseys Score Shutout

Jim Browning's Knights of Columbus took over second place in the eight-club loop by blanking the Cumberland Outdoor Club at East Side field by the score of 5-0 and Texcel made it six in a row by grabbing both ends of a doubleheader from Potomac Edison at Rolling Mill field. The scores were 7-4 and 12-3.

The Moose defeated the Elks in the first inning when they scored the lone run of the game on John Angellatta's walk, Frank Fogtman's sacrifice and Frank Williams' two-bagger.

Fogtman pitched a nice article of ball by turning back the Elks with three bingles. Williams and Russ Minnicks hit doubles for the victors while J. Wilkinson, R. Wilkinson and Mackey obtained the hits credited to the Moose team. The fielding feature was Frank Williams' barehand catch of Paul Roeder's line drive over third base.

Legion Retains Lead

Jim Geatz homered with the bases loaded and "Red" Boyer and Herb Lapp also hit round-trippers as the American Legion won and clung to first place by a half game over the Caseys. Jim Rice and John R. Kelley, Jr., slapped out three hits each for the winners. Boyer and Kauffman featured afield.

Anthony "Bud" Scaletta pitched a two-hitter as the Caseys subdued the Outdoor Club in a game featured by a four-run outburst in the fourth frame. "Bobby" Cavanaugh and Sammy DeLuca each hit safely twice for the Knights while Jones and Cubbage got the two Outdoor bingles.

It was announced that the Thursday game between the K. of C. and Legion has been postponed by mutual agreement.

Texcel Cops Pair

A five-run rally in the fourth inning sewed up the first game and an eight-run explosion in the second inning of the nightcap enabled Texcel to take a pair from Potomac Edison. The twin triumphs put Texcel just one full game below the .500 mark.

Three homers were blasted in the second game. J. Shirk and George Miller belted four-baggers for Texcel and Schoenadel connected for the circuit for P. E. Scores:

LEGION JUNIOR TEAM BATTLES QUEEN CITY TO SCORELESS TIE

Approximately 300 persons saw Pat Creegan and Jim Clingan pitch shutout ball for the Legion while Bob Doman and "Ace" Jewell were putting the youngsters on a goose egg diet. "Bub" Frye did the catching for Queen City and Birmingham worked back of the plate for the Legion.

Two of the three double plays executed during the game were credited to the champions of the eastern division of the Legion's Mountain District League.

DIES—Judge William G. Bramham, minor league baseball star for many years, died yesterday at Durham, N. C. He was retired as president of the National Association of Minor Baseball League at Los Angeles last December. He would have been 73 years old next Sunday.

Judge Bramham Taken By Death

Former Minor League Czar Dies At Durham

DURHAM, N. C., July 8 (AP) — Judge William G. Bramham, former president of the National Association of Minor Baseball Leagues, died here at 5:40 p. m. today.

Bramham retired from the National Association presidency at the meeting of minor leagues in Los Angeles last December. He was succeeded by George M. Trautman, who was general manager of the Detroit Tigers.

Bramham continued to serve the national association in an advisory capacity, maintaining offices in Durham after Trautman transferred minor league headquarters to Columbus, Ohio.

The former minor league head would have been 73 years old next Sunday. He died in Watts Hospital here where he was admitted yesterday. The cause of death was given as uremia.

HAGERSTOWN WOMEN EDGE CCC GOLFERS

The women's golf team of the Fountain Head Country Club defeated the team representing the Cumberland Country Club yesterday in Hagerstown by the score of 15 to 12.

It was the opening match of the home and home series between the teams.

Eight Bouts Feature Smoker At St. Mary's

The no decision matches were between Young Kerns and Young Firpo, Roy Rawlings and Walter Basilio, Dickie Green and Duke Davis, Frankie Lisanti and Jake Koelker, Jack Largent and Joe Ligarti, Jim Mangus and Jack Palous, Jack Wilson and Johnny Carey and Jim Klosterman and Garford Albright.

Boxers of the Diamond A.C. and St. Mary's A.C. made up the card. "Zip" Hutson arranged the bouts for the show which lasted one hour and 45 minutes.

Emmanuel Methodist Beats St. John's 8-4

Battling for a spot in the championship playoffs, Emmanuel Methodist's tossers registered their fourth straight victory over St. John's Lutheran yesterday at Locust Grove by the score of 8-4 and need only one more win to advance into fourth place.

The winners collected 12 hits, Manager Melvin Rankin pacing the attack with three blows while Hare garnered two. Ray Hahne had two hits for St. John's and Stafford featured afield with a nice running catch. Score:

EMMANUEL	060 100 1—8	12	1

Willie Pep Wins

ADRAGNA WINS DUKE OVER CHUCK TAYLOR

PITTSBURGH, July 8 (AP) — Sammy Adragna, Carnegie, Pa., welterweight, gained a unanimous decision over Chuck Taylor, of Coalport, Pa., tonight in a ten-round bout at Zivic arena. Adragna weighed 146 and Taylor 147.

Adragna's victory came as a suprise to the 3,688 fans who saw the match. Taylor had been considered a 2 to 1 favorite, despite the fact Adragna had beaten him 18 months ago.

Chuck charged the first two rounds with sharp punches snapping Sammy's head back time after time, but thereafter Adragna had the fight pretty much his own way. There were no knockdowns.

Gains On Ben Hogan By Defeating Oliver

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO, July 8 (AP) — Bobby Locke, the South African golf perfectionist, won the $7,000 Tam O'Shanter first prize today by shooting 140—four strokes under par—and six under Ed (Porky) Oliver's 146 in their 36-hole pro playoff.

The phlegmatic, 29-year-old Locke, playing as if he had nothing more at stake than carfare, pocketed $2,000 to go with his $5,000 "guarantee" to appear in the tournament from Promoter George S. May.

These earnings vaulted him to second place behind Ben Hogan,—who did not compete in the Tam jamboree—on the pro's financial list. The PGA announced Locke's winnings at $16,187.50.

Locke has collected this swag in 35 competitive rounds, while Hogan's leading $17,099 was banked on 52 tournament rounds.

Oliver's second-place prize of $3,333 kept him in sixth place among the money winners with a total of $10,111.

Locke entered today's final round with a three-stroke edge after firing a 68 over the par 36-36—72 layout yesterday while Oliver shot a 71.

On today's first nine, the two stars played like a couple of guys named Joe. Oliver, dropping five strokes to par on the first four holes, wound up with a horrendous 43, while the machine-like Locke took a rusty 39 with a 7 on the 27th green after three putting.

Starting the last nine with two birdies, Oliver finished with a brilliant 32 to 75, while Locke counted an eagle 3 on the 28th to finish with a 33 to 72.

Locke's six foot putt for an eagle 3 on the 28th boosted his lead to eight strokes — the greatest margin of the match.

Oliver shaved the advantage with a 10 footer for a deuce on the 29th, but Locke again gained an eight-stroke edge by curling in a 35 foot putt for a birdie on the 31st.

They squared the 32nd with pars, Oliver missing his second putt of the day under one foot. The Wilmington, Del., pro then gained on the 500-yard 33rd by reaching the green in two shots and holing out with birdie 4.

They parred the next two, and Oliver sliced the lead to the final six strokes on the last green by ramming in a 15 footer for a birdie 3.

Maccabees Defeat Legion Team, 9-5

Five City Softball Tilts On Tap Today

Tommy Cramblitt tossed a five-hitter yesterday as the Maccabees took the measure of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, in a City Softball League game at Community Park by the score of 9 to 5.

Cramblitt and "Buddy" Young led the 13-hit attack with three safeties each. Gene "Little Meatball" Basilio accounted for two of the Legion's five bingles.

Five games are scheduled in the circuit today. Virginia Avenue will play North End Social and Athletic Club at Stitcher Field, Astor Cab will oppose Lacy's Delicatets at Taylor Field, the American Legion will face Reed's Electricians at Campobello, Concord Clothiers will lock horns with the Maccabees at Community Park and the Amvets and Veterans of Foreign Wars will collide on the Rolling Mill diamond.

Yesterday's game between the Bees and Legion was the first played in the league since the second half race got under way. Five games scheduled for Monday were postponed on account of rain. The score:

MACCABEES	033 300 0—9	13	4

Cramblitt and Baker. Wolz, Harrison (4) and Radcliffe.

'Coney Legion To Play Midland And Oakland

LONACONING, July 8.—James P. Love Post's junior baseball team will conclude its schedule in the eastern division of the American Legion's Mountain District League when it plays Midland Post here Wednesday at 5 p. m.

The locals have won two out of three games played with Midland and Manager "Babe" Johnson's team has won six and lost five in league competition.

Gaffney-Penner Hitting Contest Is Postponed

The hitting contest between Vern Penner and Jim Gaffney that was to have featured today's City Softball League game between Lacy's Delicatets and Astor Cab has been postponed until the teams meet again.

Gaffney will play with the Fort Cumberland Post, American Legion baseball team, of the Interstate League, against Westvaco of the Bi-State League today at 5:34 p. m. at Memorial Park, Westernport.

Ray Scores Kayo

SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 8 (AP) — Elmer (Violent) Ray of Hastings, Fla., knocked out Pete Louthis of Providence tonight in 2:37 of the second round in a scheduled 10-round bout.

Ray weighed 198, and Louthis, 185.

PLAY-BY-PLAY AND BOX SCORE OF ALL-STAR GAME

FIRST INNING

American: Kell struck out, swinging. Lewis rolled to Mize, unassisted. A noisy chorus of boos and cheers greeted Ted Williams, who worked the count to three and two and looked at a third called strike. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

SECOND INNING

American: DiMaggio, who drew the biggest hand of the game, hit a two and two pitch into center field for a single, the first hit of the game. Blackwell's third pitch to Boudreau got away from Cooper for a passed ball, DiMaggio taking second. Boudreau took a third strike. Slaughter came over into left center to take McQuinn's high loft for the second out. After Gordon fouled off four pitches, Blackwell uncorked a wild pitch, beyond the reach of Cooper. DiMaggio advanced to third. Gordon then fanned. No runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

THIRD INNING

American: As the Americans came up in the third Brecheen started to warm up in the National bullpen. Shea had started to throw in the American bullpen. Rosar sent Dixie Walker back near the ivy covered wall in deep right to catch his long drive. Newhouser rolled to Marion for the second out. Blackwell completed his pitching stint by forcing Kell to ground out. Gustine to Mize. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

National: DiMaggio waved off Gordon and raced into short center to catch Marion's pop fly. Verban was an easy out on a ground ball, Gordon to McQuinn. Bert Haas batted for Blackwell and singled sharply into left on the first pitch for the National's initial hit. H. Walker protested to Conlan after he was called out on a third strike. No runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

FOURTH INNING

American: Brecheen was the new National League pitcher. After fouling a three-two pitch Lewis went out on a deep fly to H. Walker. Williams, who was stopped by Brecheen in the 1946 world series, doubled down the right field foul line into the bull pen. Gustine took DiMaggio's high hopper back of third and threw to Mize for the second out, Williams holding second, Boudreau's slow roller hugged the grass and skidded past Gustine for a single, Williams stopping at third. With the count one ball and two strikes on McQuinn, Dyer came off the bench to give instructions to Cooper. McQuinn then struck out, swinging. No runs, two hits, no errors, two left.

National: Shea, the New York Yankees' freshman sensation, was the new American League pitcher. Dixie Walker lifted his second pitch to Williams for an easy out. Cooper popped up high to McQuinn, who made the catch in foul territory twenty feet from first base. Mize drove Shea's third pitch into the fifth row of the bleachers in right center field, for a home run, a 380 foot drive, Slaughter worked Shea for a base on balls, the first of the game. Gustine forced Slaughter, Gordon to Boudreau. One run, one hit, no errors, one left.

FIFTH INNING

American: Dyer made two changes in his lineup at the start of the fifth. Pafko replaced Harry Walker in center field and Marshall took the place of Dixie Walker in right field. Gordon slammed a long double into the left field corner. Gordon held second as Marshall came into short right to take Rosar's fly. Shea tapped to Brecheen who tossed to Mize for the second out. Kell took a third strike with his bat on his shoulder to end the half inning. No runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

National: Marion lined a single into left field. Verban trying to punch to left field, flied to Lewis. Brecheen, permitted to bat for himself, forced Marion, McQuinn to Boudreau. DiMaggio appeared to momentarily misjudge Pafko's liner which fell in front of him for a single. Brecheen's stopping at second. On a two and two pitch Marshall swung and missed. Shea's first strikeout victim. No runs, two hits, no errors, two left.

SIXTH INNING

American: Dyer made three more substitutions, sending Stanky to second base, for Verban, Reese to short for Marion, and Kurowski to third for Gustine. Appling, batting for Lewis, worked the count to three and two before he drilled a ground single to left. Williams lined a single into right, advancing Appling to third base. Sain and Spahn were throwing in the National bull pen. Appling scored the tying run as DiMaggio rapped into a double play, Reese to Stanky to Mize. Marshall moved back deep to drag down Boudreau's long fly. One run, two hits, no errors, none left.

National: Henrich went to right field for the Americans and Doerr replaced Gordon at second base. Cooper flied to Henrich. Mize walked and Masterson resumed warming up in the American's bull pen. Slaughter popped to Boudreau, who made the catch near the pitching mound. Kurowski popped to Boudreau, who made the catch near the pitching mound. Kurowski, making his first appearance at the plate, fanned. No runs, no hits, no errors, one left.

SEVENTH INNING

American: Sain was the new National League pitcher, and Edwards replaced Cooper as catcher. McQuinn hit a fly ball that was just over the line in foul territory in left field and then grounded out, Reese to Mize. Doerr singled sharply to right. Doerr stole second, sliding under Edwards' throw to Stanky. Trying to pick Doerr off second base, Sain hit the base runner in the leg with the ball, which rolled into right field, Doerr taking base. It was an error for Sain on the wild throw. Rosar struck out on a curve ball. Spence was sent in to bat for Shea. After Sain had two strikes on Spence the Washington center fielder singled to right-center driving in Doerr with the tie-breaking run. One run, two hits, one error, one left.

National: Masterson who recently pitched a string of 34 consecutive scoreless innings, became the American League's third pitcher. Johnson went to third base as Kell retired. Reese looked at a third called strike from Masterson. Stanky flied to Henrich. Musial batted for Sain and rolled out, Boudreau to McQuinn. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

EIGHTH INNING

American: Spahn was the new National League pitcher. Henrich struck out. Williams grounded to Stanky, who threw to Mize for the second out. DiMaggio worked the count to three and two, fouled off one, and then drew a base on balls. Pafko raced into left center to haul down Boudreau's long drive. No runs, no hits, no errors, one left.

National: Boudreau came in on the edge of the grass to take Pafko's bouncer, throwing to McQuinn for the first out. Masterson, having a little trouble with his control, passed Marshall. Dizzy Trout and Joe Page to throw in the American bullpen. Cavarretta batted for Edwards. Masterson struck out Cavarretta on a sweeping curve, and as Mize came to the plate Cronin went to the pitcher's mound. He waved in Joe Page to replace Masterson against the left-hand hitting Mize. Page, a southpaw, had struck out 8 men in a three and two-thirds inning relief chore Sunday. Mize drove a single to right, sending Marshall to third. Phil Masi was sent in to run for Mize. Slaughter rolled to Boudreau who came over on the first base side of the mound to throw him out. No runs, one hit, no errors, two left.

NINTH INNING

American: Cavarretta went to first base for the Nationals and Masi replaced Edwards as catcher. Cavarretta made a back-hand stop of McQuinn's drive and raced to the bag beating McQuinn, for the unassisted out. Doerr flied to Marshall near the right field foul line. Pafko came in to short center to take Rosar's fly. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Mt. Savage Ambulance Fund Game Scheduled Tomorrow At 5 P. M.

MT. SAVAGE, July 9—Mt. Savage and Barrelville will clash here Thursday at 5 p. m., in the opening game of a best-of-three series, the proceeds of which will go toward the Mt. Savage Community Ambulance Fund.

Ceremonies preceding the game will get under way at 3:30 and music will be provided by the Mt. Savage Junior Order Band. Robert Moses "Lefty" Grove will toss out the first ball and among others who will attend are William V. Keegan, former "mayor of Barrelville," who is now Cumberland commissioner of police and fire, and Lester B. Reed, of the Maryland House of Delegates.

Barrelville has won five out of six games from Mt. Savage, the lone local victory being by the score of 11-0. Mt. Savage is in the Bi-State League and Barrelville in the Interstate loop.

The second game will be played in Barrelville and the third in Mt. Savage.

Spence Delivers Pinch Hit In 7th To Sink National

By JACK HAND

WRIGLEY FIELD, Chicago, July 8 (AP)—The 1947 All-Star game never will be retold to doting grandchildren as the ultimate in baseball thrills but it will be remembered as another chapter in the American League's victory saga over the National by a slim 2-1 margin before 41,123 customers.

Bumping four National throwers for a total of eight hits, the Americans partly repaid Manager Joe Cronin for his world series misfortunes by opening up a 10-4 edge in the series dating back to Comiskey Park in 1933.

Stan Spence Wins Game

In comparison with last year's 12-0 rout in Boston the National gained a moral victory by holding their rivals to a one-run margin, engineered by Washington's San Spence with a pinch hit single scoring Boston's Bobby Doerr in the seventh inning.

Johnny Mize, the fence-busting New York Giants first baseman had struck fear of the vaunted National League power into the hearts of the Americans with a 380-foot blast into the right center field bleachers in the fourth. It came off Frank Shea, the freshman sensation of the New York Yankees who turned out to be the eventual winner.

Luke Appling's pinch single opening the sixth, followed by Boston's Ted Williams' ripping single to right, set up the tying run. Old Luke, the perennial Chicago favorite, had gone to third on the blow. He romped home easily while New York's Joe DiMaggio was bouncing into a double play.

In the final analysis it was a peculiar play at second base in the seventh that made the victory possible. With one out, Doerr had lined a single to left. He stole second easily, sliding in under Catcher Bruce Edwards' throw to Brooklyn teammate Eddie Stanky.

Sain's Wild Throw Costly

On the next pitch, Johnny Sain of Boston, who was the third pitcher used by Manager Eddie Dyer, spun all the way around in a sweeping motion and tried to pick Doerr off second base. The ball hit Doerr and caromed off into short right center, permitting the Red Sox sacker to reach third. It was scored as an error for Sain, the eventual loser.

Buddy Rosar of Philadelphia, who caught the entire nine innings, became a strikeout victim but Spence came through with the telling blow as a pinch hitter for Shea. It might have been close at the plate if Doerr had to come all the way from second but he scored easily from third.

Hal Newhouser of Detroit, who got the starting call for the Americans when Spud Chandler of the Yanks reported with a sore elbow had hurled two and two thirds innings of no-hit ball until Bert Hass of Cincinnati, pinch hitting for teammate Ewell Blackwell, rapped a single in the third. He breezed past the Phils' Harry Walker via the strikeout route to complete a shutout three-inning turn.

Blackwell, the animated bean pole from San Dimas, Calif., who went into the game with a brilliant record of 14 wins and 12 straight victories—including a no-hitter — blew down four strikeout victims and allowed only DiMaggio's second inning single in his three-inning stint.

Mize Poles Homer

Shea ran into trouble in his first inning when Mize, who leads both majors with 24 homers, slammed a high hard one into the ocean of white shirts in the right field bleachers.

Coming up in the sixth with Appling on first base and Sain on the mound, Ted Williams lashed a vicious line drive single to right, sending Luke around to third.

The Nationals went for the double play on DiMaggio's bouncer to Shortstop Pee Wee Reese, permitting Appling, who was away with the rap of the bat, to score unmolested.

Dyer Uses 23 Players

Dyer sent every member of his 25-man squad into the fray with the exception of Brooklyn's Ralph Branca and St. Louis' George Munger, a couple of right handed pitchers.

He even used Schoolboy Rowe of the Phils, the first player ever to appear for both teams in the All-Star series, as a pinch hitter in the last of the ninth.

Both managers stuck with their starting lineups, named by some 2,000,000 fans in a nationwide poll for the first time since 1934, for longer than the required three innings.

It was the smallest score in the history of the event. The previous low was the American's 3-1 decision in 1939 and 1942.

Receipts Hit $105,314.90

Record net receipts of $105,314.90 were ear-marked for the player pension fund the first time the players had a definite stake in the proceedings.

Walt Masterson, the third American chucker, had just struck out Pinch Hitter Cavarretta but Cronin gambled on Page against Mize. He looked bad when Mize came through with a single to right that shoved Marshall around to third.

But the fastballing Lefty made Enos Slaughter bounce to Boudreau retiring the side. He had the tying run on base via a walk in the ninth but got out of it.

Game Is Transferred

The Frankfort District Softball League game scheduled for tomorrow between Short Gap and the Ridgeley American Legion will be played in Ridgeley at 6 p. m. instead of at Short Gap as previously announced.

MARYLAND RACING COMMISSION WILL RETAIN RECEIVING BARN

Janney Says Pre-Race Tests Will Continue

By JOHN CHANDLER

BALTIMORE, July 8. (AP)—The Maryland Racing Commission, under the regime of a new chairman, indicated today it would retain the receiving barn and pre-race test of all horses to detect "doping."

Stuart S. Janney, Jr., gentleman rider and sportsman who succeeded George P. Mahoney as chairman July 1, said the commission had refused a request that the compulsory receiving barn be eliminated at Bel Air track.

William L. Brann, one of the nation's leading turfmen and owner of a big Maryland breeding farm, has refused to run his horses in the Free State as long as the receiving barn rule remains in effect. Other owners also have objected.

Janney said that G. Ray Bryson, Bel Air general manager, advised the commission that due to the ban on materials and shortage of space at available barns the Harford county track requested a waiver on the receiving barn.

Receiving barns were made mandatory on all Maryland tracks last year when Mahoney was chairman. Trainers are required to have horses in the guarded barn two hours before post time. Pre-race tests on all horses are conducted at a mobile laboratory.

"The commission felt that it could not make any exception at Bel Air," Janney said. The 10-day Bel Air meeting begins July 23.

The new chairman also said that "so far as I know" Maryland would retain the pre-race test.

"We plan to study it further and experiment," Janney said without disclosing details.

Many horsemen had criticized as inaccurate the so-called mouse test installed by Mahoney late in 1945.

Janney said the commission would meet tomorrow to adopt new rules, "but there is nothing controversial in them."

PATERSON IS ASKED TO FIGHT ON JULY 16 OR VACATE THE TITLE

PATERSON, N. J., July 8 (AP)—The National Boxing Association stepped into the flyweight championship bout situation with a suggestion that Champion Jackie Paterson fight July 16 in Glasgow or vacate the title.

The scheduled championship battle between the Glasgow flyweight and Dado Marino of Honolulu has twice been postponed to the increasing irritation of Marino's manager, Sam Ichinose.

Abe J. Greene, NBA president, cabled Charles F. Donmall of London, general secretary of the British Boxing Board, today suggesting that Marino take on Rinty Monaghan of England for the world title if Paterson fails to go through with next Wednesday's date in Glasgow.

Baksi In London

LONDON, July 8 (AP)—Trainer Ray Arcel, arriving with Joe Baksi tonight at London airport from Stockholm, said Baksi's defeat by Swedish heavyweight Olle Tandberg "probably will delay us a year" in seeking a fight with Joe Louis.

"However, Joe is still young and has plenty of time," Arcel said.

Mrs. Ralph Higgins Wins Tennis Title

Beats Louise Wilson In Dingle Tourney

Mrs. Ralph Higgins, a newcomer to Cumberland tennis circles, yesterday won the women's singles in the Dingle Tennis Club tournament by beating Louise Wilson, 6-1, 6-3.

Miss Wilson was slow getting started, being a little confused by Mrs. Higgins' hard driving from back court and exceptionally fast net strokes, but put up a hard fight for every game the last set.

Mrs. Higgins and her husband are still in the mixed doubles. They will play Mr. and Mrs. Lua Syckes, the winner meeting Dorothy Marie Wilson and Jack Evans in the finals.

Eagles Defeat Century, Aristocrats Top Peck's

FROSTBURG, July 8—The Eagles defeated the Century Club at State Teachers' Field by the score of 6-2 and the Aristocrats topped Peck's Cafe 6-3 at Community Park in Frostburg Softball League games played today.

Fisher limited Century to three hits while the Eagles nicked Day for seven, including a double and single by Coleman and two singles by M. Miller.

Junior Cole with three bingles and R. Harper with a triple and two-bagger paced the Aristocrats in their triumph. Joe Scarpelli with two singles and Loar with a two-base wallop headed Peck's attack. Scores:

CHICAGO, July 8 (AP)—Fourteen thoroughbreds were named today for the $25,000 added Grassland Handicap for three year olds and up tomorrow at Arlington Park with Mighty Story topweighted at 125 pounds. The mile and three sixteenths will be run on the grass.

Notes From Baseball's All-Star Game

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY

WRIGLEY FIELD, Chicago, July 8. (AP)—The All-Star game, for three innings, looked like "the battle of the flying saucers." Ewell Blackwell of Cincinnati and Hal Newhouser of Detroit, the starting pitchers, seemed to be throwing those mysterious objects that have been zooming across the sky. Each allowed only one hit. Blackwell fanned four and Newhouser two.

Bob Feller, the Cleveland pitching colossus, was sidelined by an ailing back but he gave his American League colleagues unstinted moral support. "I'd like like hell to be out there," he said. "I hate to miss occasions like this."

The short-sleeved bleacher crowd, providing a white background at the batter's eye level, brought squawks from the junior circuit clouters. "It's bad," commented Joe DiMaggio of the New York Yankees. "They ought to do something about it." George Kell of the Detroit Tigers filed a supporting brief: "It's rough."

Baseball's brass hats were out in force. Every club in the majors was represented by a manager or front office executive. A delegation from the Pacific Coast, hopeful of presenting a spectacle of this calibre one day in the far west, looked on—perhaps a bit wistfully.

The biblical spirit of good will toward men prevailed before the cannonading began. Ted Williams, the Boston Red Sox bludgeoneer, saluted Johnny Mize, the New York Giant hatchet man, this way: "Good luck to you, boy."

The Nationals went into a shift for Ted Williams, who habitually pulls the ball into right field. The center and right fielders and the second and first basemen moved to their left when he came to the plate. Williams punctured this strategy his second time up by doubling along the first base line. On his next trip, he lined a hit to the right field grass between the outfielders and infielders.

The weather was perfect—clear and warm — but Joe DiMaggio found it a bit too breezy. Andy Pafko of the Chicago Cubs hit the ball to centerfield in the fifth inning. It apparently was slowed by the brisk north wind. The Yankee ballhawk hesitated and, instead of coming in to catch it on the fly, trapped it on the first bounce.

American Steaks Helped Kramer Win Net Titles

NEW YORK, July 8. (AP) — Good luck, American steaks and vitamin pills were credited today by Jack Kramer for his victories in the British singles and doubles championships at Wimbledon.

"We brought over about 35 pounds of steak and during the last 12 days each of us had one apiece. During the singles matches I had a steak in the morning and that helped a lot. I had vitamin pills too and I was sleeping well and I never felt better in my life," Kramer said.

Janney Says Pre-Race Tests Will Continue

By JOHN CHANDLER

BALTIMORE, July 8. (AP)—The Maryland Racing Commission, under the regime of a new chairman, indicated today it would retain the receiving barn and pre-race test of all horses to detect "doping."

Stuart S. Janney, Jr., gentleman rider and sportsman who succeeded George P. Mahoney as chairman July 1, said the commission had refused a request that the compulsory receiving barn be eliminated at Bel Air track.

William L. Brann, one of the nation's leading turfmen and owner of a big Maryland breeding farm, has refused to run his horses in the Free State as long as the receiving barn rule remains in effect. Other owners also have objected.

Janney said that G. Ray Bryson, Bel Air general manager, advised the commission that due to the ban on materials and shortage of space at available barns the Harford county track requested a waiver on the receiving barn.

Receiving barns were made mandatory on all Maryland tracks last year when Mahoney was chairman. Trainers are required to have horses in the guarded barn two hours before post time. Pre-race tests on all horses are conducted at a mobile laboratory.

"The commission felt that it could not make any exception at Bel Air," Janney said. The 10-day Bel Air meeting begins July 23.

The new chairman also said that "so far as I know" Maryland would retain the pre-race test.

"We plan to study it further and experiment," Janney said without disclosing details.

Many horsemen had criticized as inaccurate the so-called mouse test installed by Mahoney late in 1945.

Janney said the commission would meet tomorrow to adopt new rules, "but there is nothing controversial in them."

PATERSON IS ASKED TO FIGHT ON JULY 16 OR VACATE THE TITLE

PATERSON, N. J., July 8 (AP)—The National Boxing Association stepped into the flyweight championship bout situation with a suggestion that Champion Jackie Paterson fight July 16 in Glasgow or vacate the title.

The scheduled championship battle between the Glasgow flyweight and Dado Marino of Honolulu has twice been postponed to the increasing irritation of Marino's manager, Sam Ichinose.

Abe J. Greene, NBA president, cabled Charles F. Donmall of London, general secretary of the British Boxing Board, today suggesting that Marino take on Rinty Monaghan of England for the world title if Paterson fails to go through with next Wednesday's date in Glasgow.

Baksi In London

LONDON, July 8 (AP)—Trainer Ray Arcel, arriving with Joe Baksi tonight at London airport from Stockholm, said Baksi's defeat by Swedish heavyweight Olle Tandberg "probably will delay us a year" in seeking a fight with Joe Louis.

"However, Joe is still young and has plenty of time," Arcel said.

Mrs. Ralph Higgins Wins Tennis Title

Beats Louise Wilson In Dingle Tourney

Mrs. Ralph Higgins, a newcomer to Cumberland tennis circles, yesterday won the women's singles in the Dingle Tennis Club tournament by beating Louise Wilson, 6-1, 6-3.

Miss Wilson was slow getting started, being a little confused by Mrs. Higgins' hard driving from back court and exceptionally fast net strokes, but put up a hard fight for every game the last set.

Mrs. Higgins and her husband are still in the mixed doubles. They will play Mr. and Mrs. Lua Syckes, the winner meeting Dorothy Marie Wilson and Jack Evans in the finals.

Eagles Defeat Century, Aristocrats Top Peck's

FROSTBURG, July 8—The Eagles defeated the Century Club at State Teachers' Field by the score of 6-2 and the Aristocrats topped Peck's Cafe 6-3 at Community Park in Frostburg Softball League games played today.

Fisher limited Century to three hits while the Eagles nicked Day for seven, including a double and single by Coleman and two singles by M. Miller.

EAGLES	030	120	0—6	7	0
CENTURY	100	000	1—2	3	1

Fisher and Dayton. Day and Dennison.

ARISTOCRATS	401	001	0—6	8	0

14 To Run On Grass

CHICAGO, July 8 (AP)—Fourteen thoroughbreds were named today for the $25,000 added Grassland Handicap for three year olds and up tomorrow at Arlington Park with Mighty Story topweighted at 125 pounds. The mile and three sixteenths will be run on the grass.

Notes From Baseball's All-Star Game

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY

WRIGLEY FIELD, Chicago, July 8. (AP)—The All-Star game, for three innings, looked like "the battle of the flying saucers." Ewell Blackwell of Cincinnati and Hal Newhouser of Detroit, the starting pitchers, seemed to be throwing those mysterious objects that have been zooming across the sky. Each allowed only one hit. Blackwell fanned four and Newhouser two.

Bob Feller, the Cleveland pitching colossus, was sidelined by an ailing back but he gave his American League colleagues unstinted moral support. "I'd like like hell to be out there," he said. "I hate to miss occasions like this."

The short-sleeved bleacher crowd, providing a white background at the batter's eye level, brought squawks from the junior circuit clouters. "It's bad," commented Joe DiMaggio of the New York Yankees. "They ought to do something about it." George Kell of the Detroit Tigers filed a supporting brief: "It's rough."

Baseball's brass hats were out in force. Every club in the majors was represented by a manager or front office executive. A delegation from the Pacific Coast, hopeful of presenting a spectacle of this calibre one day in the far west, looked on—perhaps a bit wistfully.

The biblical spirit of good will toward men prevailed before the cannonading began. Ted Williams, the Boston Red Sox bludgeoneer, saluted Johnny Mize, the New York Giant hatchet man, this way: "Good luck to you, boy."

The Nationals went into a shift for Ted Williams, who habitually pulls the ball into right field. The center and right fielders and the second and first basemen moved to their left when he came to the plate. Williams punctured this strategy his second time up by doubling along the first base line. On his next trip, he lined a hit to the right field grass between the outfielders and infielders.

The weather was perfect—clear and warm — but Joe DiMaggio found it a bit too breezy. Andy Pafko of the Chicago Cubs hit the ball to centerfield in the fifth inning. It apparently was slowed by the brisk north wind. The Yankee ballhawk hesitated and, instead of coming in to catch it on the fly, trapped it on the first bounce.

American Steaks Helped Kramer Win Net Titles

NEW YORK, July 8. (AP) — Good luck, American steaks and vitamin pills were credited today by Jack Kramer for his victories in the British singles and doubles championships at Wimbledon.

"We brought over about 35 pounds of steak and during the last 12 days each of us had one apiece. During the singles matches I had a steak in the morning and that helped a lot. I had vitamin pills too and I was sleeping well and I never felt better in my life," Kramer said.

NOTICE

TO PERSONS, FIRMS OR CORPORATIONS OPERATING FOR PUBLIC ENTERTAINMENT MUSIC BOXES OR DEVICES AND PINBALL MACHINES

The Maryland Legislature at their regular 1947 session passed two separate laws imposing an Allegany County tax, payable annually, on all of the above mentioned machines.

License certificates must be obtained from the office of the Clerk of the Court during the month of July, 1947, for the license period of July 1, 1947, to April 30, 1948.

Upon conviction of operating without a license, the law imposes a severe penalty.

Youth Caravan To Be Conducted At Hendricks Church

By HELEN COLLETT

PARSONS, July 8.—The West Virginia Caravan No. 1 sponsored by the Methodist Youth Fellowship of the Hendricks Church will be in Hendricks from Sunday, July 13, until July 19 and will have classes for the children of that town in the afternoon.

Youths from the ages of 12 to 15 will attend the afternoon classes and those from 15 to 23 will enroll in the evening classes which will be taught by Wilbourn Blake from Georgetown, Texas, a member of the Caravan.

Mr. Blake is a student at Southwestern University and is president of the Methodist Youth Fellowship for the high school age students there. He served with the army overseas work as a chaplain and also a photographer.

Other members of the Caravan will be Thaine "Bing" Billingsley, Tulsa, Okla., who is recreational chairman of Kansas conference and is Methodist Youth Fellowship recreational director for the caravan. He served with the army medical corps for two and one half years in New Guinea, Japan and the Philippines and was with the Caravan through the state of Vermont in 1943.

Lucile Sutton, Mill Creek, a graduate of Glenville State College, is also a caravan worker. Miss Sutton is a teacher in the Homesteads school at Daily, and is church school superintendent there, counselor of the Mill Creek, M. Y. F., and district director of intermediate work of the Buckhannon district.

Hazel Hufton, who is majoing in sociology at Albion College and plans to do religious wok, is the fourth leader and Virginia Carter, Colquit, Ga., is the fifth worker. Miss Carter attended Georgia State Woman's College where she was on the Y. W. C. A. board and is counselor of the M. Y. F., in Colquit Church and is also a member of the official board of the church. She is a teacher in Georgia.

The leaders will work in cooperation with the church leaders and plans have now been completed to make this school successful. It is the first of its kind to be held in Hendricks.

County Agent A. L. Kidd, Parsons, has announced that Mrs. Betty Gum, has been appointed as club agent of Tucker County effective July 1. Mrs. Gum, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Ashburn, Pine Acres, Reedsville, is a graduate of West Virginia University School of Agriculture with a Bachelor of Science degree. She is affiliated with the Alpha Phi social sorority and was president of the A. W. S., in her senior year, president of the Pan-Hellenic council and a member of the Y. W. C. A., and the Agriculture Club at the University. Mrs. Gum was transferred to this county from Preston County and will replace Mrs. Frances Newlon Frame who resigned a year ago. Harold Gum, husband of the new club agent, is a member of the Junior class in the agriculture school at the university. He was state president of the Future Farmers of America in 1942 and National president in 1943.

Mrs. Gum arrived here this week to assume her new duties, and will have her office in the court house in the county agent's offices.

Youth Caravan To Be Conducted At Hendricks Church

By HELEN COLLETT

PARSONS, July 8.—The West Virginia Caravan No. 1 sponsored by the Methodist Youth Fellowship of the Hendricks Church will be in Hendricks from Sunday, July 13, until July 19 and will have classes for the children of that town in the afternoon.

Youths from the ages of 12 to 15 will attend the afternoon classes and those from 15 to 23 will enroll in the evening classes which will be taught by Wilbourn Blake from Georgetown, Texas, a member of the Caravan.

Mr. Blake is a student at Southwestern University and is president of the Methodist Youth Fellowship for the high school age students there. He served with the army overseas work as a chaplain and also a photographer.

Other members of the Caravan will be Thaine "Bing" Billingsley, Tulsa, Okla., who is recreational chairman of Kansas conference and is Methodist Youth Fellowship recreational director for the caravan. He served with the army medical corps for two and one half years in New Guinea, Japan and the Philippines and was with the Caravan through the state of Vermont in 1943.

Lucile Sutton, Mill Creek, a graduate of Glenville State College, is also a caravan worker. Miss Sutton is a teacher in the Homesteads school at Daily, and is church school superintendent there, counselor of the Mill Creek, M. Y. F., and district director of intermediate work of the Buckhannon district.

Hazel Hufton, who is majoing in sociology at Albion College and plans to do religious wok, is the fourth leader and Virginia Carter, Colquit, Ga., is the fifth worker. Miss Carter attended Georgia State Woman's College where she was on the Y. W. C. A. board and is counselor of the M. Y. F., in Colquit Church and is also a member of the official board of the church. She is a teacher in Georgia.

The leaders will work in cooperation with the church leaders and plans have now been completed to make this school successful. It is the first of its kind to be held in Hendricks.

County Agent A. L. Kidd, Parsons, has announced that Mrs. Betty Gum, has been appointed as club agent of Tucker County effective July 1. Mrs. Gum, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Ashburn, Pine Acres, Reedsville, is a graduate of West Virginia University School of Agriculture with a Bachelor of Science degree. She is affiliated with the Alpha Phi social sorority and was president of the A. W. S., in her senior year, president of the Pan-Hellenic council and a member of the Y. W. C. A., and the Agriculture Club at the University. Mrs. Gum was transferred to this county from Preston County and will replace Mrs. Frances Newlon Frame who resigned a year ago. Harold Gum, husband of the new club agent, is a member of the Junior class in the agriculture school at the university. He was state president of the Future Farmers of America in 1942 and National president in 1943.

Mrs. Gum arrived here this week to assume her new duties, and will have her office in the court house in the county agent's offices.

Girls Reply To Complaints Of Vets Who Claim War Changed Them

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Well, boys, you certainly crawled out on the end of a limb when you wrote me those letters complaining that the girls you came back to after the war weren't the same ones you left behind.

The girls have plenty to say to you about that, and though they say it very politely, in the letters they've written me replying to your charges, they make it clear that they think the shoe is on the other foot.

Their idea is that you're looking at things hindside too; that you're the ones who've changed, not they. They think if you'd stayed the same, you'd find the girls just as nice and just as companionable and just as desirable as they ever were. But because you've come home with a very different viewpoint from the one you had when you went away, you've got yourselves mixed up and have jumped to the conclusion that it's the other fellow who's changed.

Oh, the girls admit to having grown older and wiser. What would you expect, after several years, and a horrifying war, have passed over their heads? They admit, too, that in the process of growing up, and in the confusion of the topsy-turvy world in which they had to live, some of them here and there became bewildered and lost their heads.

But in the main, they insist, most of them held on to their basic ideals and standards, and in so doing, they add a bit sardonically, find themselves at a decided disadvantage with returned GIs who seem to them to have their minds on women rather than wives, on liquor instead of love, and on raising hell rather than children.

I'd like to give you all of the most interesting letters in full but space limitations make that impossible. Here are some extracts, however, from one written by a girl whose age I place at 22 or 23, since she was 17 when the war started.

After explaining that up until then she had associated "only with my own circle of friends who were boys and girls I had known for many years and who had the same ideals as I have," she goes on to say:

"Now that the war is over, and most of the fellows are home . . . it seems that no matter where you meet one of them he just doesn't have any respect for you. You can meet them at church-dances, in your office, in your neighborhood, and it is the same thing over and over again. They seem to have lost all their ideals while they were in service . . .

"There happen to be a number of girls, too, who weren't strong enough to stick to their ideals, to believe in them and wait for the day when the fellows will realize that they must have ideals or their marriages will never succeed. But I also know girls who will never forget their ideals even when some charming young man tries to talk them into doing it. But they are the girls who are sitting home nights, or going to the movies with their girl friends."

As for the charge that girls aren't interested in lads who haven't cars, or the money to show them a high time, or husbands who can't buy them everything they want, another of my feminine correspondents has this reply to make:

"The young man quoted in your article says that we girls want material things. That's not really true. I have yet to meet a decent fellow who would enjoy going for a nice walk as much as he'd enjoy stopping in at the nearest bar, or one who would like taking a nice bus or boat ride or just go visiting friends. If there are any such fellows around, I'd certainly like to know where they are hiding!

"We haven't changed, fellows. Take a good inventory of yourselves. You are the ones who have changed, and it's about time some one put you wise to that."

Well, boys, that's just a starter. I'll give you a few more samples of what the girls wrote about you in a day or so.

KLINE'S THE FAMILY STORE 23 BALTIMORE ST

If You Plan To Buy A New Car

Here are two practical suggestions:

1. It will pay you to see your automobile dealer now

He can tell you more than anybody else about deliveries, models and prices. If you list your name with the dealer he will be glad to send you descriptive literature and other useful information as it is available. And when the cars are rolling off the assembly lines, your dealer will be in a position to get your car faster, if you cooperate with him now.

2. It will pay you to finance your new car purchase through The First National Bank

The First National Bank will finance your car at the low rate of $5 per hundred per year on the amount borrowed. Here's the way this plan works:

suppose your car, including insurance, amounts to	$1200
Down payment of 1/3	400
Your loan amounts to	800
Your interest cost	40
Total amount borrowed	840
Payable in 12 monthly payments	70

The loan can be extended to a period of 15 months, if you desire. If you wish, you can include the cost of insurance in your loan. The only charge is $5 per hundred per year on the amount borrowed. We make no other charges. You can request of your dealer that your purchase be financed through this bank. You do not have to be a depositor in the First National Bank to take advantage of this plan.

RUPTURE

Expert Coming Here Again

GEO. L. HOWE

Well-known expert, of Indianapolis, and ex-U. S. Army Medical Corpsman, will personally demonstrate his method without charge at the Fort Cumberland Hotel, Cumberland, Friday, July 11th from 1 P. M. to 6 P. M.

Mr. Howe says the Howe method contracts the openings in remarkably short time on the average case, regardless of the size or location of the rupture, and no matter how much you lift or strain, and puts you back to work the same day as efficient as before you were ruptured.

The Howe Rupture Shield has no leg strap; waterproof, sanitary, practically indestructible, and can be worn while bathing. Each shield is skillfully molded and fitted to the parts under heat, which gives a perfect fit and satisfaction.

Girls Reply To Complaints Of Vets Who Claim War Changed Them

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Well, boys, you certainly crawled out on the end of a limb when you wrote me those letters complaining that the girls you came back to after the war weren't the same ones you left behind.

The girls have plenty to say to you about that, and though they say it very politely, in the letters they've written me replying to your charges, they make it clear that they think the shoe is on the other foot.

Their idea is that you're looking at things hindside too; that you're the ones who've changed, not they. They think if you'd stayed the same, you'd find the girls just as nice and just as companionable and just as desirable as they ever were. But because you've come home with a very different viewpoint from the one you had when you went away, you've got yourselves mixed up and have jumped to the conclusion that it's the other fellow who's changed.

Oh, the girls admit to having grown older and wiser. What would you expect, after several years, and a horrifying war, have passed over their heads? They admit, too, that in the process of growing up, and in the confusion of the topsy-turvy world in which they had to live, some of them here and there became bewildered and lost their heads.

But in the main, they insist, most of them held on to their basic ideals and standards, and in so doing, they add a bit sardonically, find themselves at a decided disadvantage with returned GIs who seem to them to have their minds on women rather than wives, on liquor instead of love, and on raising hell rather than children.

I'd like to give you all of the most interesting letters in full but space limitations make that impossible. Here are some extracts, however, from one written by a girl whose age I place at 22 or 23, since she was 17 when the war started.

After explaining that up until then she had associated "only with my own circle of friends who were boys and girls I had known for many years and who had the same ideals as I have," she goes on to say:

"Now that the war is over, and most of the fellows are home . . . it seems that no matter where you meet one of them he just doesn't have any respect for you. You can meet them at church-dances, in your office, in your neighborhood, and it is the same thing over and over again. They seem to have lost all their ideals while they were in service . . .

"There happen to be a number of girls, too, who weren't strong enough to stick to their ideals, to believe in them and wait for the day when the fellows will realize that they must have ideals or their marriages will never succeed. But I also know girls who will never forget their ideals even when some charming young man tries to talk them into doing it. But they are the girls who are sitting home nights, or going to the movies with their girl friends."

As for the charge that girls aren't interested in lads who haven't cars, or the money to show them a high time, or husbands who can't buy them everything they want, another of my feminine correspondents has this reply to make:

"The young man quoted in your article says that we girls want material things. That's not really true. I have yet to meet a decent fellow who would enjoy going for a nice walk as much as he'd enjoy stopping in at the nearest bar, or one who would like taking a nice bus or boat ride or just go visiting friends. If there are any such fellows around, I'd certainly like to know where they are hiding!

"We haven't changed, fellows. Take a good inventory of yourselves. You are the ones who have changed, and it's about time some one put you wise to that."

Well, boys, that's just a starter. I'll give you a few more samples of what the girls wrote about you in a day or so.

If You Plan To Buy A New Car

Here are two practical suggestions:

1. It will pay you to see your automobile dealer now

He can tell you more than anybody else about deliveries, models and prices. If you list your name with the dealer he will be glad to send you descriptive literature and other useful information as it is available. And when the cars are rolling off the assembly lines, your dealer will be in a position to get your car faster, if you cooperate with him now.

2. It will pay you to finance your new car purchase through The First National Bank

The First National Bank will finance your car at the low rate of $5 per hundred per year on the amount borrowed. Here's the way this plan works:

suppose your car, including insurance, amounts to	$1200
Down payment of 1/3	400
Your loan amounts to	800
Your interest cost	40
Total amount borrowed	840
Payable in 12 monthly payments	70

The loan can be extended to a period of 15 months, if you desire. If you wish, you can include the cost of insurance in your loan. The only charge is $5 per hundred per year on the amount borrowed. We make no other charges. You can request of your dealer that your purchase be financed through this bank. You do not have to be a depositor in the First National Bank to take advantage of this plan.

RUPTURE

GEO. L. HOWE

Well-known expert, of Indianapolis, and ex-U. S. Army Medical Corpsman, will personally demonstrate his method without charge at the Fort Cumberland Hotel, Cumberland, Friday, July 11th from 1 P. M. to 6 P. M.

Mr. Howe says the Howe method contracts the openings in remarkably short time on the average case, regardless of the size or location of the rupture, and no matter how much you lift or strain, and puts you back to work the same day as efficient as before you were ruptured.

The Howe Rupture Shield has no leg strap; waterproof, sanitary, practically indestructible, and can be worn while bathing. Each shield is skillfully molded and fitted to the parts under heat, which gives a perfect fit and satisfaction.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, July 8.—I almost thought Anne Baxter was lost, strayed or stolen. She's been out of the picture, or should I say "pictures" ever since winning the Oscar for the best femme supporting performance in "Razor's Edge."

But, Academy award winners aren't to be cast about lightly, so Darryl Zanuck has been waiting for just the right thing for her. Anne will co-star with Dana Andrews in "Spoonhandle," the Ruth Moore best seller about a young couple who live on a lobster fishing island and who fall in love when they adopt a small boy.

Davies

By the time you read this—Henry King, the director, will already be on his way to Cape Cod to film the atmosphere right in its own territory. More and more, 20th is going in for actual backgrounds—they started the idea—and it's a good one.

I always hoped when Marion Davies joined MGM, she would remake "Belle of New York," the William A. Brady play. It was one of the first pictures she ever made. She sold the rights to Metro, but she retired from the screen before it was remade.

I know she'll be interested in hearing that June Allyson is going to star in "Belle of New York" as a musical, because she has several times expressed interest in June.

With June, will be Peter Lawford—the two kids who are the idols of the bobby soxers. With the exception of new music added to the score, it will keep its charm and quaintness.

Cornell Wilde should be a happy man this a. m. His wife, whom he adores and considers only a slightly less gifted actress than Bette Davis, Ingrid Bergman and Bernhardt rolled into one—gets a big role at last.

The lady, Patricia Knight, rounds out the quartet starring in "The Fabulous Texan" at Republic with William Elliott, John Carroll and Catherine McLeod—and her role is a honey.

Well, now we should see if she is on her way. Cornel has always said all she needed was a chance. Goodness knows, he has done his bit boosting her. In fact, it is an elaborate test he made with Pat that cinched the deal with producer Eddie Grainger.

There isn't a little girl nine years old who wouldn't envy Luana Patten today if they could see the dressing room Walt Disney arranged for her as a present for her ninth birthday. There are Disney characters all over the wall, and it's arranged exactly like a doll's house.

In Luana's last picture, "Fun and Fancy Free," Charlie McCarthy, Edgar Bergen's Charlie, that is, is her boy friend—and you can be sure there are pictures of Charlie in the new dressing room, which is the most unique one, I venture to say, in all Hollywood, or anywhere else.

Chatter in Hollywood: I want to say right out loud here in print that Lana Turner has been keeping her word to the letter, that she's turned over a new leaf. She's been conspicuous by her absence at most of the night spots. She is sincerely in love with Tyrone Power, and he, apparently, is just as much in love with her. They did go stepping one evening and danced together for the first time.

When Lana told me this was it, I wasn't sure she knew her own mind. But now I'm convinced this is on the up and up. She's lost pounds, too, and has her old blonde hair. She has never looked as well.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Jack Carson and his estranged wife, Kay Germaine, had the golfers at Lakeside agog. Yes, they were together, but I'm sorry it's not a reconciliation.

Want a laugh? The King Brothers deny they will do the life of "Bugsy" Siegel. Whoever said they would?

Vic Orsatti walked into the Mocambo with Ann Miller on his arm and ran smack into his ex, Marie McDonald, who was, of course, with Harry Karl. They all got together for a drink. Well, Vic still represents Marie.

Betty Avery Drown, who didn't stay in Europe very long, at Ciro's with Tony Martin. Also glimpsed in a ringside seat were Rory Calhoun and Faith Domerque. I always call her Faith Dorn.

Noel Coward is interested in acquiring the film rights to "Mr. Smith Came From London." It's the autobiography of Sir Aubrey Smith.

Mary and Madeline Foy, Charley's two sisters, opened in his supper club over the weekend. They are doing the same act they did 33 years ago when they were part of "The Seven Little Foys" in vaudeville.

Sales Tax Confusion Appears On Decrease

On the basis of daily inquiries made at the office of the Chamber of Commerce, confusion over the two per cent state sales tax appears to be diminishing.

Harold W. Smith, secretary, said 25 to 30 inquiries were received daily when the tax first became effective but that this number has decreased to but a few.

State Comptroller James J. Lacy said yesterday that a state-wide check licenses will be made by a corps of investigators. Help to merchants who have collection problems will be included, Lacy added.

"UNBLOCK" your DIGESTIVE TRACT

And Stop Dosing Your Stomach With Soda and Alkalizers

Don't expect to get real relief from headache, sour stomach, gas and bad breath by taking soda and other alkalizers if the true cause of your trouble is constipation.

In this case, your real trouble is not in the stomach at all. But in the intestinal tract where 80% of your food is digested. And when the lower part gets blocked food may fail to digest properly.

What you want for real relief is something to "unblock" your lower intestinal tract. Something to clean it out effectively—help Nature get back on her feet.

Get Carter's Pills right now. Take as directed. They gently and effectively "unblock" your digestive tract. This permits all 5 of Nature's own digestive juices to mix better with your food. You get genuine relief from indigestion so you can feel really good again.

Bob Burns Will Be Whiteman's Guest Tonight

By C. K. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, July 8—Bob Burns, who since his last NBC sponsor decided to take on another type of show, does not now have a regular series, will drop around for the Paul Whiteman program on ABC at 8:30 Wednesday night to do some guesting. The occasion is the program's salute to the National Guard's new 39th Arkansas division, Arkansas being Bob's home state. This broadcast will come from Hollywood.

The two new Wednesday night dramas on two networks and dealing with human behavior problems are getting ready for their second editions. That on MBS at 9 is Shadows of the Mind, using the cases of a fictional pschiatrist. That on CBS is Doorway to Life, treating on psychological problems of childhood. It's at 9:30.

Another drama spot, the 9 o'clock Big Story on NBC is to have "The Reporter and the Bloodhound," based on the detective experience of Robert C. Dunn, reporter on the La Crosse, Wis., Tribune.

Vic Damone, now a Saturday night singer for the regular list on CBS, gets a guest billing in the newly introduced Bob Q. Lewis comedy, which is trying to produce laughs five nights a week at 6, each a half-hour. Lewis also has the help of Singing Cathy Norman and George Wright's instrumental quartet, which includes an organ.

Tex and Jinx, the Mr. and Mrs. Broadcasters, will be back on NBC at 8 with some more of their guests.

Ted and Jinks on Big Time

After the first five minutes of the Tex McCrary-Jinx Falkenburg show (NBC 9 p. m., E.D.T., Wednesdays), I was fearful there'd be about ten minutes of dead air at the end of the program. The McCrarys have conducted a leisurely ad lib breakfast program over WNBC in New York (8:30 a. m. E.D.T.) and the new network show is, I guess, their first experience with a script. They appear to regard scripts with hostility. They raced through their lines as if trying to get them behind them as rapidly as possible. Somehow it all came out on the button, so maybe they planned it that way. However, if they fight it out along those lines all summer, the pace will kill them.

John Crosby

On their breakfast show, the McCrarys chatter a bit about current news and about themselves and then interview one or two guest stars. Ted and Jinx are both clever people, though Jinx manages to conceal her brains skillfully and, I think, inadvisably under a mantle of bubbling charm. Neither of them is afraid of being intelligent and they expect their audience to follow along. Their evening show is an elaboration of the breakfast program. Their guests are considerably larger bore than those of the daytime show and at least one of them is expected to do something besides talk.

On their network debut, the guests were Mary Martin and Billy Rose, two people you can't pick up just anywhere. The guests are required to work very hard for their stipend and at the same breakneck speed as the McCrarys. Miss Martin, for instance, sang seven songs in half an hour, which is more than Bing Crosby gets off on his program. Five of the songs—an operatic aria "Il Bacio") in swing, "My Heart Belongs to Daddy," "Speak Low," "Mountain High, Valley Low," "Wait Till the Sun Shines, Nellie"—she sped through in about five minutes, which must be some kind of a record. Then Mr. Rose came aboard. The McCrarys gave him a tremendous build-up as a song writer, theatrical producer, typing champion and columnist. "And did you know that the star of the Aquacade, Eleanor Holm, is now Mrs. Rose?" murmured Jinx. Well, if there is any one who doesn't know that, there's no point in telling him at this late date. He wouldn't know who Eleanor Holm is anyway.

Mr. Rose, I imagine, hasn't heard so many compliments about himself since Dick Maney was his press agent. He responded to them by deprecating himself. "I'm just a guy with a good press agent." (I'm sure Mr. Rose doesn't believe that statement.) He went on to contribute a couple of carefully tailored wisecracks about the beauty experts racket. "Any one who can cross a street without a seeing eye dog can pick a pretty girl." Mr. Maney once equipped Rose with a whole catalogue of suitable wisecracks for all occasions and I guess Rose still has a couple lying around his desk drawer.

Besides the guest stars, the McCrarys have picked up Ken Carpenter and a piano. Mr. Carpenter announces. The piano accompanies. Somehow, this frail combination sounds like a much bigger and more expensive show than it is. The program is also distinguished by what I can only refer to as a slightly acid New York touch. Miss Martin, for instance, is more a New York celebrity than one of the Hollywood variety, though, of course, Mr. Rose belongs to the world. Tonight the guests will be Mel Torme, a sexy male night club singer not very well known outside New York, and Jimmy Stewart, on whose fame the sun never sets. If all the guests are of this hi quality (I've been reading gasoline ads), this ought to be quite a show indeed.

Just how well the McCrarys go over on the big time depends on that mysterious alchemy—personality. On the basis of the first show, they're off to a flying start. I have just a couple of suggestions. At the opening of the show they expressed the desire to run a weekly newspaper in New York. "I'd like to print only nice things about nice people," said Jinx sweetly. "No death and no divorces." This note of kindly tolerance hangs heavily over their programs. Both Ted and Jinx bandy compliments around with their guest stars like baseballs. Every one loves every one else a trifle too openly. This sort of thing is not, heaven knows, confined to the McCrarys but it shouldn't be on a show of this nature. Don't be rude to them, folks; just don't overwhelm them with kindness.

The McCrarys also participate in the commercials, which I don't think is wise. I must be right, too, because for the life of me I can't remember what they were advertising.

He wouldn't know who Eleanor Holm is anyway.

Mr. Rose, I imagine, hasn't heard so many compliments about himself since Dick Maney was his press agent. He responded to them by deprecating himself. "I'm just a guy with a good press agent." (I'm sure Mr. Rose doesn't believe that statement.) He went on to contribute a couple of carefully tailored wisecracks about the beauty experts racket. "Any one who can cross a street without a seeing eye dog can pick a pretty girl." Mr. Maney once equipped Rose with a whole catalogue of suitable wisecracks for all occasions and I guess Rose still has a couple lying around his desk drawer.

Besides the guest stars, the McCrarys have picked up Ken Carpenter and a piano. Mr. Carpenter announces. The piano accompanies. Somehow, this frail combination sounds like a much bigger and more expensive show than it is. The program is also distinguished by what I can only refer to as a slightly acid New York touch. Miss Martin, for instance, is more a New York celebrity than one of the Hollywood variety, though, of course, Mr. Rose belongs to the world. Tonight the guests will be Mel Torme, a sexy male night club singer not very well known outside New York, and Jimmy Stewart, on whose fame the sun never sets. If all the guests are of this hi quality (I've been reading gasoline ads), this ought to be quite a show indeed.

Just how well the McCrarys go over on the big time depends on that mysterious alchemy—personality. On the basis of the first show, they're off to a flying start. I have just a couple of suggestions. At the opening of the show they expressed the desire to run a weekly newspaper in New York. "I'd like to print only nice things about nice people," said Jinx sweetly. "No death and no divorces." This note of kindly tolerance hangs heavily over their programs. Both Ted and Jinx bandy compliments around with their guest stars like baseballs. Every one loves every one else a trifle too openly. This sort of thing is not, heaven knows, confined to the McCrarys but it shouldn't be on a show of this nature. Don't be rude to them, folks; just don't overwhelm them with kindness.

The McCrarys also participate in the commercials, which I don't think is wise. I must be right, too, because for the life of me I can't remember what they were advertising.

An eclipse is caused when the moon comes between the sun and the earth and casts a long shadow along the earth's surface. If the sun is completely obscured to the earthly observer; the eclipse is total; if part of the sun remains visible, the eclipse is partial.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our friends for their kindness and sympathy during our recent bereavement, the death of Dayton U. Orr. Also, we wish to thank those who sent flowers and loaned their cars for the funeral, and we are especially grateful to the Rev. Charles E. Shaw, the Park Methodist Choir, and Ft. Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, for their services.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our friends for their kindness and sympathy during our recent bereavement, the death of Dayton U. Orr. Also, we wish to thank those who sent flowers and loaned their cars for the funeral, and we are especially grateful to the Rev. Charles E. Shaw, the Park Methodist Choir, and Ft. Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, for their services.

Record In Upward Push Of Stock Market Is Set With New Advance

NEW YORK, July 8 (AP) — Stocks pushed upward today for the ninth successive session, a record since the boom of 1929, following signing of the coal wage pact. Late selling on the lengthy swing, however, reduced most extreme gains running to 2 or more points and put a number of market pivotals in the minus column.

Transfers of 1,390,000 shares compared with 1,050,000 Monday and were the best since May 19.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was up .3 of a point at 66.6, highest level since last March 6, and a gain for nine sessions of 3.2 points. It was the broadest market since May 19. Of 1,048 issues registering, 599 rose and 207 fell.

Retaining plus signs were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, General Motors, International Harvester, General Electric, Owens-Illinois, Pennsylvania Railroad, Southern Railway and Norfolk & Western.

Among forward curb movers were Kaiser-Frazier, Colonial Sand, Colonial Mills and Eastern Gas. Turnover here was 350,000 shares versus 280,000 yesterday.

Volume expanded to $4,060,000 from Monday's $3,390,000.

The new money market was dominated by sale at competitive bidding of $125,000,000 New York Telephone Co.'s refunding bonds which were awarded a syndicate headed by Halsey Stuart & Co.

Other deals involved $8,000,000 of Cleveland, Ohio Bonds, and 133,383 common shares of Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co.

U. S. Governments improved in the over-the-counter market with the victory loan 2½s of December 1967-'72 up 2/32 at 102 24/32 bid.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION
Mary Katherine Dawson, Plaintiff, vs. Irvin Thomas Dawson, Defendant.
No. 20041 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.
The object of this suit is to procure a decree of divorce a vinculo matrimonii, divorcing the plaintiff from the defendant. The bill states that the parties were married at Hagerstown, Maryland, on December 6th, 1941; that no children were born of said marriage; that defendant deserted and abandoned the plaintiff without just cause or reason, and that said desertion has continued uninterrupted for over eighteen months and is final and deliberate and beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation; that the plaintiff is a resident of Allegany County, Maryland, whereas the defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland.
It is thereupon this 24th. day of June, 1947, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, in Equity, ordered that the plaintiff by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Allegany County once a week for four successive weeks, before the 26th. day of July, 1947, giving notice to the absent defendant of the object and substance of this bill, and warning him to be and appear in this court in person or by solicitor on or before the 19th day of July, 1947, and show cause why a decree should not be passed as prayed.
ROBERT JACKSON, Clerk.

Council Accepts State's Offer To Pave Main Street

By KATHERINE FISHER

MOOREFIELD, W. Va., July 8 — The new city council of Moorefield has voted to accept the West Virginia State Road Commission's proposal to pave Main Street. The project calls for the removal of 24 trees.

Three property owners objected to removal of trees on their property but Mayor P. W. Clarks stated that the council felt that the advantages offered the town by a $75,000 paving project far outshadowed the removal of a few trees. He also said that most of the trees are scarred and some are in dangerous condition.

The council also has voted to install parking meters in the business section of the town.

Water Rates Raised

Acting under the authorization of the state Public Service Commission, the council adopted the new water rates for the town. The minimum monthly charge will be $1.25 instead of $1, effective July 1. This minimum is for the first thousand gallons or fraction thereof. The next four thousand gallons will be at a rate of 30 cents per thousand instead of the old rate of 25 cents, the next 25,000 gallons will be at a rate of 25 cents per thousand gallons and over 30,000 gallons will be at a rate of 17 cents instead of 15 cents. A five per cent penalty will be added to all water bills if not paid by the 15th of the month. No more water service will be given to residents outside of Moorefield until all residents in the town limits are served and only then if the facilities are adequate to handle it. Water service outside the town limits will be installed only if the costs of laying the lines and the installation of the meter are borne by the user.

Committees Appointed

Mayor Clarke announced the appointment of the committees for the town government. They include: baugh; street and alley, Earl B. Thrush; sewer and sanitation, Raymond Sindy and John W. Rohrbaugh; stree and alley, Earl B. Thrush and Raymond Sindy; town propery, C. B. Hiett and Bill Brane; and law enforcement, Bill Crane and John Rohrbaugh.

The mayor and the city attorney were authorized by the council to draw up an agreement with the contractor submitting the lowest bid to complete the town flood control project.

Plans are completed for the Wardensville Lions Club Charter Night ceremonies to be held at the Wardensville Graded School tomorrow night. John V. Anderson, District Governor of this section of West Virginia for Lions International, will present the charter and make the main address.

H. Gus Muntzing, Moorefield, former district governor of the Lions Clubs, will act as toastmaster and will be introduced by J. Allen Hawkins. Ervin Emswiller, president of the newly formed club will accept the charter from District Governor Anderson. John T. St. Clair, president of the Moorefield Lions Club, will present the new civic club with the traditional gong and gavel. The invocation will be given by Rev. H. P. Stelling.

Officers and directors of the new club are Ervin Emswiller, president; C. J. Cunningham, secretary; Harry Dietz, treasurer; Charles Davis, first vice president; Clifton Jenkins; second vicep resident; Walter Sager, third vice president; Mansfield Jordan, Lion Tamer, Kenna McKeever, tail twister; and directors, J. Allen Hawkins, W. H. Warden, R. C. Hott and Warner Orndorff.

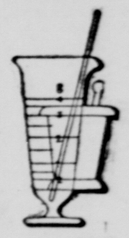
THESE ARE THE BENEFACTORS



★ One of the greatest accomplishments of civilization has been the remarkable progress made in increasing the average life expectancy. In the Middle Ages the average life span was twenty years. In the seventeenth century it had advanced to twenty-five years. Through the years there has been a steady increase until, today, the life expectancy is sixty-three years for men and sixty-six for women.

Authorities agree that the most productive years of life lie between the ages of forty and sixty. Medicine and the allied sciences have thus been indirectly responsible for all progress. Good minds that had sickened and died before reaching their zenith now live to apply the judgment and experience of maturity. As pharmacists, we are proud of our function in the distribution of lifesaving medical supplies.

Record In Upward Push Of Stock Market Is Set With New Advance

NEW YORK, July 8 (AP) — Stocks pushed upward today for the ninth successive session, a record since the boom of 1929, following signing of the coal wage pact. Late selling on the lengthy swing, however, reduced most extreme gains running to 2 or more points and put a number of market pivotals in the minus column.

Transfers of 1,390,000 shares compared with 1,050,000 Monday and were the best since May 19.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was up .3 of a point at 66.6, highest level since last March 6, and a gain for nine sessions of 3.2 points. It was the broadest market since May 19. Of 1,048 issues registering, 599 rose and 207 fell.

Retaining plus signs were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, General Motors, International Harvester, General Electric, Owens-Illinois, Pennsylvania Railroad, Southern Railway and Norfolk & Western.

Among forward curb movers were Kaiser-Frazier, Colonial Sand, Colonial Mills and Eastern Gas. Turnover here was 350,000 shares versus 280,000 yesterday.

Volume expanded to $4,060,000 from Monday's $3,390,000.

The new money market was dominated by sale at competitive bidding of $125,000,000 New York Telephone Co.'s refunding bonds which were awarded a syndicate headed by Halsey Stuart & Co.

Other deals involved $8,000,000 of Cleveland, Ohio Bonds, and 133,383 common shares of Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co.

U. S. Governments improved in the over-the-counter market with the victory loan 2½s of December 1967-72 up 2/32 at 102 24/32 bid.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION
No. 20041 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.
The object of this suit is to procure a decree of divorce a vinculo matrimonii, divorcing the plaintiff from the defendant. The bill states that the parties were married at Hagerstown, Maryland, on December 6th, 1941; that no children were born of said marriage; that defendant deserted and abandoned the plaintiff without just cause or reason, and that said desertion has continued uninterrupted for over eighteen months and is final and deliberate and beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation; that the plaintiff is a resident of Allegany County, Maryland, whereas the defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland.
It is thereupon this 24th. day of June, 1947, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, in Equity, ordered that the plaintiff by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Allegany County once a week for four successive weeks, before the 26th. day of July, 1947, giving notice to the absent defendant of the object and substance of this bill, and warning him to be and appear in this court in person or by solicitor on or before the 19th day of July, 1947, and show cause why a decree should not be passed as prayed.
ROBERT JACKSON, Clerk.

By KATHERINE FISHER

MOOREFIELD, W. Va., July 8 — The new city council of Moorefield has voted to accept the West Virginia State Road Commission's proposal to pave Main Street. The project calls for the removal of 24 trees.

Three property owners objected to removal of trees on their property but Mayor P. W. Clarks stated that the council felt that the advantages offered the town by a $75,000 paving project far outshadowed the removal of a few trees. He also said that most of the trees are scarred and some are in dangerous condition.

Water Rates Raised

Acting under the authorization of the state Public Service Commission, the council adopted the new water rates for the town. The minimum monthly charge will be $1.25 instead of $1, effective July 1. This minimum is for the first thousand gallons or fraction thereof. The next four thousand gallons will be at a rate of 30 cents per thousand instead of the old rate of 25 cents, the next 25,000 gallons will be at a rate of 25 cents per thousand gallons and over 30,000 gallons will be at a rate of 17 cents instead of 15 cents. A five per cent penalty will be added to all water bills if not paid by the 15th of the month. No more water service will be given to residents outside of Moorefield until all residents in the town limits are served and only then if the facilities are adequate to handle it. Water service outside the town limits will be installed only if the costs of laying the lines and the installation of the meter are borne by the user.

Committees Appointed

Mayor Clarke announced the appointment of the committees for the town government. They include: baugh; street and alley, Earl B. Thrush; sewer and sanitation, Raymond Sindy and John W. Rohrbaugh; stree and alley, Earl B. Thrush and Raymond Sindy; town propery, C. B. Hiett and Bill Brane; and law enforcement, Bill Crane and John Rohrbaugh.

The mayor and the city attorney were authorized by the council to draw up an agreement with the contractor submitting the lowest bid to complete the town flood control project.

Plans are completed for the Wardensville Lions Club Charter Night ceremonies to be held at the Wardensville Graded School tomorrow night. John V. Anderson, District Governor of this section of West Virginia for Lions International, will present the charter and make the main address.

H. Gus Muntzing, Moorefield, former district governor of the Lions Clubs, will act as toastmaster and will be introduced by J. Allen Hawkins. Ervin Emswiller, president of the newly formed club will accept the charter from District Governor Anderson. John T. St. Clair, president of the Moorefield Lions Club, will present the new civic club with the traditional gong and gavel. The invocation will be given by Rev. H. P. Stelling.

Officers and directors of the new club are Ervin Emswiller, president; C. J. Cunningham, secretary; Harry Dietz, treasurer; Charles Davis, first vice president; Clifton Jenkins; second vicep president; Walter Sager, third vice president; Mansfield Jordan, Lion Tamer, Kenna McKeever, tail twister; and directors, J. Allen Hawkins, W. H. Warden, R. C. Hott and Warner Orndorff.

THESE ARE THE BENEFACTORS

★ One of the greatest accomplishments of civilization has been the remarkable progress made in increasing the average life expectancy. In the Middle Ages the average life span was twenty years. In the seventeenth century it had advanced to twenty-five years. Through the years there has been a steady increase until, today, the life expectancy is sixty-three years for men and sixty-six for women.

Authorities agree that the most productive years of life lie between the ages of forty and sixty. Medicine and the allied sciences have thus been indirectly responsible for all progress. Good minds that had sickened and died before reaching their zenith now live to apply the judgment and experience of maturity. As pharmacists, we are proud of our function in the distribution of lifesaving medical supplies.

Hearing Held On Celanese Man's Benefit Claim

Decision In Test Case Is Pending

An all-day hearing was held yesterday in City Hall auditorium on a test case to determine whether or not employes at the Celanese plant may collect unemployment benefits for the period from June 28, when the recent strike was settled, until full production was resumed.

Bernard J. Doyle, Baltimore, special examiner for the Maryland Unemployment Compensation Board, presided. The case was taken under advisement, with no immediate decision being announced.

The test case was brought in the name of J. Cobey Snyder on behalf of plant employes who were not recalled to work immediately after operations were resumed. As of yesterday, all but 84 employes, 35 in the CA department and 49 in the textile department, had been recalled. Snyder, who works in the CA department, was idle during the week ending July 5 but was recalled yesterday.

Allan Testifies

Edward R. Allan, plant personnel manager, testified that delay in recalling employes was a natural consequence of the strike, because the nature of plant operations required a reasonable length of time to resume full production. He said that full production was reached within 10 days after the strike was settled.

In response to a charge that the company had cut down production in the CA department after the strike, Allan explained that the company plans to hold that department's production to about 80 per cent of normal for the next month or so because the Celco plant at Bridgewater, Va., is not yet ready to use the material.

He said that the 20 per cent cut in the department's production is expected to have little effect on employes, most of whom will either be on their regular vacations or will be transferred temporarily to other departments.

William Boyd Coleman, president of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, and other union members charged that delay in recalling CA department employes was caused when supervisory personnel took materials out of production channels during the strike. Allan said that this was done for salvage purposes.

James Alfred Avirett, local attorney, and his brother, John W. Avirett, II, partner in the Baltimore law firm of Piper, Watkins, Avirett and Egerton, acted as counsel for the company.

Court Ruling Cited

They referred to a recent ruling by the Maryland Court of Appeals in the case of Harold D. Saunders versus the Maryland Unemployment Compensation Board. Saunders, an employe at the Bethlehem Steel Company plant in Baltimore asked for unemployment compensation when he was not recalled to work immediately following settlement of a strike at that plant. The court ruled against his appeal on the ground that the steel company was unable to resume full production at once.

Five claimants for unemployment compensation covering the strike period at the Celanese plant failed to appear at the hearing. Albert Avnet, Baltimore attorney, counsel for the employes, conceded that unemployment of the five claimants was caused by the strike and that therefore no compensation could be allowed for that period, under state law and the Servicemen's Readjustment Act of 1944.

Francis A. Kenney, manager of the local office of the Unemployment Compensation Division of the Maryland Unemployment Compensation Board, said after the hearing that less than 100 Celanese employes have filed claims at the office for compensation for the period immediately following settlement of the Celanese strike.

To be eligible for compensation, he said, a worker must have earned less than the weekly benefit amount in any given week. Under state law, benefit amounts range from $7 to $25.

Local 'Ham' Relays Medical Advice To Tiny Pacific Atoll

A Cumberland radio "ham" became an agent of mercy yesterday morning. While tinkering with his amateur radio set he picked up a call of distress from tiny Palmyra Atoll in the Pacific south of the Hawaiian group, 5,000 miles from this city.

Leroy R. Jenkins, 708 Louisiana Avenue, at 7:30 a. m. picked up a call for medical advice from an Army radio operator stationed on the island. The man, Steve Sherwood Barnes, Phoenixville, Pa., said that an Army plane had crashed and burned on its takeoff for Oahu.

One man was reported to have lost a leg and an arm and others aboard were in a state of shock. The radio operator said that medical supplies were available but no one on the island could administer anesthetic. Jenkins telephoned Memorial Hospital and received instructions on the method of administering morphine to the injured man from Dr. Donald B. Grove and relayed them to the island.

First word of the crash was received by the Seventh Air Force early yesterday morning and an hour after the message was received an Army Surgeon and four medical corpsmen flew 1,000 miles to the accident.

The major said he was from Cumberland and attended Allegany High School, Jenkins said, "but I was unable to catch his name."

Jenkins said the talks continued until about 9 a. m. when a New York amateur "took over" and he was able to go to work. He is employed by the Texas Oil Company in South End.

Second Shift Kelly Workers To Meet

Members of Local 26, United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastic Workers of America, CIO, who are employed on the second shift at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company will meet this afternoon at 1 o'clock at the union hall.

First and third shift workers met last night for a report on the progress of negotiations on changes in the contract, union officials said.

Origin Unknown; Starts In Cellar

While Filsinger placed a value of approximately $14,500 on his comparatively new home, he was unable to estimate his loss. He said, however, that it was partly covered by insurance.

Seven fire companies fought the flames which burned and badly charred studding throughout the partitions of the home, built in 1940.

Mrs. Filsinger and two children were at home when the former smelled smoke and turned in an alarm to the Frostburg Volunteer Fire Company and the Clarysville Volunteer Fire Company at 3:30 p. m.

Volunteer firemen from LaVale, Cresaptown, Mt. Savage, Midland and Lonaconing also were summoned to the blaze after the Frostburg department arrived.

Handicapped to some extent by an inadequate water supply, Frostburg firemen dammed up a small creek across Route 40 from the Filsinger home and in the rear of Filsinger's store. They pumped water from the creek while the Clarysville firemen carried water to the scene in the pumper's booster tank from the Clarysville reservoir.

In order to reach the flames, firemen were forced to chop several holes in the weatherboarding and spectators said smoke literally poured out once the openings were made. Few flames were visible to spectators.

George Filsinger, brother of the owner, said the blaze apparently started in the cellar. Firemen said it spread rapidly through partitions and up to the roof.

The fire was brought under control after being fought for an hour and a half. In addition to the fire damage, there was some damage from water.

Furniture, while some of it was damaged by water, was carried from the house by firemen and spectators who took it to the homes of neighbors.

Boys 4-H Camp To Open Sunday In Garrett County

The annual 4-H Boys Club Tri-County Camp, known as Camp Algrwo, will open at Pleasant Valley Recreation Area in Garrett County for one week beginning Sunday night, according to Joseph M. Steger, assistant county farm agent. About 75 boys from Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties will attend.

Sherid Wilson, of College Park, assistant state club agent, will have charge of the camp, assisted by Steger, Raymond Mueller, of Washington county, in charge of crafts, and John Cotton of College Park in charge of swimming and athletics. The camp program will include educational and recreational activity.

Those who have registered from this county to date include, Robert Miller, Jr., Midland; Albert Tase and Ronald Tase, LaVale; James Smith, Little Orleans; Robert Banser, Frostburg; Jack Horchler, Union Grove; Virgil Twigg, Spring Gap; Ted Robeson, Frostburg; Thomas W. Lewis, Jr., Winchester Road; William Hardesty, Cresaptown; Eldon Long, Oldtown; Paul Adams, Eckhart; Harry Hitchins, Frostburg; Paul Bender, Frostburg; Alan LaPorta, Eckhart; Charles Cartwright, Oldtown; Glenn Lewis, Frostburg; Arthur Johnson, Flintstone; Franklin Heavner, Union Grove; Eddie Orndorff, Rawlings; Thomas Miller, Oldtown; William Kennedy, LaVale; Russell Wade Yocum, McCoole, and Francis Ruffo.

Steger said yesterday that additional boys can register for camp and registrations will remain open until Friday.

City Water Service Ordinance Upheld

ANNAPOLIS, Md., July 8 —(AP)—An ordinance passed by the Cumberland City Council in 1936 to authorize collection of water service charges for each apartment in the same building was held valid by the State Court of Appeals today.

The ordinance was contested by David J. Lewis, who owns an apartment house at 328 Fayette Street, Cumberland. He appealed an Allegany County Circuit Court ruling that the city government acted legally.

Lewis argued that his building receives water through one service line and the supply is measured by one meter. He opposed the city's "minimum service charge" of $4.50 per quarter for each of the 13 apartments in the building.

The disputed ordinance gave the city the power to multiply its service charge by the number of units in a building which is served by one meter

World War I Vet Given Big Vote

Thomas R. "Pat" Farrell, 450 North Mechanic Street, a veteran of World War I, and employe of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, was elected commander of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, with a large majority, according to election results reported at the regular meeting last night.

Tie For Chaplain

A tie resulted in the balloting for chaplain. Paul W. Weisenmiller and Joseph L. Wolfe each polled 69 votes. Defeated was E. G. A. Snider with 39 votes. Wolfe indicated he would withdraw and concede the election to Weisenmiller. The post, under election rules tabled the question of the tie until the next meeting, pending a letter from Wolfe. If he does not put the withdrawal in writing, an election will be held to break the tie, it was indicated.

Delegates Chosen

Alternates elected include, William H. Treiber, Carl E. Wintermeyer, F. Patrick Allender, Robert E. MacMillan, C. William Teubner, James A. Hersh, Arthur H. Flurshutz, Adolph Pogell, James W. Sills, William E. Paisley, Charles G. Smith, George F. Crawford, Donald W. McIntyre, and Thomas L. Popp.

Extinguish Slight Blaze

Central Fire Company extinguished a slight blaze beneath the Metty Brace and Shoe Shop, 500 North Centre Street, last night at 10:35 o'clock. Firemen said leather dust from the machinery ignited, probably as a result of a short circuit. The blaze was under control within 10 minutes, they added.

Hebner Will Probated

The will of Charles O. Hebner, who died May 30 was filed for probate this morning in Orphans' Court and his widow, Mrs. Lola Hebner was bequeathed the entire estate. A son, Paul Hebner, was named executor of the estate.

Playground Supervisor Will Be Requested To Outline Program

Equipment Plans Will Be Asked

The City Playground Associations voted at their regular meeting in City Hall auditorium last night to request Mrs. Ralph Stein, city playground supervisor, to prepare an outline of the program she intends to institute at the various city playgrounds and to present it at the next meeting of the association, scheduled for July 17.

William H. Buchholtz, president, said that the request will be made in a formal letter in care of the Park Board. Mrs. Stein will also be asked to state the amount of equipment she intends to secure for each playground, he added.

Buchholtz said that he and other association officers plan to confer with Street Commissioner Myers G. Light within the next few days regarding "numerous complaints" received by the group from member playground associations on the alleged lack of co-operation from Mrs. Stein and the various playleaders.

He asserted that his group is anxious to continue co-operation with the Park Board and Mrs. Stein because members feel that their efforts on behalf of the playground program "are not getting anywhere."

Robert Taylor, representing the East Side Playground Association, said that his group, carrying out an agreement made at the last meeting of the overall group, drew up a list of regulations to be in effect at that playground. He said he had not been able to contact Mrs. Stein to give them to her, and Buchholtz said he would submit the proposed regulations to Light for his approval.

Delegates representing the Virginia Avenue Parent-Teacher Association, which is sponsoring a playground program at that school, reported that they have not yet received a sandbox and other equipment. They said, however, that Police Commissioner William V. Keegan has informed them he has collected balls and other small equipment for that playground.

The overall association decided to send notices to the Park Board and Mrs. Stein prior to all future meetings. Mayor Thomas S. Post and Light did not attend last night's meeting, and Mrs. Marguerite E. Findlay represented the board.

Member associations were urged to attend the July 17 meeting in City Hall at 7:30 p. m. Five playground groups were represented last night.

C Of C Will Elect 10 New Directors

Twenty members of the Chamber of Commerce were nominated for directors of the organization at the primary election held yesterday, and 10 directors for three-year terms will be chosen from that group at the annual meeting July 22 at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Nominees are Edmund S. Burke, Douglas R. Bowie, Rep. J. Glenn Beall, Mrs. Aurelia S. Becker, G. William Bibby, Harry J. Barton, W. Earle Cobey, F. Lee Fresh, Thomas E. Gilchrist, C. Philip Jolley, Benjamin M. Kamens, Joseph M. Naughton, Henry W. Price, Charles A. Piper, John J. Robinson, Jr., Earl C. Robertson, Fred T. Small, Robert L. Stallings, J. L. Towler and Edgar D. Vandegrift.

In addition to electing directors at the annual meeting, brief reports of the president, treasurer and other officials will be submitted. The reports will cover the fiscal year ending June 30.

Following the formal meeting there will be an opportunity for discussion and a social hour when light refreshments will be served.

Is Cut By Hatchet

3 Boys Splatter Eggs Over Home Of Slabtown Man

Youngsters Stung Upsetting Beehives

Twin brothers and their boy friend, all about 7 or 8 years old, virtually made an omlet of James Friddle's home at Slabtown, near Mt. Savage, yesterday afternoon.

The trio, according to Cpl. Harry Holsinger, broke a rear window in Friddle's home, crawled through the opening and spattered two and a half dozen eggs over the wallpaper and furniture in the small home.

Sometime while they were on Friddle's property, the boys overturned three or four beehives and suffered several stings apiece for their efforts.

Friddle, however, was badly stung on one hand when he righted the hives after returning home about 5 p. m. and seeing the damage.

Friddle, who believes the egg-spattering and hive-upsetting occurred about an hour and a half before he reached home, promptly notified police.

Cpl. Holsinger began an investigation and picked up the three boys, one at home and the twin brothers hiding in an outhouse near their home.

The officer said parents of the boys have agreed to make restitution and that more than likely no charges will be filed against the trio.

Petitions On Voting Machines Acknowledged

Allegany Commissioners yesterday received a letter from Bertram L. Boone, II, secretary of state, acklowledging receipt of 2,628 signatures to petitions asking for a referendum on the purchase of voting machines for Allegany County.

Unless further action is taken to contest the validity of the signatures, the Board will not be required to purchase voting machines unless the majority of voters casting ballots in November 1948, indicate that they are desired.

The General Assembly, at its recent session enacted two laws for the purchase of voting machines. One law made the purchase mandatory, and the other provided a bond issue or other means of financing the purchase.

County commissioners objected to spending $140,000 for machines at this time, claiming funds are needed for other purposes.

Officials of the Board of Election Supervisors and members of the Republican and Democratic State Central Committees of the county maintain the machines would prove more economical over a period of time, would speed up election returns and would eventually pay for themselves in savings by the reduced number of persons hired as election clerks and judges.

The financing plan provided for a cost of $7,000 per year over a 20-year period.

According to Boone's letter, the signatures have been forwarded to the Attorney General. A total of 2,628 names were signed to the petitions, which is more than the number required under the law to set an act of this kind aside pending a referendum. Ten percent of the total vote cast in the gubernatorial election is required.

Gets Governor's Picture

An autographed artist's pencil drawing of Gov. William Preston Lane, Jr., has been sent by the Governor to Mayor Thomas S. Post. The picture, extending the Governor's best wishes to the Mayor, will be hung in the Mayor's office in City Hall.

District Miners Await Word To Start To Work

Some Operators Still To Sign

There was practically no activity in the Western Maryland coal fields yesterday and little is expected today as miners adhere to their "no contract no work" policy.

None of the independent operators had signed the new wage agreements last night but it is indicated practically all operators in this region will sign.

Officials of United Mine Workers District No. 16, were in Washington, for the meeting with their president John L. Lewis, and at a late hour last night only David Watkins, international representative had returned. John T. Jones, district president; William J. Morgan, secretary-treasurer, and John P. Dolphin, international representative should be back this morning, Watkins indicated.

Watkins said telegrams are being sent to local unions where contracts are signed but it will probably be a couple of days before the mines resume full production. He said copies of the new agreements are available for any of the independent operators who want to sign them so they can resume production. He declared, "we have copies at the office for those who want them."

Railroad officials last night confirmed union representatives' statements that there had been no activity in the Upper Potomac and Georges Creek Regions and practically no newly mined coal moved over their lines. Cars have been placed on most sidings pending the resumption of production, it was indicated.

Miners in the area said they would await official word from union headquarters before returning to the pits and it was also indicated last night by operators that there will be little delay here as the mines affected by the new contract include all of District 16 mines, embracing Allegany and Garrett counties in Maryland, and Mineral, Tucker, Grant and Hampshire in West Virginia.

Watkins said last night telegrams had been sent to some locals in the district and some mines will work today but full production before the week's end is not anticipated.

Check Ballots In Recount Here

B. V. Gilchrist and S. E. Barnes, United States Senate investigators arrived here yesterday and began the task of inspecting ballot boxes and sealing them for shipment to Baltimore, where a recount will be made of votes cast in the disputed election of U. S. Senator Herbert R. O'Conor who defeated his Republican opponent, D. John Markey of Frederick, according to official returns.

Besides the two investigators, counsel for O'Conor and Markey, Clerk of Court Robert Jackson, members of the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors and their attorney were present at the Court House as boxes were sealed and labeled.

The 75 boxes were inspected and all unused ballots will probably be sent to Baltimore for tallying. Charles Ruzika is attorney for Markey while John Sherman and William C. Walsh, of this city, represent O'Conor.

Since it started early this year, the recount has moved through 13 counties and Baltimore City. Ten counties remain to be rechecked.

Restraining Order Signed In Hebb Case

Chief Judge William A. Huster signed an order yesterday instructing Dorsey G. Hebb to stay away from his home and refrain from molesting his wife Sarah E. Hebb, RFD No. 4, who filed a bill of complaint seeking divorce. The Court also instructed Hebb to pay his wife and their four children $25 per week temporary alimony. The couple married at Berkeley Springs, W. Va., November 29, 1933.

A decree was signed by Judge Huster granting absolute divorce to Margaret M. Miller from Albert Miller, 203 Charles Street. The couple married at Columbia, S. C., March 29, 1941, and separated December 3, 1945. She was given the right to resume her maiden name Margaret M. Locklear.

Court Settles Dispute Over Partnership

Attorneys Agree In Damage Suits

A judgement was granted in Circuit Court yesterday in the amount of $570 to James L. Michaels, plaintiff, from Walter Brown, defendant, as the result of a dispute over a partnership business.

The two young men appeared in court May 22, when testimony was taken, and at that time the case was held open pending study by the Court. Yesterday judgement was issued in favor of Michaels.

John Robb and Estel C. Kelly were attorneys for Michaels who claimed he sold his interest in the business to Brown for $700 and only $130 had been paid him. Brown was represented by E. J. Ryan. The business is a gas station located near the Clary Club, Clarysville.

Two damage suits which had been removed to Circuit Court in Hagerstown for trial have been settled out of court, according to Morgan C. Harris, attorney for the plaintiffs in both cases.

Miss Kathryn Page, 37-year-old negress of 112 South Spruce Street, who was badly injured September 20, 1946, when an Astor Cab she was riding was struck at the intersection of Baltimore and Centre Streets, was awarded $7,500 in settlement of her damage suit.

The car which struck the taxi was operated by Robert Vernon Geist of Altoona, Pa., and the impact upset the cab and knocked it against a light pole. Miss Page was pinned beneath the wrecked cab. She suffered severe leg and eye injuries and was admitted to Allegany Hospital in a semi-conscious condition after the crash.

Fred W. Jenkins, trading as the Astor Cab Company, was the defendant in the case along with Geist.

In the other settlement reported by Harris, an award of $3,000 was granted Mary Lou Kesler, 17, of 8 Pioneer Place, for injuries suffered in a car accident November 6, 1946 on Route 28 near Fort Ashby, W. Va. She was a passenger in a machine operated by Joseph C. Stewart, 512 Bedford Street, the defendant in the case.

Harris said the Kesler girl suffered a bad scar on her forehead. The scar was V-shaped. W. Earle Cobey was attorney for Stewart. The machine operated by Stewart ran over an embankment injuring the driver and Miss Kesler but four other teen-agers escaped injury in the crash.

A suit by titling was docketed in Circuit Court by William A. Carscaden, attorney for Francis S. Jeffrey and the Service Fire Insurance Company against Elmer F. Beeman of Kempton.

Carscaden said the suit resulted from an accident in Lonaconing several months ago when the machine operated by Jeffrey was struck by another operated by Beeman. Jeffrey's car was a new 1947 car and it was extensively damaged, Carscaden said. He indicated that $10,000 damages will be asked when a declaration is filed in the case.

Paper Co. Parley Set For Monday

Representatives of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company and the United Paper Workers of America, CIO, will meet in Washington Monday for a disussion preliminary to contract negotiations, according to Albert M. Kaiser, manager of the Luke plant.

The meeting was suggested by the company in order to save time when negotiation of a new contract begins by narrowing down in the preliminary talks the ground to be covered during collective bargaining on wages and other contract provisions.

Kaiser said Hugh M. O'Rourke, personal director of the Luke plant, and company representatives from the Williamsburg, Pa., and Covington, Va., plants will take part in the discussions along with J. W. Towsen, New York, company vice president in charge of personnel.

The union also will have representatives present from all three plants, Kaiser said.

Federal Court Office Here To Be Retained

The office of the clerk of Federal Court here will be retained, Senator Millard E. Tydings last night informed William C. Walsh, this city, former attorney general.

Tydings said the Senate took final action on the 1948 Judiciary Appropriations Bill and that provision was made to retain the office here.

The office had been scheduled to close June 30 but the closing met with the opposition of the Allegany County Bar Association and both major political parties.

Meanwhile, C. Edgar Keller, clerk of the local Federal Court, had been advised by Charles W. Zimmerman, clerk of United States District Court in Baltimore, to continue his duties pending the Senate's decision.

WAA Office Here Is Scheduled To Close This Month

Some Files Will Be Moved To Baltimore

The Cumberland veterans' certifying office of the War Assets Administration, located in the basement of the Postoffice Building, is scheduled to conclude its operations by July 31, after having been in operation since last November 13, according to word received here by W. Eric Gibbs, chief certifying officer.

Gibbs said that over 1,000 files in the office will be transferred to Baltimore and Charleston, W. Va., and that a representative from the district office in Baltimore is expected here later this week to make arrangements for closing the office and transferring records.

Veterans in the 11 counties in Western Maryland and West Virginia served by the office will be notified as soon as the files containing their applications have been moved.

Files of cases relating to veterans in Garrett, Allegany and Washington Counties, Md., and Jefferson, Berkeley and Morgan Counties in West Virginia are scheduled to be transferred to the WAA Customer Service Center, 8 South Calvert Street, Baltimore.

Remaining files, including applications from Mineral, Hampshire, Grant, Hardy and Pendleton Counties in West Virginia, are due to be moved to the WAA Customer Service Center, Peoples Building, Charleston, W. Va.

During the six months it has been in operation, the office has issued several thousand veterans' preference certificates for the purchase of war surplus materials for business, professional and agricultural enterprises. The office has also furnished information on war assets sales to commercial dealers in the non-priority group.

Gibbs said approximately 70 per cent of the certificates issued in this area were for motor trucks, and that the heaviest certificate demand was in connection with construction machinery and equipment.

He indicated the range of WAA certification by recalling that certificates were issued for everything from potato peelers and needles to bulldozers and steam shovels. A few area veterans, he added, have received certificates entitling them to buy up to $50,000 worth of war surplus equipment each.

The Cumberland office is one of four in Region 12 of the WAA which are scheduled to discontinue operations this month. The others are in Salisbury, Md.; Wheeling, W. Va., and Bristol, Va. However, certifying officers are available at the Baltimore and Charleston centers to handle applications for certificates, and regional headquarters in Richmond, Va., will remain open.

Gibbs, who resides in Bowling Green, served five years in the Army, and held the rank of captain in the Quartermaster Corps when he was discharged. He was employed as farm loan administrator at the Peoples Bank before taking charge of the Cumberland certifying office of the WAA. The other member of the local staff is Mrs. Virginia L. Feaga, assistant office manager, who was principal price clerk at the local OPA office while it was in operation.

2 Drivers Fined For Not Heeding Ambulance Siren

Two Frostburg automobile drivers who State Police say failed to obey the siren of the State Police ambulance on an emergency call Sunday afternoon were fined $5 and costs each last night by Magistrate Roy S. Bowman at Cresaptown.

He said he was en route to an accident at Dawson Sunday afternoon and that Johnson and Plummer refused to obey the siren and pull to the side of the road to allow him to pass.

Barton said he finally passed the two vehicles but learned at the accident scene that the injured party already had been removed to a hospital.

When Johnson and Plummer arrived at the location of the accident, Barton said he flagged them down and charged them with failing to obey the siren of an emergency vehicle. Both men pleaded guilty at the hearings last night.

William H. Smith, 315 Central Avenue, forfeited bond of $100 and costs of $1.45 when he failed to appear for a hearing before Magistrate Bowman on a charge of operating a motor vehicle on a revoked license. Barton made the arrest on Park Street last week.

Cloyd T. Miller, Ellerslie, arrested June 26 by Trooper Barton on a charge of operating at a speed greater than reasonable and proper on Route 220 at Pinto, was found guilty and fined $26.45. Barton placed Miller's speed at 70 to 75 miles an hour.

Marion L. VanAusdale, Route 1, Cumberland, charged with passing on a curve on Route 220 at Cresaptown on July 4, was found guilty by Magistrate Bowman and fined $3.45. Trooper Barton made the arrests.

Hearing Held On Celanese Man's Benefit Claim

Decision In Test Case Is Pending

An all-day hearing was held yesterday in City Hall auditorium on a test case to determine whether or not employes at the Celanese plant may collect unemployment benefits for the period from June 28, when the recent strike was settled, until full production was resumed.

Bernard J. Doyle, Baltimore, special examiner for the Maryland Unemployment Compensation Board, presided. The case was taken under advisement, with no immediate decision being announced.

The test case was brought in the name of J. Cobey Snyder on behalf of plant employes who were not recalled to work immediately after operations were resumed. As of yesterday, all but 84 employes, 35 in the CA department and 49 in the textile department, had been recalled. Snyder, who works in the CA department, was idle during the week ending July 5 but was recalled yesterday.

Allan Testifies

Edward R. Allan, plant personnel manager, testified that delay in recalling employes was a natural consequence of the strike, because the nature of plant operations required a reasonable length of time to resume full production. He said that full production was reached within 10 days after the strike was settled.

In response to a charge that the company had cut down production in the CA department after the strike, Allan explained that the company plans to hold that department's production to about 80 per cent of normal for the next month or so because the Celco plant at Bridgewater, Va., is not yet ready to use the material.

He said that the 20 per cent cut in the department's production is expected to have little effect on employes, most of whom will either be on their regular vacations or will be transferred temporarily to other departments.

William Boyd Coleman, president of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, and other union members charged that delay in recalling CA department employes was caused when supervisory personnel took materials out of production channels during the strike. Allan said that this was done for salvage purposes.

James Alfred Avirett, local attorney, and his brother, John W. Avirett, II, partner in the Baltimore law firm of Piper, Watkins, Avirett and Egerton, acted as counsel for the company.

Court Ruling Cited

They referred to a recent ruling by the Maryland Court of Appeals in the case of Harold D. Saunders versus the Maryland Unemployment Compensation Board. Saunders, an employe at the Bethlehem Steel Company plant in Baltimore asked for unemployment compensation when he was not recalled to work immediately following settlement of a strike at that plant. The court ruled against his appeal on the ground that the steel company was unable to resume full production at once.

Five claimants for unemployment compensation covering the strike period at the Celanese plant failed to appear at the hearing. Albert Avnet, Baltimore attorney, counsel for the employes, conceded that unemployment of the five claimants was caused by the strike and that therefore no compensation could be allowed for that period, under state law and the Servicemen's Readjustment Act of 1944.

Francis A. Kenney, manager of the local office of the Unemployment Compensation Division of the Maryland Unemployment Compensation Board, said after the hearing that less than 100 Celanese employes have filed claims at the office for compensation for the period immediately following settlement of the Celanese strike.

To be eligible for compensation, he said, a worker must have earned less than the weekly benefit amount in any given week. Under state law, benefit amounts range from $7 to $25.

Local 'Ham' Relays Medical Advice To Tiny Pacific Atoll

A Cumberland radio "ham" became an agent of mercy yesterday morning. While tinkering with his amateur radio set he picked up a call of distress from tiny Palmyra Atoll in the Pacific south of the Hawaiian group, 5,000 miles from this city.

Leroy R. Jenkins, 708 Louisiana Avenue, at 7:30 a. m. picked up a call for medical advice from an Army radio operator stationed on the island. The man, Steve Sherwood Barnes, Phoenixville, Pa., said that an Army plane had crashed and burned on its takeoff for Oahu.

One man was reported to have lost a leg and an arm and others aboard were in a state of shock. The radio operator said that medical supplies were available but no one on the island could administer anesthetic. Jenkins telephoned Memorial Hospital and received instructions on the method of administering morphine to the injured man from Dr. Donald B. Grove and relayed them to the island.

First word of the crash was received by the Seventh Air Force early yesterday morning and an hour after the message was received an Army Surgeon and four medical corpsmen flew 1,000 miles to the accident.

Jenkins stated that during the conversation with the operator on Palmyra Atoll, an Army major stationed somewhere in the Hawaiian Islands joined in the talks.

The major said he was from Cumberland and attended Allegany High School, Jenkins said, "but I was unable to catch his name."

Jenkins said the talks continued until about 9 a. m. when a New York amateur "took over" and he was able to go to work. He is employed by the Texas Oil Company in South End.

Second Shift Kelly Workers To Meet

Members of Local 26, United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastic Workers of America, CIO, who are employed on the second shift at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company will meet this afternoon at 1 o'clock at the union hall.

First and third shift workers met last night for a report on the progress of negotiations on changes in the contract, union officials said.

Origin Unknown; Starts In Cellar

Fire of unknown origin yesterday afternoon badly damaged the two-story frame home of William Filsinger at Eckhart.

While Filsinger placed a value of approximately $14,500 on his comparatively new home, he was unable to estimate his loss. He said, however, that it was partly covered by insurance.

Seven fire companies fought the flames which burned and badly charred studding throughout the partitions of the home, built in 1940.

Mrs. Filsinger and two children were at home when the former smelled smoke and turned in an alarm to the Frostburg Volunteer Fire Company and the Clarysville Volunteer Fire Company at 3:30 p. m.

Volunteer firemen from LaVale, Cresaptown, Mt. Savage, Midland and Lonaconing also were summoned to the blaze after the Frostburg department arrived.

Handicapped to some extent by an inadequate water supply, Frostburg firemen dammed up a small creek across Route 40 from the Filsinger home and in the rear of Filsinger's store. They pumped water from the creek while the Clarysville firemen carried water to the scene in the pumper's booster tank from the Clarysville reservoir.

Other fire companies used water in booster tanks and likewise pumped from nearby wells.

In order to reach the flames, firemen were forced to chop several holes in the weatherboarding and spectators said smoke literally poured out once the openings were made. Few flames were visible to spectators.

George Filsinger, brother of the owner, said the blaze apparently started in the cellar. Firemen said it spread rapidly through partitions and up to the roof.

The fire was brought under control after being fought for an hour and a half. In addition to the fire damage, there was some damage from water.

Furniture, while some of it was damaged by water, was carried from the house by firemen and spectators who took it to the homes of neighbors.

Boys 4-H Camp To Open Sunday In Garrett County

The annual 4-H Boys Club Tri-County Camp, known as Camp Algrwo, will open at Pleasant Valley Recreation Area in Garrett County for one week beginning Sunday night, according to Joseph M. Steger, assistant county farm agent. About 75 boys from Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties will attend.

Sherid Wilson, of College Park, assistant state club agent, will have charge of the camp, assisted by Steger, Raymond Mueller, of Washington county, in charge of crafts, and John Cotton of College Park in charge of swimming and athletics. The camp program will include educational and recreational activity.

Steger said yesterday that additional boys can register for camp and registrations will remain open until Friday.

City Water Service Ordinance Upheld

ANNAPOLIS, Md., July 8 —(AP)—An ordinance passed by the Cumberland City Council in 1936 to authorize collection of water service charges for each apartment in the same building was held valid by the State Court of Appeals today.

The ordinance was contested by David J. Lewis, who owns an apartment house at 328 Fayette Street, Cumberland. He appealed an Allegany County Circuit Court ruling that the city government acted legally.

Lewis argued that his building receives water through one service line and the supply is measured by one meter. He opposed the city's "minimum service charge" of $4.50 per quarter for each of the 13 apartments in the building.

The disputed ordinance gave the city the power to multiply its service charge by the number of units in a building which is served by one meter

World War I Vet Given Big Vote

Thomas R. "Pat" Farrell, 450 North Mechanic Street, a veteran of World War I, and employe of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, was elected commander of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, with a large majority, according to election results reported at the regular meeting last night.

Tie For Chaplain

A tie resulted in the balloting for chaplain. Paul W. Weisenmiller and Joseph L. Wolfe each polled 69 votes. Defeated was E. G. A. Snider with 39 votes. Wolfe indicated he would withdraw and concede the election to Weisenmiller. The post, under election rules tabled the question of the tie until the next meeting, pending a letter from Wolfe. If he does not put the withdrawal in writing, an election will be held to break the tie, it was indicated.

Delegates Chosen

Alternates elected include, William H. Treiber, Carl E. Wintermeyer, F. Patrick Allender, Robert E. MacMillan, C. William Teubner, James A. Hersh, Arthur H. Flurshutz, Adolph Pogell, James W. Sills, William E. Paisley, Charles G. Smith, George F. Crawford, Donald W. McIntyre, and Thomas L. Popp.

Extinguish Slight Blaze

Central Fire Company extinguished a slight blaze beneath the Metty Brace and Shoe Shop, 500 North Centre Street, last night at 10:35 o'clock. Firemen said leather dust from the machinery ignited, probably as a result of a short circuit. The blaze was under control within 10 minutes, they added.

Hebner Will Probated

The will of Charles O. Hebner, who died May 30 was filed for probate this morning in Orphans' Court and his widow, Mrs. Lola Hebner was bequeathed the entire estate. A son, Paul Hebner, was named executor of the estate.

Playground Supervisor Will Be Requested To Outline Program

Equipment Plans Will Be Asked

The City Playground Associations voted at their regular meeting in City Hall auditorium last night to request Mrs. Ralph Stein, city playground supervisor, to prepare an outline of the program she intends to institute at the various city playgrounds and to present it at the next meeting of the association, scheduled for July 17.

William H. Buchholtz, president, said that the request will be made in a formal letter in care of the Park Board. Mrs. Stein will also be asked to state the amount of equipment she intends to secure for each playground, he added.

Buchholtz said that he and other association officers plan to confer with Street Commissioner Myers G. Light within the next few days regarding "numerous complaints" received by the group from member playground associations on the alleged lack of co-operation from Mrs. Stein and the various playleaders.

He asserted that his group is anxious to continue co-operation with the Park Board and Mrs. Stein because members feel that their efforts on behalf of the playground program "are not getting anywhere."

Robert Taylor, representing the East Side Playground Association, said that his group, carrying out an agreement made at the last meeting of the overall group, drew up a list of regulations to be in effect at that playground. He said he had not been able to contact Mrs. Stein to give them to her, and Buchholtz said he would submit the proposed regulations to Light for his approval.

Delegates representing the Virginia Avenue Parent-Teacher Association, which is sponsoring a playground program at that school, reported that they have not yet received a sandbox and other equipment. They said, however, that Police Commissioner William V. Keegan has informed them he has collected balls and other small equipment for that playground.

The overall association decided to send notices to the Park Board and Mrs. Stein prior to all future meetings. Mayor Thomas S. Post and Light did not attend last night's meeting, and Mrs. Marguerite E. Findlay represented the board.

Member associations were urged to attend the July 17 meeting in City Hall at 7:30 p. m. Five playground groups were represented last night.

C Of C Will Elect 10 New Directors

Twenty members of the Chamber of Commerce were nominated for directors of the organization at the primary election held yesterday, and 10 directors for three-year terms will be chosen from that group at the annual meeting July 22 at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Nominees are Edmund S. Burke, Douglas R. Bowie, Rep. J. Glenn Beall, Mrs. Aurelia S. Becker, G. William Bibby, Harry J. Barton, W. Earle Cobey, F. Lee Fresh, Thomas E. Gilchrist, C. Philip Jolley, Benjamin M. Kamens, Joseph M. Naughton, Henry W. Price, Charles A. Piper, John J. Robinson, Jr., Earl C. Robertson, Fred T. Small, Robert L. Stallings, J. L. Towler and Edgar D. Vandegrift.

In addition to electing directors at the annual meeting, brief reports of the president, treasurer and other officials will be submitted. The reports will cover the fiscal year ending June 30.

Following the formal meeting there will be an opportunity for discussion and a social hour when light refreshments will be served.

Is Cut By Hatchet

3 Boys Splatter Eggs Over Home Of Slabtown Man

Youngsters Stung Upsetting Beehives

Twin brothers and their boy friend, all about 7 or 8 years old, virtually made an omlet of James Friddle's home at Slabtown, near Mt. Savage, yesterday afternoon.

The trio, according to Cpl. Harry Holsinger, broke a rear window in Friddle's home, crawled through the opening and spattered two and a half dozen eggs over the wallpaper and furniture in the small home.

Sometime while they were on Friddle's property, the boys overturned three or four beehives and suffered several stings apiece for their efforts.

Friddle, however, was badly stung on one hand when he righted the hives after returning home about 5 p. m. and seeing the damage.

Friddle, who believes the egg-spattering and hive-upsetting occurred about an hour and a half before he reached home, promptly notified police.

Cpl. Holsinger began an investigation and picked up the three boys, one at home and the twin brothers hiding in an outhouse near their home.

The officer said parents of the boys have agreed to make restitution and that more than likely no charges will be filed against the trio.

Petitions On Voting Machines Acknowledged

Allegany Commissioners yesterday received a letter from Bertram L. Boone, II, secretary of state, acklowledging receipt of 2,628 signatures to petitions asking for a referendum on the purchase of voting machines for Allegany County.

Unless further action is taken to contest the validity of the signatures, the Board will not be required to purchase voting machines unless the majority of voters casting ballots in November 1948, indicate that they are desired.

The General Assembly, at its recent session enacted two laws for the purchase of voting machines. One law made the purchase mandatory, and the other provided a bond issue or other means of financing the purchase.

County commissioners objected to spending $140,000 for machines at this time, claiming funds are needed for other purposes.

Officials of the Board of Election Supervisors and members of the Republican and Democratic State Central Committees of the county maintain the machines would prove more economical over a period of time, would speed up election returns and would eventually pay for themselves in savings by the reduced number of persons hired as election clerks and judges.

The financing plan provided for a cost of $7,000 per year over a 20-year period.

According to Boone's letter, the signatures have been forwarded to the Attorney General. A total of 2,628 names were signed to the petitions, which is more than the number required under the law to set an act of this kind aside pending a referendum. Ten percent of the total vote cast in the gubernatorial election is required.

An autographed artist's pencil drawing of Gov. William Preston Lane, Jr., has been sent by the Governor to Mayor Thomas S. Post. The picture, extending the Governor's best wishes to the Mayor, will be hung in the Mayor's office in City Hall.

District Miners Await Word To Start To Work

Some Operators Still To Sign

There was practically no activity in the Western Maryland coal fields yesterday and little is expected today as miners adhere to their "no contract no work" policy.

None of the independent operators had signed the new wage agreements last night but it is indicated practically all operators in this region will sign.

Officials of United Mine Workers District No. 16, were in Washington, for the meeting with their president John L. Lewis, and at a late hour last night only David Watkins, international representative had returned. John T. Jones, district president; William J. Morgan, secretary-treasurer, and John P. Dolphin, international representative should be back this morning, Watkins indicated.

Watkins said telegrams are being sent to local unions where contracts are signed but it will probably be a couple of days before the mines resume full production. He said copies of the new agreements are available for any of the independent operators who want to sign them so they can resume production. He declared, "we have copies at the office for those who want them."

Railroad officials last night confirmed union representatives' statements that there had been no activity in the Upper Potomac and Georges Creek Regions and practically no newly mined coal moved over their lines. Cars have been placed on most sidings pending the resumption of production, it was indicated.

Miners in the area said they would await official word from union headquarters before returning to the pits and it was also indicated last night by operators that there will be little delay here as the mines affected by the new contract include all of District 16 mines, embracing Allegany and Garrett counties in Maryland, and Mineral, Tucker, Grant and Hampshire in West Virginia.

Watkins said last night telegrams had been sent to some locals in the district and some mines will work today but full production before the week's end is not anticipated.

Check Ballots In Recount Here

B. V. Gilchrist and S. E. Barnes, United States Senate investigators arrived here yesterday and began the task of inspecting ballot boxes and sealing them for shipment to Baltimore, where a recount will be made of votes cast in the disputed election of U. S. Senator Herbert R. O'Conor who defeated his Republican opponent, D. John Markey of Frederick, according to official returns.

Besides the two investigators, counsel for O'Conor and Markey, Clerk of Court Robert Jackson, members of the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors and their attorney were present at the Court House as boxes were sealed and labeled.

The 75 boxes were inspected and all unused ballots will probably be sent to Baltimore for tallying. Charles Ruzika is attorney for Markey while John Sherman and William C. Walsh, of this city, represent O'Conor.

Republican Markey, is disputing the election of Senator O'Conor (D-Md), declared victor on the face of last November's returns by a margin of 2,232 votes.

The Senate ordered the complete recount after a re-canvass in five counties cut that margin nearly in half.

Since it started early this year, the recount has moved through 13 counties and Baltimore City. Ten counties remain to be rechecked.

Restraining Order Signed In Hebb Case

Chief Judge William A. Huster signed an order yesterday instructing Dorsey G. Hebb to stay away from his home and refrain from molesting his wife Sarah E. Hebb, RFD No. 4, who filed a bill of complaint seeking divorce. The Court also instructed Hebb to pay his wife and their four children $25 per week temporary alimony. The couple married at Berkeley Springs, W. Va., November 29, 1933.

A decree was signed by Judge Huster granting absolute divorce to Margaret M. Miller from Albert Miller, 203 Charles Street. The couple married at Columbia, S. C., March 29, 1941, and separated December 3, 1945. She was given the right to resume her maiden name Margaret M. Locklear.

Court Settles Dispute Over Partnership

Attorneys Agree In Damage Suits

A judgement was granted in Circuit Court yesterday in the amount of $570 to James L. Michaels, plaintiff, from Walter Brown, defendant, as the result of a dispute over a partnership business.

The two young men appeared in court May 22, when testimony was taken, and at that time the case was held open pending study by the Court. Yesterday judgement was issued in favor of Michaels.

John Robb and Estel C. Kelly were attorneys for Michaels who claimed he sold his interest in the business to Brown for $700 and only $130 had been paid him. Brown was represented by E. J. Ryan. The business is a gas station located near the Clary Club, Clarysville.

Two damage suits which had been removed to Circuit Court in Hagerstown for trial have been settled out of court, according to Morgan C. Harris, attorney for the plaintiffs in both cases.

Miss Kathryn Page, 37-year-old negress of 112 South Spruce Street, who was badly injured September 20, 1946, when an Astor Cab she was riding was struck at the intersection of Baltimore and Centre Streets, was awarded $7,500 in settlement of her damage suit.

The car which struck the taxi was operated by Robert Vernon Geist of Altoona, Pa., and the impact upset the cab and knocked it against a light pole. Miss Page was pinned beneath the wrecked cab. She suffered severe leg and eye injuries and was admitted to Allegany Hospital in a semi-conscious condition after the crash.

Fred W. Jenkins, trading as the Astor Cab Company, was the defendant in the case along with Geist.

In the other settlement reported by Harris, an award of $3,000 was granted Mary Lou Kesler, 17, of 8 Pioneer Place, for injuries suffered in a car accident November 6, 1946 on Route 28 near Fort Ashby, W. Va. She was a passenger in a machine operated by Joseph C. Stewart, 512 Bedford Street, the defendant in the case.

Harris said the Kesler girl suffered a bad scar on her forehead. The scar was V-shaped. W. Earle Cobey was attorney for Stewart. The machine operated by Stewart ran over an embankment injuring the driver and Miss Kesler but four other teen-agers escaped injury in the crash.

A suit by titling was docketed in Circuit Court by William A. Carscaden, attorney for Francis S. Jeffrey and the Service Fire Insurance Company against Elmer F. Beeman of Kempton.

Carscaden said the suit resulted from an accident in Lonaconing several months ago when the machine operated by Jeffrey was struck by another operated by Beeman. Jeffrey's car was a new 1947 car and it was extensively damaged, Carscaden said. He indicated that $10,000 damages will be asked when a declaration is filed in the case.

Paper Co. Parley Set For Monday

Representatives of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company and the United Paper Workers of America, CIO, will meet in Washington Monday for a disussion preliminary to contract negotiations, according to Albert M. Kaiser, manager of the Luke plant.

The meeting was suggested by the company in order to save time when negotiation of a new contract begins by narrowing down in the preliminary talks the ground to be covered during collective bargaining on wages and other contract provisions.

Kaiser said Hugh M. O'Rourke, personal director of the Luke plant, and company representatives from the Williamsburg, Pa., and Covington, Va., plants will take part in the discussions along with J. W. Towsen, New York, company vice president in charge of personnel.

The union also will have representatives present from all three plants, Kaiser said.

Federal Court Office Here To Be Retained

The office of the clerk of Federal Court here will be retained, Senator Millard E. Tydings last night informed William C. Walsh, this city, former attorney general.

Tydings said the Senate took final action on the 1948 Judiciary Appropriations Bill and that provision was made to retain the office here.

The office had been scheduled to close June 30 but the closing met with the opposition of the Allegany County Bar Association and both major political parties.

Meanwhile, C. Edgar Keller, clerk of the local Federal Court, had been advised by Charles W. Zimmerman, clerk of United States District Court in Baltimore, to continue his duties pending the Senate's decision.

WAA Office Here Is Scheduled To Close This Month

Some Files Will Be Moved To Baltimore

The Cumberland veterans' certifying office of the War Assets Administration, located in the basement of the Postoffice Building, is scheduled to conclude its operations by July 31, after having been in operation since last November 13, according to word received here by W. Eric Gibbs, chief certifying officer.

Gibbs said that over 1,000 files in the office will be transferred to Baltimore and Charleston, W. Va., and that a representative from the district office in Baltimore is expected here later this week to make arrangements for closing the office and transferring records.

Veterans in the 11 counties in Western Maryland and West Virginia served by the office will be notified as soon as the files containing their applications have been moved.

Files of cases relating to veterans in Garrett, Allegany and Washington Counties, Md., and Jefferson, Berkeley and Morgan Counties in West Virginia are scheduled to be transferred to the WAA Customer Service Center, 8 South Calvert Street, Baltimore.

Remaining files, including applications from Mineral, Hampshire, Grant, Hardy and Pendleton Counties in West Virginia, are due to be moved to the WAA Customer Service Center, Peoples Building, Charleston, W. Va.

During the six months it has been in operation, the office has issued several thousand veterans' preference certificates for the purchase of war surplus materials for business, professional and agricultural enterprises. The office has also furnished information on war assets sales to commercial dealers in the non-priority group.

Gibbs said approximately 70 per cent of the certificates issued in this area were for motor trucks, and that the heaviest certificate demand was in connection with construction machinery and equipment.

He indicated the range of WAA certification by recalling that certificates were issued for everything from potato peelers and needles to bulldozers and steam shovels. A few area veterans, he added, have received certificates entitling them to buy up to $50,000 worth of war surplus equipment each.

The Cumberland office is one of four in Region 12 of the WAA which are scheduled to discontinue operations this month. The others are in Salisbury, Md.; Wheeling, W. Va., and Bristol, Va. However, certifying officers are available at the Baltimore and Charleston centers to handle applications for certificates, and regional headquarters in Richmond, Va., will remain open.

Gibbs, who resides in Bowling Green, served five years in the Army, and held the rank of captain in the Quartermaster Corps when he was discharged. He was employed as farm loan administrator at the Peoples Bank before taking charge of the Cumberland certifying office of the WAA. The other member of the local staff is Mrs. Virginia L. Feaga, assistant office manager, who was principal price clerk at the local OPA office while it was in operation.

2 Drivers Fined For Not Heeding Ambulance Siren

Two Frostburg automobile drivers who State Police say failed to obey the siren of the State Police ambulance on an emergency call Sunday afternoon were fined $5 and costs each last night by Magistrate Roy S. Bowman at Cresaptown.

He said he was en route to an accident at Dawson Sunday afternoon and that Johnson and Plummer refused to obey the siren and pull to the side of the road to allow him to pass.

Barton said he finally passed the two vehicles but learned at the accident scene that the injured party already had been removed to a hospital.

When Johnson and Plummer arrived at the location of the accident, Barton said he flagged them down and charged them with failing to obey the siren of an emergency vehicle. Both men pleaded guilty at the hearings last night.

William H. Smith, 315 Central Avenue, forfeited bond of $100 and costs of $1.45 when he failed to appear for a hearing before Magistrate Bowman on a charge of operating a motor vehicle on a revoked license. Barton made the arrest on Park Street last week.

Cloyd T. Miller, Ellersile, arrested June 26 by Trooper Barton on a charge of operating at a speed greater than reasonable and proper on Route 220 at Pinto, was found guilty and fined $26.45. Barton placed Miller's speed at 70 to 75 miles an hour.

Marion L. VanAusdale, Route 1, Cumberland, charged with passing on a curve on Route 220 at Cresaptown on July 4, was found guilty by Magistrate Bowman and fined $3.45. Trooper Barton made the arrests.
